The play "The Secret Society of Cabbage ville" was given in the United Church here, on Friday evening, May 22nd, to a fair sized crowd. The characters were: Mrs. Nibbs, pres. of Ladies Aid, (Mrs. Card. Graham.)Annabel Nibbs, her joyous daughter of sixteen, (Miss Gladys Williams); Mrs. Black—sec.— a lady of dignity (Mrs. Will. Kaitting); Miss Topnote, a singer from the city (Miss Sylvia Acheson); Mrs. Dean the minister's wife (Miss Helen Milligan); Mrs. Jenkins, a lonely widow (Mrs. Wilfred Magee); Her two little daughters (Carmel and Margetha Martin); Mrs. Love a lady with a kindly nature(Mrs. Fred Jamieson); Mrs. Pepper a lady of sharp speech (Miss Selena MacDonald); Mrs. Maloney an Irish widow full of fun (Mrs Harry Forester); Miss Sarah Kinvall an old maid, rather inquisitive (Miss Muriel Fenwick); Mrs. Gloomy a lady who looks at the dark side of life (Mrs. J. Parson); Director of play, Mrs. Cras. Martin. The play has a golden thread of real goodness running all the way through. It has been successfully given in a good many churches in Toronto. The mystery of the secret society and the delight of an old fashioned love story is brought to light in the last act. A very pleasing musical selection was given by the Misses Muriel Carruthers at the organ, May Carruthers on the autoharp and Velva Genoe with the violin. Misses Muriel and May Carruthers and Marjorie Park sang a very pretty selection between acts. During the play the audience was favored by two pretty pieces by Miss Topnote (Miss Acheson) in her usual pleasing manner. The play was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid.

That Big Egg

"What an egg!" That's what everyone is saying to-day and then adding, "Some canary that laid that egg." Such are the outspoken comments on the big egg on display at J. A. Stewart's store.

There's a story back of the big egg and the exhibit. It's a part of a national campaign by the Purina Mills through several thousand dealers in the United States and Canada to encourage the production of big eggs. It has been found that the market wants big eggs and discriminates against small sized pullet eggs.

In order to produce big eggs there must be big body development. A small size pullet cannot produce large eggs. For that reason poultrymen are being urged to feed the poultry flock a good growing ration during the growing months this summer in order to insure large body development by the pullets, insuring the production of large eggs when they come into production this fall.

Of 5,000 birds in a recent Canadian National Egg Laying Contest it was found those fed a growing ration laid 51 more eggs that averaged 2.2 ounces more per dozen than those that were not properly fed during the growing season. Very important is the fact that birds fed properly during the growing period come into production earlier in the fall, usually at a time when egg prices are starting upward, while birds that are not properly fed during the growing period come into production late and often when egg prices are low.

Yes, there's a real story back of that big egg!

"WHATEVER WILL I DO?"

Jimmy had been ailing for a couple of days . . . but she didn't think it was serious — till this afternoon . . . she called the doctor . . . hospital tomorrow . . . just a minor operation, but it couldn't wait.

Whatever would she do? She must be with Jimmy . . . but there was the baby too. If mother were only there . . . but a letter couldn't reach mother till late tomorrow.

Then she thought of the telephone. In two minutes she was speaking to her mother. Yes, she could catch the evening train — would be there at 8 in the morning.

What a relief! Now she could go about her preparations for the morrow. The telephone had made everything easy. And the cost of the call had been less than a dollar.

Evening rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) calls begin at 7 p.m. Night rates begin at 8.30 p.m. Just give "Long Distance" the number you want — it speeds up the service.
