Nominations for Artemesia township were hed in the town hall, Flesherton, on Monday afternoon, and the largest crowd for years attended to hear the various candidates discuss township affairs. Mr. Herb Corbett, Reeve for the past two years, announced his retirement, and Messrs. John Davis, Deputy-Reeve for the past two years, and Alex. Cameron, a former Reeve, will contest that office. Mr. Garnet Magee is trying to advance from the council seat to Deputy-Reeve and will have as his opponent, Mr. I. B. Whittaker, who opposed Mr. Davis the past two years. Messrs. C. D. Meldrum, Wm. Burnett and Elmer Warling are elected as councillors by acclamation.

The ratepayers are being given a chance at the election on Monday to either keep the present road system or return to statute labor for road work. Considerable feeling was expressed at the meeting after the nomination and the various speakers and Mr. Harry Patton, township Road Superintendent were asked many questions. In fact many arguments were conducted by spectators in the audience, nearly all of which were on the road question, many complaints being made that ratepayers were not being given the road work promised when the statute labor was abolished.

Reeve Corbett and Deputy-Reeve Davis gave an accounting of their work at County Council and Mr. Cameron, Mr. Whittaker and Mr. Magee also spoke at some length, while the Councillors elect also gave their version of affairs.

The speeches of the candidates extended over a period of almost an hour and a half, and it was only when the hall furnace began to pour out smoke, which filled the auditorium, that the last speaker cut short his discourse.

Mr. T. R. McKenzie, a former Reeve and Warden of the County acted as chairman for the meeting.

Reeve Howard McCauley was chosen as Reeve for 1932 by acclamation at the nominations of the village of Flesherton on Monday evening. Six were nominated for the council: F. J. Mathewson, C. N. Richardson, G. B. Welton, J. O. Dargavel, last year's council, and A. Down and F. J. Thurston. The latter two withdrew from the field, as it was felt that the present council had considerable work ahead in clearing up the pavement question. They did splendid work this past year and their efforts are appreciated by the ratepayers of the village.

All the old council was present with the exception of Mr. Richardson and all gave account of their year's work. The meeting was very orderly and there was an entire absence of questioning relative to the paving, so the people of the village are satisfied with their conduct this year.

Reeve McCauley dealt with the pavement work to some length, mentioned County Council matters and also brought up a question of fire protection. He has several schemes in view and will secure data on costs etc., which will be set before the ratepayers at a future date for their consideration.

SOME HIGHWAYS TO BE CLOSED

Owing to the need for economy in highway expenditure, it is possible that some of the less-travelled provincial highways will not be kept open this winter by department snow-plows. There would be a certain advantage in leaving the snow on the pavements in rural districts, as the bare pavement ties up farmers. They have to use sleighs to get out from the concessions and when the highway has been cleared of snow the sleighs are useless. On the other hand the rural populaton can't get to the highways with cars when the snow lies deep on the concession roads. The result is thus apt to be a complete tie-up. This situation existed several times last winter in Western Ontario. — St Mary's Journal.

HORSE GETS DRUNK ON ALDER BERRY WINE

From Port Talbot near St. Thomas, comes the report of a horse that became intoxicated on elderberry wine and broke its own neck on a foolish jump over the barnyard fence. The horse, usually a staid and dependable old beast, got its nose into the wine and drank copiously. The wine was not long in taking effect, the horse did practically everything but turn handsprings, and finally inspired by some vision of its youthful past, it ran at the barnyard fence, leaped over it and landed on its neck.

Damages of $2,000 and costs were awarded by Mr. Justice Jeffrey to Harry Thomson in his suit against the town of Barrie for damages for injuries sustained when he fell on a defective sidewalk.
