III.
THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free Church.)
IV.
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal.)
V.
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH Magazine (Tory.)
These Periodicals only represent the three great political parties of Great Britain—Whig, Tory and Radical—but politics form only one feature of their character. As organs of the most profound writers on Science, Literature, Morality and Religion they stand, as they ever have stood, unrivalled in the world of letters, being considered indispensable to the scholar and the professional man; while to the intelligent reader of every class they furnish a more correct and satisfactory record of the current literature of the day, throughout the world, than can be possibly obtained from any other source.
EARLY COPIES,
The receipt of ADVANCE SHEETS from the British Publishers gives additional value of these Reprints, inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of the subscribers about as soon as the original editions.

HUDSON BAY COMPANY.
BY R. M. BALLANTYNE, Esq., Author of Hudson Bay; or Every Day Life in the Wilds of North America.
"The name of the Author, presuming him to be a connexion of Sir Walter Scott's, partner and printer, is a passport through the world of literature."—[London Economist.
"Mr Ballantyne has a claim on attention from the variety of his style and the length of his experience in the service of the Hudson Bay Company. He has at one for minute point of character, and a talent for throwing out a vivid portrait with a few pencil strokes."—[Athenæum, London.
"Mr Ballantyne writes in a very lively style."—[Blackwood's Magazine, Edinburgh.

Coleridge's Ancient Mariner. Illustrated. The Rime of the Ancient Mariner. A Ballad Poem in Seven Parts. By S. T. Coleridge. Beautifully embellished after designs by Birket Foster, and other eminent artists. 1 neat vol. square 8vo. in fine extra cloth gilt, 5 50.
—, or, in morocco extra, 3 00.
The crowning flower of the genius of S. T. Coleridge, beyond a doubt; is his immortal poem of "The Ancient Mariner." Of this great work it may be truly said, that it is "of imagination all compass." Every line, almost every word, is suggestive of the grandest or most beautiful imagery. For this reason it has been called "the most wonderful of all examples of true picture writing." It is consequently one of the finest of all English poems, for illustration by the imaginative painter. In the present unapproachable edition, it will be seen that a genius kindred to that of Coleridge himself has given form and reality to the poet's visions. The volume will be received as a priceless gem by the lovers of the Philosophic bard.
The Dairyman's Daughter. An Authentic Narrative. By the Rev. Legh Richmond. With numerous illustrations by Birket Foster and others. 1 neat vol. square 12mo in extra cloth, gilt, 1 50.
—, or, in morocco extra, 3 00.
This exquisite Christian idyl, by the Rev Legh Richmond, may be regarded, as upon the whole, the most charming, instructive, and popular work of its kind ever written. The gentle daughter of the humble cottager has become the religious teacher of millions. Her memory is embalmed in hearts, with the tender and pure reverence due to such a saint. Mr. Richmond's beautiful and touching memoir of her is, by the common consent of critics, reckoned among the classics of our language. The religious world will be gratified that such a production has been brought out with appropriate richness of typography and artistic illustrations. The book printed on fine vellum paper, of a cream tint, with engravings after Birket Foster and others, must become the religious souvenir of the season.
