Tuxis Boys Won Game

Trimmed Their Dads 11-10 In Exciting Hockey Game Friday Night

The Tuxis lads in town challenged their dads to a hockey game and it was played in the rink Friday night. It was a hard-fought game throughout, but the youngsters came out victorious 11-10. Three penalties were handed out by referee, Geo. Boyd, the dads taking all of them. Lorne Chabot (Frank Leavell) played a great game in goal stopping six shots, while Happy Day (Geo. McTavish) and King Clancy (Rev. Scott) shone on defence. Red Horner (F. J. Thurston) who usually plays defence had to take centre position and he was flanked by Gracie (Alf. Down) and Conacher (C. J. Bellamy). Both Gracie and Conacher had an off-night and lacked their old speed and stick handling ability. "Mine Boy" Alex. Levinsky (Frank Duncan) was also used as a sub on the forward line and his Scotch tam-o'-shanter mixed well with his Jewish monicker.

The kids trotted out two full teams on the ice and were always fresh and rarin' to put it over the old fellows, which they did. Their players were: Geo. Watson, Douglas Scott, Fred Patton, Delbert Smith, Ted Dixon, Ben Leavell, Burton Bellamy, Ted McTavish, Robin Goldsborough, Tom Banks, Bill Henry and Mack Duncan. There has been another challenge issued by the kids and they will attempt to repeat at the next meeting.

THE FARMER'S EDUCATION

An outstanding Canadian authority, discussing farming as a vocation recently, included among the essential subjects in the educational preparation for farm work, the following: A thorough training in the use of English; proficiency in mathematics; sufficient commercial training so as to successfully carry on his business; practical training, obtained on the farm; a study of agricultural science, including chemistry, physics, botany, entomology, bacteriology, and a thorough knowledge of the more practical subjects, such as horticulture, field crops, live stock, mechanics; and a practical working knowledge of economies and civics. For the young woman whose future happiness will be found on the farm he suggested special training in cultural subjects, and in the work of the home, such as cooking, sewing, management and hygiene. Knowledge is as necessary to success in farming as in any other line of business.

A Letter From Lady Dufferin

Two weeks ago The Advance printed a short editorial reminiscent of the incumbancy of Lord Dufferin as Governor-General of Canada. With this introduction the following letters will explain themselves and no doubt prove very interesting to all our readers. To Mr. Barry The Advance extends its grateful thanks for his kindness and courtesy.

The Stroller's Club, Toronto,
February 16th, 1933.

Dear Editor,—Recently you were good enough to write a nice editorial regarding the Dowager, Countess of Dufferin, which was reproduced in last evening's "Star." It was to me Her Ladyship recently wrote, and I am sending your editorial to London that Her Ladyship may learn of warm friends in Flesherton.

You will be interested to know she is still hale and hearty, in spite of her 90 years and the letter I enclose tells of her calling at Canada House in Trafalkar Square on our last Dominion Day. In the autumn Mr. Howard Ferguson told me here how lovely Lady Dufferin was when she called on him. Lady Dufferin is still greatly interested in Canada and I know your kindly editorial will please her. Her letter will show you how splendidly firm her handwriting still is. Lady Dufferin has been our friend and much of the inspiration of the Dufferin School Old Boys' Association for over 30 years.

Sincerely,
JAMES W. BARRY.

Dear Mr. Barry,—I have to thank you for newspapers and notices, which are very interesting. On the 1st I Went to Canada House for Dominion Day. Of course I know few of the present Canadian men and women now, but the day before yesterday I happened to meet two old friends who knew us at Ottawa. My brother, Col Rowan Hamilton, and I were so pleased to see them. I thank you again very much for your remembrance of my husband and myself. 1875-1932.

LADY DUFFERIN.

Down in Newmarket the edict went forth that people on relief must not drive cars, and thirty families then refused municipal help. Those people apparently had no right to be receiving it at any time—not because they drove cars, but because if they had enough money to stay off relief rather than give up driving a car, they should have had enough so that it wasn't necessary for them to ask for relief.

Proton Trim Midgets

Proton Station's crack hockey team of no age limit played the Flesherton midgets on Monday evening and in overtime won the game 6-5. The game was delayed in starting on account of Boyd and Best, 16 and 17 years of age respectively, being considered by the visitors as too big and fast to play.

The midgets commanded the play the first two periods by leading 3-1 and 4-2, but in the third added one, while Proton counted three to tie the score. Blackburn in goal for Proton was a tower of strength and at times batted and booted the puck as it came from all directions. The visitors were heavier and more experienced than their opponents and came through in the overtime with the counter to win. These games are real contests and are watched by good crowds.

Flesherton — Goal, Ferris; defence, M. Johnson, E. Johnson; centre, L. Piper; wings, J. McFadden, B. Dargavel; subs., D. Smith, E. McKillop, Fred Patton.

Proton — Goal. Blackburn; defence, L. Lyons, B. Hopkins; centre, Russel Acheson; wings, White, S. Lyons; subs., Parks, E. Blackburn, H. Sims.

Markdale Here Tuesday

Next Tuesday evening March 7 Markdale Redmen come to town in an attempt to humiliate the local team by giving them a drubbing and winning the game. However the boys here have a different idea and a real game is in the prospect. Plan to add your voice from the rooters' section.

Reports Given At Grey Presbytery

The regular February meeting of Grey Presbytery was held on Tuesday, 21st inst., in Knox United Church, Owen Sound, with Rev. A. D. Cornett, M.A., P.D., presiding. The stormy weather, and the condition of the roads, made it impossible for ministers and laymen, who were living in distant parts of the Presbytery to be present, but there was a good representation from charges near the city, and where there were railway facilities.

Regular routine business occupied the morning session, which was brought to a close with the Devotional Period conducted by Rev. J. W. Johnston, M.A., of Kilsyth, who based his address on Galatians, chapter 3, verse 1.

Immediately after dinner, The Very Reverend James Endicott, D.D., ex-Moderator, and one of the Secretaries of the Foreign Missions Board of the United Church, addressed the Presbytery, taking as his subject, "The Laymen's Appraisal Report of Foreign Missions". In a masterly manner he described the origin of the investigation leading up to the Report and the contents of the Report, dwelling particularly upon its doctrinal aspects. Following the address there arose a brisk discussion which proved very illuminating. Dr. Endicott received the thanks of the Presbytery for his "stimulating discussion of the Report."

Another interesting incident of the afternoon session was the introduction of Mr. John Howard Bowman, a nephew of Rev. A. Laycock, of Holland Centre, who is making application to be received as a candidate for the Christian Ministry. Presbytery gladly granted his request, and wished him every happiness in the work to which he felt called of God to devote his life.

The report of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service recommended that Presbytery commend the action of the Federal House in refusing to make any change in the statute re the export of liquor to countries in which the sale of liquor is not legal; that Presbytery strongly object to any change in the Liquor Control Act that would permit the sale of beer and wine by the glass; and that Presbytery protest against any change in the Criminal Code, which would permit the conducting of Sweepstakes for the support of hospitals. Presbytery unanimously adopted the report, and requested the committee to make an investigation into the various phases of the matter of gambling and present a report at the May meeting.

The following is a digest of the Statistical Report as finally completed:— Number of Pastoral Charges 37, of Congregations 87. Number of persons under pastoral oversight 19,464. Number received on profession of faith 309, and by certificate 184. Total membership 10,250, an increase of 22. Number of Sunday Schools 81, with an enrollment of 8,190. Number of Woman's Missionary Societies 90, with a membership of 1,978. Number of Ladies' Aid Societies 62, with a membership of 1,575. Total value of all church property $1,001,883, on which there is only the small indebtedness of $10,925. Amounts raised for all local purposes apart from Ministers' salaries $51,291. Salaries paid to ministers $53,548. Raised for Missionary and Maintenance Fund $21,082. Raised by Woman's Missionary Society organizations $10,931. Raised for Conference and Presbytery Funds $1,097. Raised for charitable and religious organizations $1,322. Grand total raised for all purposes $138,486. Included in the above are the following items:— Amount raised by Sunday Schools for all purposes $8,645. Amount raised by girls', boys' and Young People's Societies $2,514. Amount raised by Ladies' Aid Societies $12,568.

Presbytery adjourned at 6.30 p.m. to meet in Annesley church, Markdale, on Tuesday May 2nd, at 10 o'clock a.m.

ONE BUSY FARMER

Farmers, generally speaking, are a very busy class of people, but we venture to say that there are none in this locality who are doing a greater amount of work this winter than Clarence Montag of the fourteenth concession of Culross. Clarence has 89 head of cattle in his stables, and he is feeding over half of them for the market. He has half a dozen horses, a bunch of hogs and a lot of poultry, and he is doing the whole job himself. A visit to his premises would convince one, also, that none of his animals are being neglected, for there are few more successful feeders in the county than this busy farmer.—Hanover Post.

While it pays to be honest you often are a long time collecting.

A LAKE WINNIPEG CRUISE TO HISTORIC NORWAY HOUSE

The visitor to Manitoba with vacation days at his disposal is in much the same position as a youngster in a candy shop with a hard-won nickel to spend. In both cases there are equally interesting and tempting ways of investing one's capital, but while the youngster's expenditure results in momentary delight that of the visitor to Manitoba will leave long cherished memories, especially should the steamer trip on lake Winnipeg be taken. It is difficult to leave the city of Winnipeg with its interesting buildings and parks, its art gallery and museum, the Historical Exhibit of the Hudson's Bay Company, and the many rail and motor trips to outlying points. The stone walls and round-tower bastions of Lower Fort Garry claim their share of attention but the steamer waits by the docks at Selkirk and like time and tide waits for no man.

A fast suburban transit line transports the traveller from Winnipeg to the busy port of Selkirk on the Red river, headquarters of the fishing fleets of lake Winnipeg and point of embarkation for the 300 mile cruise down the lake. All aboard, mooring lines cast off, and after a few hours run the steamer noses its way into the lower lake. To the left in the distance lie the curving sands of Winnipeg Beach and far to the right those of Grand Beach and Victoria Beach, delightful resorts easily reached from the city. On sails the steamer past the wild promontory of Bull-head, in and out among the islands of the Narrows, and through that channel to the open water of the upper lake.

The vastness of this island sea is impressed on the traveller as the vessel glides across the lake. At times the course leads close inshore, at others far out where no trace of land lies either to starboard or to port. On the vessel steams in the wake of the great canoes of the Indians and the broad-beamed craft manned by hardy crews which in olden days transported furs and supplies to and from the old fort of Norway House at the northern extremity of the lake. A day is spent in this romantic spot, then the return is made to Selkirk along a new course, with new ports of call and new scenes of interest. The round trip takes one week, but if time is limited there are week-end trips from Selkirk which are equally pleasant. Whether one travels in solitary state or with a select party of friends the cruise on lake Winnipeg is sure to linger in the memory as a most refreshing and enjoyable outing.

Ontario Plowing Match

The Provincial Plowing Match will be held near Owen Sound this coming fall, the first time that it has ever been held in Grey County. Various committees are at work preparing the prize list, both for Grey county competition on the first day and the opening events following, and other problems which are necessary for a successful match. A committee meeting is being held in Owen Sound this Saturday afternoon.

Club Curling Bonspiel

The club bonspiel of the Flesherton Curling Club has been held during the past week and on Tuesday evening Roy Piper's rink won the right to meet Dr. Murray's rink in the final by winning from Cecil McTavish 11-6.

In the preliminary games Murray won from the Welton rink 9-8, McTavish from W. I. Henry with the high score of 16-2, Piper from Wilson 11-9 and Wright from Bennett 8-7 in real close games. In the second round Piper won from Wright 10-9 and Dr. Murray received a bye. Piper then met Cecil McTavish and won easily 11-6. They will now meet the Murray rink for the championship and this should be a real game as both have a strong rink. The local club will shortly be hosts to the Markdale club in a series of games.

HEALTH

by Frederick Tennyson M.D.

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

STAYING AWAKE

Staying awake when you want to do so is one thing, but staying awake when you want to go to sleep is another, and it is most annoying. We are apt to complain and to make a fuss if we lie awake. If our wakefulness becomes a habit, then we are victims of insomnia.

To worry about not going to sleep is the surest way to keep awake. If the wakefulness is due to pain or illness, this is a matter of some concern, but the healthy normal person suffers no harm from his failure to go to sleep promptly.

There is no hard and fast rule as to how much sleep is required. The young and old require more rest than does the person who is middle-aged. We should secure sufficient rest so as to be ready to get up at rising-time, even though we may not be anxious to leave our warm and comfortable beds. Personal experience will determine what the bed-time should be in each case, so as to allow for sufficient rest.

It is the fear that he will not sleep which keeps the victim of insomnia awake, and it is the worry over not having slept which makes him feel tired. If such a person would not fuss and toss and turn; if he would relax quietly in bed, with mind and body at rest, he would secure sufficient rest even though he slept but little.

When the light is turned out, sleep is to be expected, but it should not be sought after. Relaxation and a quiet anticipation of sleep help us to pass the time until we lose ourselves in sleep.

If a bad habit is established, it can be broken. The bad habit of staying awake can be overcome by building up a good habit of going to sleep. To do this, a new routine should be started, one which will facilitate and suggest going to sleep.

A sufficient amount of out-door exercise prepares the body for rest. A comfortable bed, a cool room, quiet and darkness are factors which generally are favorable to sleep. A warm drink before going to bed, an interesting but not too exciting book may help. Whatever the routine followed, any fear of not sleeping must be banished, and any worry over possible ill effects of insomnia may be overcome by an appreciation of the fact that ill effects do not occur.

The person who looks for sleep never finds it. The person who lets sleep find him is never troubled with insomnia.
