Final Literary Meeting

The last scheduled meeting of the F. H. S. literary society took place on Thursday afternoon last, the program being presented by Form 1.

The chairman opened the meeting reminding the students of Miss Macphail's essay contest which closes on March 15, and the annual speaking contest to be held the first Saturday in May.

Form 1 began their program with a French chorus, followed by a recitation "Little Batuse," by Les. Seeley. A violin selection was then rendered by Harold Johnson. Before the presentation of the play, "The Knave of Hearts," the first form "Harmonica Band" played several numbers. The play proved very humorous and was a distinct triumph for First Form.

The meeting which was honored by many visitors, concluded with the National Anthem.

Debates Centre On Money At Ottawa

Parliament Hill looked as though we were in a state of siege one day this week. Every entrance to the ground was guarded by policemen fully armed. They seemed to be wearing their Sunday coats, too, since a little more braid than usual was in evidence. I thought there had been some accident and asked one of them, but no, they were just expecting a demonstration of the Unemployed. A delegation of them were determined to see the Prime Minister. About a thousand unemployed gathered at Confederation Park in the centre of the city, and attempted a meeting but as soon as one of their number held aloft by a number of his comrades began to address the crowd they were surrounded by policemen and according to eye witnesses roughly handled and arrested. Behind the main Building of the Parliament Buildings a detachment of Mounted Police—Canadian Royal Mounted Police— were held through the morning ready to squelch any trouble at its beginning. About two-thirty the Prime Minister received representatives of the Unemployed in the Railway Committee Room. Their case was represented by an able young man, who was, though, quite uncomprising and bitter. The Prime Minister, in reply, did not show much understanding—or so it seemed to the listeners.

Grand Juries are to be eliminated, on the plea of economy. This required an amendment to the Criminal Code. At the same time another amendment was offered making it a crime to obtain goods on the strength of bad cheques. Mr. Guthrie, "It is only when a person obtains goods by reason of a bad cheque. If a man purchases goods and pays part cash and subsequently when the bill comes in he issues a cheque that is no good, he did not obtain those goods on the strength of that cheque, and that is not a criminal offence. The offence is when a cheque is issued and as a result of the cheque goods are obtained, and the cheque is no good. The presumption then is that the transaction was fraudulent."

This Session has heard more debating over money than any other: what is money? Should it be based on gold? Have we enough of it in circulation? Should it be issued by the banks or by a Department of the Government? Should it or should it not bear a relation to the goods to be moved? All these questions are being asked and answered. Mr. G. G. Coote, the Member for MacLeod, Alberta, asked that the banking committee should be empowered to inquire into, and report on, the advisability of amending the Dominion Notes Act, so as to eliminate the provision for redemption of Dominion notes in gold and to provide for the issuing of Dominion notes without relation to gold reserve. Mr. Coote claims there is not enough money in circulation, and that the Dominion Treasury should issue more money, put it in circulation without interest, to effect the too great deflation which has taken place. Too little currency in circulation has caused the fall of commodity prices, and if prices are to be raised then the amount of money in circulation must be increased. He pointed out, also, that during the World War we departed from the Gold Standard and increased our currency to take care of increased business. If we had not done so, we would have lost the War, he said, and he wanted to know if we could not take a similar action now to enable us to win the war against poverty. If we followed the advice given to Great Britain in the Macmillan Report we should issue Dominion Notes to the amount of $500,000,000 instead of the $144,000,000 at the present. Such an addition to currency in circulation would, Mr. Coote believed, raise prices up to something like the level they were a couple of years ago and enable Canadians to pay the debts which they then contracted. "Anyone who today refuses to use such measures to put more credit in circulation and increased prices is as foolish as the man who refuses to put air in a flat tire for fear he may blow up the tire. I remember hearing of a Scotchman who, the first time he saw the sign "Free Air" did use so much air that he blew out the tires. It is possible to blow up a monetary system with inflation as was done in Germany, but that is not what is proposed in the United States today, nor is it what I am proposing in Canada," said the Member for MacLeod.

Mr. Ian MacKenzie, the brilliant young Liberal, in the main agreed with Mr. Coote but thought a Royal Commission more appropriate than the Banking Committee. He made a very impressive speech, and finished with these words "Speaking for myself I say that the policy of the Liberal party at this time in Canada should be to look to the left, to look to the interests of the consuming masses of our people, and not to be afraid to change any laws which are built up on class lines. The solution for the present depression will be found in fearlessly developing that policy which will be in the interests of the consuming masses throughout our Canadian land."

Dundalk Man Sentenced

Police Magistrate Spereman held an interesting session of the police court on Friday afternoon at Dundalk, in which several important cases were disposed of and one case left over until the next sitting.

Robert Page of Dundalk seemed to be the chief culprit of the afternoon, appearing on several charges and finally being sentenced to a term in the Ontario Reformatory, as well as a term in the county jail.

Page, along with Bert Gilks, was first charged with receiving stolen goods knowing them to have been stolen, the article stolen being an oil drum belonging to the Imperial Oil Co., from the station at Dundalk Gilks was dismissed on the charge of stealing the drum and thus the charge of receiving against Page had to be dropped. The latter then was charged with the theft of the drum, to which he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two months in the county jail.

Both Page and Gilks were next charged with the theft of a can of cream, but the evidence showed that Gilks was innocent and he was discharged, while Page was convicted, and on this charge he was also sentenced to two months in the county jail, the sentence to run concurrently with the other two months.

This was followed by a more serious charge against Page, that of bribing a witness. The evidence went to show that Page and his wife paid a visit to one who had been summoned as a witness in one of these cases and that he had been paid the sum of $25 to absent himself from the trial. The money was actually paid, and it is alleged is still in his possession. On being convicted of this charge Page was sentenced to a term of 6 months determinate and 3 months indeterminate at the Ontario Reformatory. County Crown Attorney W. D. Henry, K. C., conducted the prosecution for the Crown, F. G. McKay, Owen Sound, was counsel for Gilks, and a Mr. Harris of Toronto, appeared for Page.

Harry Smith was charged by Mr Levi Duckett of Maxwell with malicious damage to a motor car by permitting it to freeze up, but was dismissed.—Sun-Times.

HARD TO SECURE ICE

Local users are having considerable trouble securing a supply of ice for use next summer. Some are getting a supply from the Irish Lake, some from Flesherton, some from Sir Wm. Mulock's pond and one or two from Feversham. The ice on the pump station pond has not been more than a few inches thick at any time this winter.—Markdale Standard.
