CONTROL THE COMMUNIST

Parliament at Ottawa last week discussed the question of how to deal with members of organizations advocating violence. Rev. J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., introduced the annual motion to repeal section 98 of the Criminal Code which makes membership in such an organization a criminal offence. While asseverating that he himself did not believe in force, Mr. Woodsworth opposed interfering with those who advocated the use of force, pointing out that revolution had historical sanction. He added that a man could not be convicted of arson until he had burned down a house, the inference being that there must be no interference with Communists until they have produced a conflagration.

The Woodsworths of this country fail to see, or refuse to admit, the danger which is created by organizations which incite their members to violence. Even though these gentlemen shut their eyes, the danger is there and must be guarded against. There can be no toleration in this country of methods which do not conform to Canadian principles.—Alliston Herald.

INTEREST ON MORTGAGES

Premier Henry has intimated that he will introduce legislation at this session dealing with interest payments on mortgages. It is suggested that the mortgagor is to be protected even if the interest is not paid. This is a matter that should have very serious consideration. We have in this town as well as in various others many retired farmers who are depending on the interest from a few mortgages they possess for their living. When this interest fails they find themselves absolutely without funds. The question is what are they going to live on. In certain cases, no doubt, there are money lenders who are just waiting for their chance to swoop down on the unfortunate and foreclose, but there are many more who are and have been very lenient. For instance Mr.——— whom we know personally, holds a mortgage on a farm. For two years now he has received no interest. On investigation recently he found taxes had not been paid for two years. He approached the farmer and said, "Pay up all taxes and I will forego the two years' interest." Of course in this case he was not depending on the interest to live on. There are many angles to the question and the proposed legislation must be very seriously considered or it may create a hardship for many mortgage holders who are absolutely dependent on that bit of interest for their daily bread.—Creemore Star.

FARMERS HARD HIT

About fifteen years ago a Brant farmer purchased 200 acres of choice farm lands with a large brick house and bank barn on the premises for $14,000. The new owner paid about half the price of the farm since his purchase. He could not realize half what he paid for the farm if it were to be put up for sale today. At there is a chattel mortgage on his stock, this farmer, after many years of hard work, is bankrupt. A few years more of low prices for farm produce will place many other farmers in the same financial position. The landowner, who has to meet heavy mortgage payments these times, is to be pitied. Of course the moratorium prevents the sale of real estate if the interest payments are kept up, but the deferring of payments only delays the sale under mortgage.—Tara Leader.

SLOWLY AWAKING

If the daily and weekly papers keep prodding they may finally wake the Federal and Provincial governments up to the fact that the spending orgy of the past ten years has got to cease and that drastic retrenchments will have to be made in every department. Instead of being the leaders in matters of finance the governments have been the most tardy of all institutions to take any action to stem the tide of financial outpourings. Several years ago when money appeared to be the most easily obtainable of any commodity from government coffers and when about every fourth man one met in this district appeared to be on the government payroll, many of the men who were getting good salaries for little labor prophecied to the writer that the country would pay, and pay dearly, for the then apparent liberality of those in office. While other men could see that continued spending could not go on indefinitely the various governments closed their eyes and continued to issue its paper and when the treasury was empty relined it with money borrowed at exorbitant rates of interest. Well, they have surely got the Dominion in a jam and only now after three years of wallowing is any real attempt being made to work a way out. Ontario is apparently to take a lead by reducing educational and agricultural estimates and, should it be put into effect, by a redistribution bill which will lower the representation at Queen's Park from one hundred and twelve members to ninety or less. These economies will effect some small saving but more drastic measures will yet have to be taken to balance the budget and to put something aside to reduce the immense debt upon which the people are paying an interest out of all proportion to the times in which we live.—Burks Falls Arrow.

MAXWELL

Mr. Mitchell from Collingwood township, who has rented Mr. R. J. Morrison's farm west of Maxwell is busy moving and expects to be moved in this week. We welcome them to our community.

Our enterprising butcher, Mr. Priestly has been busy storing ice and getting ready for the summer business. He is also fixing up a shop in the village, which will make things convenient for customers to get their meat supplies.

The Women's Association of the United church of Maxwell will hold their meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Jos. Wright.

The W. I. expect to have a sewing course either next week or the week following.

PROTEIN IN RATIONS

The importance of protein in livestock rations and their production on the farm was a topic recently discussed by J. C. Steckley, professor of Animal Husbandry at the O.A.C. Legume hay was mentioned as an important ingredient in a protein-rich ration and of course such byproducts as cotton-seed meal and linseed oil meal were mentioned as very useful ingredients. Prof. Steckley declared that soybean meal was proving to be a very useful and rich protein ingredient. It carries about 35 per cent. protein and for dairy cows particularly it can be utilized apparently up to 20 per cent. of the ration. He condemned it, however, as a feed for hogs. Ground sweet clover seed had also proved to be of some use as a protein ingredient, but it is not highly palatable and can be fed only sparingly.

A recent survey of the small seed situation in Western Ontario, reveals that about 60 per cent of the red clover has been sold; 90 per cent of the alfalfa; 80 per cent of the alsike; 50 per cent of the sweet clover; and 25 per cent of the timothy.

The Late Mrs. Alcox

It was with startling suddeness that Mrs. W. J. Alcox of Orange Valley passed away on Saturday last. She was about the house as usual during the morning and without warning dropped to the floor and was dead before those in the room were able to reach her. She had not been in robust health for some time but there was no indication that the end was so near.

The late Mrs. Alcox, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Fry, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fry and was born at Nobleton in 1872. After her marriage to Mr. Alcox they resided at Nobleton for a few years before moving to Vandeleur. About 15 years ago they moved to the present homestead on the highway. She is survived by five sons and one daughter, namely. Ross and Wellington in Markdale; Delbert on a farm adjoining the homestead; Leonard and Clarence at home, and Mrs. Wesley Smith at Rock Mills. Three brothers and three sisters also survive, Charles at Dauphin, Man.; James at Nobleton; George at Nashville; Mrs. Jos. Rogers, Mrs. Ed Penfield and Mrs. Jas. Simpson in Toronto.

The funeral took place on Monday to Markdale cemetery. Rev. W. J. Scott of Flesherton had charge of the services at the house and grave and was assisted by Rev. T. O. Miller of Markdale. The pallbearers were Messrs. Charles and George Fry, Fred and Chas. Boland, W. Swanton and W. Hutchinson.

The floral tributes included a pillow from the family; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Smith, sisters, Mrs. Rogers and family, Harrison family L.O.L. No. 509 and neighbors.

Among those from a distance at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. C. Fry of Dauphin, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fry and daughter of Nashville; Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Penfield of Toronto.—Markdale Standard.

Bill Wilson Stars

An interesting item has come to this office on the lacrosse playing abilities of Bill Wilson, grandson of Mrs. T. Wilson of town, who played hockey with the Flesherton juniors last winter. In a game at Buffalo between a team from that city and Mimico the former won 12-7, Bill scoring four of the twelve goals, his all-round playing ability being a feature of the game. Bill is even better at lacrosse than he is at net-minding in hockey, at which job there are few better in junior ranks.

GRADING AND PACKAGING RESULT IN BETTER PRICE

"Much has to be accomplished in the way of grading and packing before the Ontario farmer can expect prices for his product, equal to the 'laid down' value of similar imported products."

New Zealand farmers, or producers on the Pacific Coast, because of their distant markets, perils of transportation, and competition of home-grown products on those markets are forced to pay more attention to grading, and attractive packing.

Farmers of this Province, however, in most lines have not been forced to do this, except in those products where there is an exportable surplus. Therefore, until the same attention in packing and grading is given farm products for domestic consumption it will be extremely difficult to organize home markets.

SOME FACTS ABOUT HONEY

At the price at which it is available to-day honey is cheaper than almost any of the more common articles of diet. It is at once nature's choicest sweet and her most complete food; it contains carbohydrates in the form of sugar of lime, iron, magnesium and potash, and a certain amount of protein; all of which are necessary for the nourishment of the body. Because the sugars of honey are already inverted and directly available for assimilation it is a quick source of energy. It can be used as a sweetening agent in practically every instance where cane sugar and cheaper syrups are used.

A dentist may not be exactly an artist, but he does quite a bit of drawing from real life.

Good many judges in United States are having their salaries reduced and offenders are hoping the judges in turn will treat sentences in the same way.

Last year the sessional allowances of Ontario M.P.P.'s was cut 5 per cent. and a 10 per cent. reduction is probable this year. The payment of $1800 for 6 weeks' service should be ample remuneration. Before the indemnity was raised to $2,000 in the Drury regime it was $1,400.

Trouble is a lot of fun and fun is a lot of trouble.

Back taxes is a problem perplexing many municipal councils. The town of Hanover, with a population of about 3000, has $40,000 of these arrears and the council, in an effort to collect, has approved seizure of chattels, rent and other property.

Lots of us are looking for the path of least resistance.
