How strange that filling stations keep the gas in a tank underground and the cash drawer right out in the open.

Local and Personal

Spring is here.

Mrs. L. Thom of Barrie is visiting Mrs. Jos. Blackburn at present.

Mrs. M. Jamieson spent the week end in town.

Mr. F. Trench spent the week end at his home in Teeswater.

Miss Emily Acheson, principal of Chatsworth Continuation school, was a week end visitor in town.

Seven lambs from two ewes is the record held this year by Mr. Jacob Lever of Toronto Line North.

Rain and sleet fell on Monday and in several sections telephone lines were down.

Rev. M. M. Bennett of town preached to two large congregations in the United church on Sunday.

Messrs. Jack and Peter Dow attended the junior hockey game in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Caswell to town again. Mr. Caswell held a very successful sale at his farm near Springhill and moved to town on Wednesday last.

The Advance mailing list was corrected on aturday, including all subscriptions received to that day. Kindly look at your label and if you are in arrears we would be very pleased to receive your renewal. We are in need of considerable cash to meet our bills and notes as they come due. While we have to wait for renewals to come in our creditors demand cash.

St. Patrick Concert At Priceville Church

A St. Patrick concert and fine supper was held on Friday night in the basement of the new church, which attracted a large attendance. The room was decorated for the occasion and looked very pretty. After all had done ample justice to the fine supper a number of the young folk enjoyed playing crokinole, after which a splendid program was enjoyed. Rev. Dr. MacIvor acted as chairman in his usual happy manner and kept the audience in good humor by telling an Irish joke between intervals.

The first number on the program was a quintette by Colin and Hector McLean, Thos. and John Nichol and Wm. J. McMillan, which was thoroughly enjoyed and then sang for an encore, K-K-K Katie. Miss Elda Frooks gave a humorous reading "The ups and downs of married life." Miss Johnson sang a solo, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," and responded to the encore with "Danny Boy." A quartette of Mrs. MacIvor, Mrs. Wilfred Watson, Misses Nellie McLean and Johnson sang "Killarney" and was heartily encored, giving "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party." Mr. Neil McLeod sang a Gaelic song of "The Plains of Waterloo." Miss Monica Lambert gave a reading, "The Freckled Face Girl," which was well received. Mr. Bill McKenzie in his usual happy manner, gave a recitation "So was I" and caused much laughter. Mrs. Thos. Nichol also gave a solo.

A debate then took place resolved "That the country offers better opportunities for social enjoyment than the city." The affirmative was upheld by Mrs. John Nichol Jr., and Mrs. Dan. Campbell and the negative side was taken by Mrs. Dan L. MacArthur and Mrs. Wm. J. MacMillan. Both sides brought out many splendid points and was interesting from start to finish. The judges were Miss Edna McHugh, Mrs. Ray McLean and Mrs. Harry Houston gave their decision in favor of the negative. A duet was sung by Mrs. MacIvor and Mrs. Dan Campbell, "The Dear Little Shamrock." The quintette then contributed another number "Good Night Ladies," Miss Monica Lambert was accompanist for the evening. The Willing Helpers Society are very grateful to all those who took part and made the evening such a success. The National Anthem brought a most enjoyable evening to a close. A fee of 15c was charged at the door and the proceeds were nearly $18.00.

March has shown that it has not lost all its old lion qualities.

Hard Work And Courage Wins

Despite Hard Times, Hanover Man Has Shown Ability To Get His Foot on Ladder to Success.

The story of an emigrant who seems destined to become a worthy and substantial citizen of the country was told to The Post this week, and is herewith repeated as an illustration of the fact that courage, hard work and perseverance still carries its reward.

Some six years ago, a farmer in Normanby, the best township in Grey county, needed a hired man, and, under the plan then operated, he could secure a German emigrant by paying his transportation to Canada. The emigrant, in turn, obligated himself to work for the farmer for one year to pay off this debt.

This particular emigrant soon adapted himself to Canadian life and became a valued hired man. At the end of the year he agreed to serve another year if the farmer would vay the transportation of his wife from Germany. This was agreed to, and the man and wife were re-united here and both learned the fundamentals of Canadian farming.

Desirous of owning a farm himself, the man and wife left the farm for Hanover, where they could earn and save some money. The man got a job in a local factory and is said to have been an exemplary worker — anxious and willing to learn and doing his work faithfully and well. So, despite the fact that the past three years have not been favorable to local industries, he nevertheless secured his share of the work.

His wife, in order to help along, took in boarders and roomers and thus augmented her husband's earnings.

Last week the man and his wife leased one of the best farms in Normanby township. We understand they are to pay rent of $250 a year and the taxes.

They have saved $1,000 in the past four years, and are using this money to buy stock and implements for the farm. And they know enough about what is required on a farm to spend this money to good advantage. The man has been walking miles lately attending auction sales around Hanover and buying up stock and implements.

We venture to predict this family will make a success of farming. If, in six years, they can spend two of them paying for their transportation and in the remaining four years (three of which were depression years) save $1,000 to embark on a new undertaking — well, they will "make a go of it."

They have accepted quite a heavy obligation. They could have rented cheaper farms, but, by looking around and investigating thoroughly, they found themselves able to secure a choice Normanby farm at a quite reasonable figure. So they took it.

We miss our guess if they don't own the place within the next decade or two.—Hanover Post.

Holdfast U.F.W.O. Club

The March meeting of Holdfast U. F.W. was held at the home of Mrs. John Nichol, with 19 members and four visitors present. The meeting was opened in the usual manner and the roll call was answered by an Irish joke. The president, Mrs. MacKenzie, read the bulletin questions, which were discussed by the members. An excellent program was then given, as follows: Mrs. Archie Stewart read a chapter from the book "The Backwoods of Canada." Mrs. Wickens prepared a paper on soap making, which was read by Mrs. Wm. Beaton. Mrs. Donald Stewart told of an old time threshing. Mrs. Geo. Campbell gave a reading "The Swamp Angels.' Afer singing the National Anthem lunch was served and a social halt hour spent.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Duncan Muir on Wednesday, April 12 at 2 p.m.

A REAL OLD HORSE

A short time ago Dr. Jas. McFadzean of Arthur announced that he had a faithful old block horse 34 years of age, owned by him for 27 years and still working. He wants to know if anyone has a horse laying claim to greater distinction. Mr Ernest Myers, Maple Grove, Amaranth, claims he has a horse 35 years old this spring. Mr. Myers raised the animal and has had him working on the same farm up to now. The veteran equine has never been sick, and in Myers' own words " is quite gay yet." Show a horse longer in service than these two, you farmers of South Grey.—Durham Review.

One jig-saw puzzle that will probably never be pieced together by the lawman is the intricate exchange problem.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

ALIKE, YET DIFFERENT

One and one make two. If the two ones represent identical things, then we have two of these things when they are added together. After the census is taken the number of persons is added up and the total is the total is the population, or the number of human beings alive in the area covered by the census.

All human beings are alike in many ways, and yet no two are exactly alike. Some resemble each other more closely than others, indeed the resemblance may be so great as to make it difficult to tell the individuals apart and yet they are different. There are also marked differences such as those of color, age and sex, which allow for the population to be divided into groups.

At the time of birth each individual depends upon the equipment with which he is born and the extent to which he develops these gifts by proper training.

Differences should be recognized No amount of training would make every boy a good sprinter, because every boy has not the physical makeup whereby it is possible for him to run short distances at great speed. Just as there are physical differences which are obvious to us, so there are mental or intellectual differences.

Many parents refuse to admit to themselves that their child does not rank high intellectually. They drive the child and expect him to do intellectual, or what is commonly called brain work, that is on a par with what is done by those who have a much greater mental capacity. The result is that the child fails. His failures cause him keen anxiety, even though this may not be apparent. Repeated failure leads to discouragement and is frequently the basis of mental maladjustment in later life.

Differences are not to be used as an excuse for failure to work hard. To meet difficulties and to overcome them is part of the necessary training for life. The healthy person is the one who has developed to the full the capacities with which he is endowed, and who uses them to enhance the value of his work for himself and for others.

We are so alike in many ways that general rules serve as a guide to health for all of us. Because of our differences, however, these rules need to be adapted to our own special needs.
