The Pan-Anglican Synod.

(Continuation of proceedings at Lambeth.)

The Synod was resumed on the 4th at Lambeth Palace. After prayers in the chapel, the Archbishop of Canterbury took the chair in the library, when the question of the position of Anglican and American chaplains was discussed, the subject being opened by the Bishop of London, under whose jurisdiction all chaplains are except those in the Diocese of Gibraltar. The Bishop of that diocese followed, and with Bishop Piers Claughton, who so frequently represents the Bishop of London on the Continent, contributed a great deal of valuable information on the subject. The other speakers were the President, who as Bishop of London took great interest in the status of chaplains on the Continent, and the Bishops of Oxford, Carlisle, Antigua, Pennsylvania, North Carolinia, and Long Island. A strong feeling was manifested that English and American chaplains should work harmoniously, and not interfere with each other's work. The afternoon session, in which the question of the best method of meeting the attacks of infidelity was taken up, was unquestionably the most important which has yet occurred. It had been anticipated that the Archbishop of York, who was absent in the morning, would have introduced the subject, but it fell to the Bishop of Ohio, who made a plain and lucid statement of the question to be discussed. He was followed by the Bishop of Killaloe, whose logical acumen well sustained the reputation of the Irish Church. The Bishop of Peterborough followed with a speech abounding in happy and epigrammatic sayings, and to him succeeded the Bishop of Lincoln, who in a paper of great ability dealt with the various failings of the Roman, Greek, and Anglican Churches in dealing with the pressing question of infidelity, saying that our great lack at home was better provision for the intellectual training of the clergy. To him followed the Bishop of Oxford, who, took up his parable as to the prevalence of infidelity among young men at college; and the Bishop of Gloucester and Bristol, who has made the subject his own, made the speech of the afternoon. At first his utterances were comparatively feeble, but as he detailed the various subtle forms of unbelief and suggested the best methods for meeting them, the attention of the Synod was riveted, and when in an eloquent peroration he showed the folly of believing that the Church would be overcome by attacks of infidelity, which had already done their worst, the Bishops were visibly moved. The Bishop of Winchester followed in a speech, remarkable alike for intellectual vigor and personal piety, and the Bishop of Montreal detailed his colonial experience on the matter. The aged Bishop of Llandaff having compared modern with ancient times, the Archbishop of York spoke with great abilty and power, and was followed by the Bishops of Bombay, Saskatchewan, and Bloemfontein, who detailed their varied experiences among unbelievers of different intellectual capacity. The whole subject was happily summed up by the President, and, like that in the morning, referred to a Committee. Among the memorials presented yesterday was an address from members of the Church of England Workingmen's Society signed by nearly 30,000 communicants setting forth that they are much aggrieved at the unjust encroachments on their rights and privileges as Churchmen made by the civil power, with the active aid and sometimes the active instigation of those whose first duty is to act as champions of that Church which had entrusted them with its highest office. The memorialists desire to call the attention of their Lordships to the three great principles affirmed by the Pan-Anglican Conference of 1867—to wit, steadfast adherence to primitive doctrine and justice; government of the Church by its own Synods and not otherwise; and faithfulness to the spirit and principles of the Book of Common Prayer. The memorialists contend that they are striving for those very principles, and in contention are subject to persistent and embittered legislation, and cruel molesting of their pious clergy. They ask their Lordships to lift up their voices against this cruel state of things. The memorial was forwarded through the President and laid on the table, it having been intimated that the time alletted to the Conference would not admit of replies being sent to memorials which might be submitted to it.

ADDRESS BY BISHOP LEWIS.

Before the Pan-Anglican Synod, Bishop Lewis made an address on the subject of self-supporting dioceses, from which we extract as follows:

"In speaking upon such a subject there was a great temptation to indulge in self-complacency, and there was a great danger of assuming that because one diocese had been able to do a certain thing, every other ought to do the same. Still, though he came quite from the other side of the world he could say ditto to the Bishop of Adelaide. Bishop Lewis proceeded to repeat in substance what he had stated a week previously at Oxford, namely, how that on the separation of Ontario from Toronto in 1862, he began with no resources whatever, and how greatly he had been benefitted from a grant of £600 per year, which had been gradually reduced to £100. He was told that even that would be withdrawn next year. Well, he had no objection whatever, and therefore he might call his a self-supporting diocese. He did not, however, mean to say that the diocese of Ontario would be able to make as much progress as if it had greater means: but he hoped the clerical staff would be maintained undiminished in numbers and efficiency when the last £100 was withdrawn. Seventeen years ago there were about 45 clergymen in the district, of whom 17 were paid travelling missionaries. Now there were 90; and in its distress the diocese had raised $500,000 of invested capital, had built 140 new churches, and had, with few exceptions, supplied every clergyman with a parsonage and a piece of land attached to it. (Cheers.) The manner in which these results had been brought about was by organizing a synod of the clergy and laity. That had created such a feeling of confidence and interest that the laity had no scruple in throwing themselves into the work and casting their alms into the treasury of the Church."

IN THE HARD DRY COUGH OF CHRONIC BRONCHITIS, with its difficult expectoration and laboured breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto Phosphate of Lime, manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while nature, thus aided, reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, no hopes beckon on to life and health. Prepared by J. H. Robinson Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by druggists generally. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

Anglo-American Hotel.

If you would step into Faughnan's Bar
To treat your friend to a good cigar,
There is the real Havana and pure cheroot
Direct from Cuba without dispute.

If your friend should think he'd need
Something more exhilarating than the weed
To refresh his spirits and make him frisky,
There is good Old Rye and Canadian Whisky.

Spanish, French and Madeira Wine,
With the choicest Vintage of the Rhine;
London Porter, Ale and Beer,
At moderate prices and not too dear.

Highland Scotch fra Campbellton
It will make you lively and feel like fun;
Old Irish Pothseen from beyond Tyrone,
And the heathery hills of Enishowen.

If you dispute it I'll lay a wager,
Darn the cent was paid the gauger.
With all these luxuries on hand,
I want you all to understand

That my bedrooms are light and airy,
Furnished with every modern necessary;
All that the travelling public can require,
Or the lovers of comfort can desire.

SUMMER COMPLAINTS, or CHOLERA INFANTUM, which is carrying off the infants and children by the thousand at this season of the year, can always surely be checked and cured by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has never failed to give immediate relief in the most severe cases. It is a boon within the reach of every mother. Do not fail to give it a trial. You will be pleased with its charming effects. For sale by all dealers. Milburn, Bently & Pearson, Toronto.

A letter from a Clergyman.

Vernonville, Sept. 8th, 1876.

Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson,

Gentlemen—Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has cured the worst case of Summer Complaint I ever knew. Our little child was, for one month, not expected to recover. We got medicine from our family physician, but, like everything else, it failed, until we tried Dr Fowler's Great Cure—Extract of Wild Strawberry—which acted like a charm, and perfectly cured the infant in less than three days.

Yours faithfully, Rev. S. R. KEARNS.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY is the most successful medicine known for all summer complaints, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, etc. Its effects are marvellous; it acts like a charm. Relief is almost instantaneous. In seasickness and vomiting it is a specific worth ten times its cost. Equally good for the young, the old, and the middle-aged. For sale by all dealers. Milburn, Bently & Pearson, Toronto.

For Dysentery, Diarrhœa, and all Summer Complaints, use the greatest of all pure, simple remedies—Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effective. For sale by all dealers. Milburn, Beatley & Pearson, proprietors.

Utterson, Muskoka, June 18, 1878.

Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson,

Gentlemen—We are entirely out of your Victoria Hypophosphites, and our customers must have it. It is highly appreciated by the whole community. They will have no other medicine. Send immediately three dozen more, and oblige

Yours very truly J. S. SCARLETT & BRO.
