Miss Macphail Talks Plainly In The States

In a despatch from from Jacksonville, Ill., on Tuesday Miss Agnes C. Macphail declared before the third annual Pan-American Institute that the present tariff laws are the outstanding obstacles in the way of close relations between Canada and the United States.

"The United States tariff is the most serious sore spot," Miss Macphail said. "Although Canadians have denied it, there has been actual retaliation in the form of boycott against United States goods."

"One thing Canada will not stand for is condescension from the United States," Miss Macphail said. "All talk of annexation is dead, and dead to stay. Any consideration of Canadian-American relations must be on the basis of dealings between two independent nations.

"While one is admittedly the more powerful, each is equally proud of its status. The Dominion now has reached the place where it will not tolerate infringement from any one, London or Washington included.

"No problem arising over Canadian-American relations ever could be serious, but that doesn't mean there will not be plenty of difficulties. Canada is British, but at the same time it is North American, and will settle all misunderstandings on that basis."

One specific recommendation by Miss Macphail for better feeling between the two peoples, was that both Governments be more careful in selecting immigration and customs officials for the international border. She said irreparable harm can be done by surly officials.

Canada's place in the League of Nations was passed over briefly by the Progressive member for South-East Grey. She said Canada is for North America, and will act on that basis in the League, and that Canada will not become a member of the Pan-American Union "if it has to play second fiddle to the United States."

Several Injured

As the result of an accident which occurred a short distance south of Markdale a little before 7 o'clock on Sunday evening several people were injured, one of whom is in the hospital. Frank Eagles and Everett Hare were on their way to church in the former's car, and were driving behind a horse and buggy in which was seated Mr. John Gibson, an elderly man. Eagles did not notice the buggy until he was almost on top of it, although there was a light on it, and as he turned out suddenly to pass it he had a head-on collision with another motor car travelling south driven by Mr. George Wilson, of Midland, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, and Miss Mary McNicoll, at whose home the Wilsons were going to spend the night.

The cars came together with terrific force, and the result was that Mrs. Wilson was taken to the hospital with a broken thigh, she being injured worse than any of the others. Mr. Wilson was injured about the chest, and Miss McNicoll suffered injuries to her head and face. She and Mr. Wilson went to the hospital also, but were allowed to leave during the evening. Everett Hare was cut about the face and head, but was able to go to his home in the village, and Eagles, who lives about three miles southwest, escaped unhurt. Both cars were very badly wrecked. The horse and buggy were not involved in the wreck.

Later it was stated that the glare of the approaching headlights he did not see the buggy until he was almost on top of it and in applying the brakes his car skidded and collided with the Wilson car.

OUR VEGETABLE MUSEUM

During the past week we have collected several large vegetables and a freak of nature in vegetable line. Mr. T. R. McKenzie of Portlaw contributed two large white carrots that weighed three pounds and three lbs., 13 oz., from seed secured from J. H. Walker at Portlaw. Mr. Donald McMillan of Priceville brought in a potato which weighed two pounds, 10 ounces and had three small knobs on one end which allowed it to stand upright. He also showed freak carrot with very little body that had five long finger-like growths emerging from the top.

Another item of interest was presented by Mr. Jas. Russell of Rock Mills. Two large onions were sent to him from Wilder Idaho, by Mr. Dorsy Simpson, an old resident of the Rock Mills district. One onion weighed exactly two pounds when pulled and the other slightly over two pounds in weight. These were grown on irrigated land and the grower received about $20 per ton for the crop. If others have large vegetables or freaks of nature we would be pleased to see them.

Hunters Leaving

The annual trek north of the deer hunters is to take place on Monday and Tuesday of next week. Two parties are leaving Flesherton and district for the Ardbeg and Boakview camps. The deer season opens on November 5th.

The Dargavel party will hunt near Ardbeg and is composed of Messrs. Jas. Dargavel, Wm. Phillips, Robt. McMullen, Dave Williams, Wm. Turney, Geo. Brackenbury, Thos. Watson, Howard Watson, also Otto Loss of Palmerston.

The High Falls Hunt Club, which hunts a few miles from Boakview, is expected to be composed of Peter Munshaw, Geo. Mitchell, G. B. Welton, John Wright, John McKee, Chas. Stewart, W. Lever, Alb. Sparks and Geo. McTavish.

An effort has been made during the past few years to have the running of deer by dogs eliminated but so far their efforts have been frustrated. However, next year it is expected that those in opposition to the dogs will renew their activities and their opinions may carry weight. It is up to those who favor the hunting with dogs to defend their facts with greater force if they wish their sport to continue.

Truck Hit Buggy Glare From Sun

Blinded by the setting sun, Archie Priddle,, 33 years old, of Dundalk, drove his truck into the rear of a buggy, with the result that John J. Buie, aged 71, of Stayner is dead, and his 65 year old wife is in a serious condition, according to reports receiv- on Tuesday. The accident occurrred Monday evening on Highway 26, three miles east of Stayner.

Provincial Constable Walter Robinson, who investigated the tragedy, said that Priddle apparently was travelling at a moderate rate and, his vision obscured, failed to notice the buggy. When John Cairns and Joseph Hall of Barrie arrived on the scene a few minutes after the accident, they found the elderly couple and the truck driver unconscious. The Barrie men took all three to Stayner, where Mr. Buie died just after he was carried into Dr. Murphy's office. Mrs. Buie was found to be suffering from a leg fracture and severe bruises and, on account of her age, her condition is serious. Priddle quickly recovered consciousness, having been only slightly injured.

Degree Competition

The annual competition in Orange circles in East Grey for the possession of the Dr. T. S. Sproule Memorial Cup will be held at Maxwell on Friday evening of next week, November 6th. This competition is among the degree teams of various Lodges throughout the county, and this year Maxwell L. O. L. and the Dundalk Lodge will be the contestants, with the Orange degree to be exemplified. Dundalk won the cup last year when the competition was between Flesherton and Orange Valley. Flesherton is not entering a team this year and it is also doubtful whether Orange Valley does or not. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of Orangemen at Maxwell on the 6th.

No Paper Next Week

The Advance is taking its annual holiday this coming week and the paper will not be issued on Wednesday, November 4th.
