FIFE'S SPRING WHEAT.

Gosnelles, Colborne District,

To the Editors of the Agricultonist.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—One of our farmers having been so fortunate as to introduce a new kind of wheat into this township, of which a brief notice was given in the Colonist Star, 12 months ago—I trust a more full account of it may not be unacceptable to your readers, as from its tendency to resist the effects of rust, and its adaptation to low black soils—it requires only to be known to be extensively cultivated and highly valued.

Eight years ago Mr. David Fife having a friend about to return Scotland, requested if an opportunity occurred, that he would forward to the country a small quantity of wheat from some of the northern parts of Europe. On landing at Glasgow he found a vessel discharging a cargo from Dantzic—having procured a portion, he sent it to Mr. Fife who sowed it the spring following, and it came up various kinds, as might be expected and the whole was offered by sort, except this variety, of which there was but five ears, and two of them were destroyed by crows, yet from the remaining three ears he raised the third year half a bushel—from the produce of this he supplied some of his friends with a few bushels, and it began to be noted for not spring, and one person had twenty-eight bushels from one bushel sown. Next year the Agricultural Society introduced the Club wheat as a change of seed, which being sown along side of the new wheat on every transition, and the former being reaped so as to be worthless, while the latter was not the least injured—so established because its superiority that last spring the Agricultural Society thought it advisable to purchase 200 bushels to distribute amongst its members, rather than it should be taken out of the township, and the principal holder of the wheat refusing to take less than two dollars a bushel for it, that price was given by the Society, and many bushels were sold to the neighboring townships at the same rate, many people applying for it in vain.

It is rather a late kind of wheat thing 8 or 10 days behind the Club or Siberian, if sown at the same time, and then something resembles rye, yield it as well on dry soils, but on low black soils and any similar place not too wet for wheat to vegetate, it succeeds well, and its bright yellow appearance confirms the application of "The Golden Grain," to which applied to wheat, though perhaps some of your readers may think that the price paid for it gives it a better claim to that title.

A sample of the wheat shown by Mr. James Fife obtained a prize at the Provincial Exhibition last year, and a specimen will accompany this letter, together with an advertisement, which, by your giving publicity to, will oblige

Your obt. Servant,
HENRY SAWRELL.
