On Friday evening the ladies of Inistioge put on an Irish tea at Oscar Patterson's. The supper consisted of baked potatoes and Irish stew and baked beans; two kinds of pickles, buns and biscuits; jello (red and green for Irish.) Three kinds of pie tea and buttermilk. The program consisted of Irish songs and recitations by Billy Batchelor and Harold Jackson, followed by a mock trial which was very humorous. It was really quite humorous and evidence rather conflicting for Pat tried to prove that she had a maid and twenty dollars a month just for pin money, besides five dollars a day for running expenses, had plenty of clothes (which were on display) fur coats, silk dresses, etc., while Mrs. Flanagan was at Bridge parties, etc. He had neighbors, real estate agents and the maid to prove his statement. But the jury threw the case out as they could not believe that Mrs. O'Flanagan and Pat lived only on small potatoes and skimmed milk.

IN MEMORIAM

BOYCE — In loving memory of our dear mother, who parted this life on March 29, 1929, also our dear father, who parted this life on April 6, 1929.

We mourn for them in silence,
No eyes may see us weep.
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep.
A loving mother and father
There were no better, when they were here,
For all of us they did their best,
And God gave them Eternal rest.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by their Family.

IN MEMORIAM

JAMIESON — In loving memory of John H. Jamieson, who died at his home in Detroit, March 31st, 1930.

Farewell, dear loved one, farewell.
At most for a few fleeting years,
For soon with our "Lord we shall dwell"
And know neither sorrow or tears,
No partings shall ever be known,
On that happy, heavenly shore;
Those seated with "Christ on His Throne"
Go out from His presence no more.
—Gone, but never forgotten, Wife.

The Prince of Wales has paid a splendid compliment to the press. That will offset a great number of knocks.

When splitting wood at his home in Mount Forest Mr. Tommy Temple had the misfortune to have his under lip cut through by a flying splinter.
