KIMBERLEY PLAYERS ON NEW BEAVER VALLEY TEAM

There are to be two ball teams in the Thornbury-Clarksburg district in 1933—the Maroons and one from the Beavey Valley. The latter team will include Russell and Elmer Ellis and Haines of Kimberley and Earl Dillon of the Power House. Lawrence, the Kimberley pitcher, will also likely line up with the new team. These boys are well known locally. Those at the head of the team expect to round out a strong aggregation that should go places.

The Brooder House

At this time a great many chicks will be started on the road to broilers and layers. Farmers and poultrymen realize that March and April hatched pullets are more likely to be in heavy lay at the peak prices than chicks hatched too late in the season. A lot depends on the start the chicks get, and for this reason it is important that no disease germs are lurking in the brooder house. In the first place give the brooder house a thorough cleaning, and if hens have wintered in the brooding house be extra particular. Not only sweep down the walls and scrape the floor but saturate the floor and walls with a good disinfectant. This is not only a precaution against disease germs but against the young chicks becoming infested with lice or mites, either of which might prove fatal to the chicks.

If the weather is cold it might pay to line the brooder house with paper and put paper on the floor to stop the draft. Then have the brooder stove running for at least 48 hours before the chicks are expected so as to get the stove regulated to hold the temperature at about 100 degrees F. under the hoover, 2 inches about the floor level.

Will There Be Baseball?

Is Flesherton to have a baseball team this year? We hope so. For the past several years all the summer sport here has been tennis and a few softball games that brought out a few fans. Softball has not been the drawing card in sports to the same degree that baseball enjoyed when the Centre Grey League was active. There are plenty of young fellows in Flesherton and district to take part in baseball and we are sure that a strong team could be built up that would give any baseball nine a real argument. How about calling a meeting, boys, and see what can be done along organization lines? Now is the time to start boosting the idea and be ready for an early start when the season opens.

Team Brought High Price

Horses seem to be moving fairly swiftly in this district this year, as quite a number of deals have been made. Last week Mr. Robert Cullen sold to B. H. Beaver, through Geo. Duncan, a fine team of Belgians 9 years old, weight $3350 pounds and the reported price is $325. At present there seems to be quite a demand for young horses and teams.

Syrup Making Commences

A number of syrup makers in this district have already tapped and report the run fair. Mr. Walter Akitt has not yet commenced, but will likely do so within the next day or so. The syrup-making season is about ten days behind that of last year, but when the run does commence in earnest it should be a good one. With the price of sugar advanced we shouldn't wonder if more farmers would take advantage of their wood lot this year for sugar making purposes.

United States may have beer by Apr. 4th. Seeing that it is the 3.2 sort they ought to bring it out on April 1.

Most people weigh more in winter than in summer, say doctors. Perhaps it's because so many of them have heavy colds.

Old Resident Passes

Owing to a misunderstanding the report of the death of a native Fleshertonian was not recorded. Mr. Will. C. Irwin was born in Flesherton 58 years ago, a brother of Mrs. Will. Moore and Mrs. John Brown of this place. As a youth Mr. Irwin took a situation with McDonald and Evans, Flesherton merchants. From here he went to Great Falls, Montana, where he joined the firm of Strain Bros. merchants of that city. On recommendation of this firm he took over the managership of a general store for the Grand Northern Mining Co. at Stockton, Montana, where he remained for about ten years, and where he married a Miss Isabel Smith, by whom there was one son, who died of spinal meningitis at the age of 16 years. After leaving Stockton Mr. and Mrs. Irwin settled in Vancouver, entering the real estate business. Seven years ago they moved to Seattle, where for three years he had been undergoing paralytic strokes which caused the loss of many of his faculties, rendering him altogether helpless. He died in Port Washington hospital. Last October his wife died, also of a paralytic stroke. Father, mother and son are lying together in the cemetery at Seattle. As a boy the writer knew Will well. He was known as a bright, industrious, conscientious lad, and a general favorite with young and old. The Strain Brothers discovered his sterling qualities and took him to Montana. It is over forty years since he went out from Flesherton to seek his fortune. The Advance tenders sympathy to the sorrowing sisters and friends of the deceased.

CROSSLEY—FERRIS

The Park Hotel, Flesherton, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday, March 25th, when Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ferris, became the bride of Jack Clayton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crossley, Mount Dennis, Rev. C. O. Pherrill of Markdale officiating. The bride looked lovely in a gown of blue Jericho crepe, and wore a corsage of Talisman roses and Freesias. Mrs. R. N. Crossley, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing lipstick red silk crepe. Mr. R. N. Crossley, brother of the groom, was best man.

Dinner was served to the immediate families of the bride and groom, the table being decorated with pink, green and white streamers and centred by the bride's cake.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Crossley left by motor for Sault Ste. Marie. On their return they will take up residence in Weston.

Editor of Advance

Dear Sir,—I see from The Advance of the 22nd inst. a report of the annual meeting of the above Association and that I was appointed as publicity agent.

The gathering, on account of the weather and the illness of a good many of the members, was not as large as one would expect, but even so there was a spirit of good cheer and an optimistic outlook for the work and well-being of the Association for the ensuing year. I was pleased at the manner in which the boys and girls interested themselves in the business. Nearly every one took part in the discussions and the various activities of the Association for the next year were fully threshed out and determined. I have attended nearly every meeting since the Association was formed, but I think our last meeting was the best on account of the keen interest manifested by the members.

Not being a native of Flesherton I did not deem it my duty to take part in the meetings of the old town Home Week but on the persuasion of my esteemed friend, Dr. Fred Murray, I was prevailed to join. The enthusiasm of the members, their desire to make the occasion a success, brought clearly to my mind that here was an Association worthy of support, and since that day I have had no reason to regret being a member and, in fact, never looked back.

At our meeting a discussion arose in connection with the fact that a large proportion of the people of Flesherton and district, resident in this city, were not members and a desire was felt that our aims and objects should be given publicity, in an endeavor to enlist their support, hence this letter.

Well, Sir, the aims of our Association are simple. We desire to have all these people members. There is on ritual to go through, no examinations to pass; the fact of being from your village and district is sufficient to admit any one to our ranks.

Our object is to have a meeting place where all Flesherton people can gather, meet old friends and make new ones, talk over scenes of former times and bring back memories of childhood days and generally to have a good old-fashioned heart-to-heart talk together; the arranging of picnics in the summer and in the winter an entertainment or an "At Home". Now it is pleasant to note that all our picnics and "At Homes" have been a success and have been attended by many of the Flesherton people in this city, who were not members of our Association. If our membership was increased we would be able to have more meetings and outings during the summer and concerts and "At Homes" during the winter. It is only on account of our membership being small that prevents us from launching out into a larger program, giving opportunities to the people to meet oftener than has been possible during the past. Yet the Association, notwithsanding its small numbers, formed a Sick Committee to look after our people in this city, and its duties are to visit the sick and bring words of comfort and good cheer. It must be borne in mind that these duties are not confined to the members alone, but to every Fleshertonian resident here. Although this has been one of the objects of our Association since its inception, it was only at our last meeting that this took concrete form. The members recognized its importance, hence the reason for appointing this committee. We recognize the importance of this committee as the most important part of our duties, and it is our earnest desire to have as many members as possible, so that this work will not be too great a burden upon the committee. The presence and sympathy of new members would strengthen and stimulate us to bring this part of our work to as near perfection as possible during this time of depression and anxiety. During illness would it not be a comfort to know that there are others concerned in your well-being who would visit and cheer you, showing you are not forgotten? that all things possible to be done would be done by friends from the Old Home Town.

To the Flesherton people residing in this city and surrounding district I would appeal to help us in our work; that by joining and assisting us they would be making memories of their to-days for their to-morrows. The log in the old range in the old home sang as it burned and one might fancy that the music therefrom was the song of past years. This may be only fancy, but the good they would help to do will sink into the heart and remain there. In the busy days of toil and care these might be forgotten, but in after years, in their calmer and leisure moments, these will steal forth and will lighten and brighten their spirits and make the heart feel young, green and tender again, and the music of the log in the old-fashioned range will again burst forth free, and flow out in a brighter and clearer stream. Many an old age, to my own knowledge, has been brightened and sweetened by the memories of such acts of kindness performed in their younger days.

Let not the bright lights and seeming pleasures of the city obliterate or destroy the remembrance of the old home. Let the sight of the sparrow on the street bring back recollections of the days gone past, but not forgotten, when you ran up and down the hills and dales of the Old Home Town, free from care, romping with your playmates, many of whom may be resident in this city unknown to you. The world, at the present time, needs happiness-makers and we all can add materially to each other's happiness if we will just consider the best way of doing so.

Our Association is a Get-to-gether Club of Happiness Makers. Come, join us and by your presence strengthen our hands in carrying out our aims and aspirations.

In conclusion just allow me to state that if any of our friends desire to join and are diffident in coming forward, just get in touch with me and if I am not at hand, then my wife will advise them and either she or myself will deem it an honor to have the privilege of introducing them as members of our Association.

Yours sincerely,
—JOHN LATIMER

Given Fishing Tackle

A very pleasant event occurred at the annual meeting of the Flesherton Old Boys' and Girls' Association in Toronto last week when Dr. F. W. Murray, treasurer, was presented with a set of fishing tackle and a copy of Isaac Walton's "The Complete Angler". The presentation was made by Mr. C. E. McTavish, president, on behalf of the Association. Dr. Murray has done excellent work as treasurer since the Association was formed in 1929. The genial doctor should now be able to whip the local streams with dexterity and to make fishing complete in enjoyment he can then lie under a shade tree, read his book and dream dreams of finny monsters yet uncaught.

Lower Livestock Freight

Effective from March 20, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways permit outbound shipments of livestock from Toronto to travel at the lower rates, and minimum carlot quantities, which now apply on inbound shipments. This is the announcement of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company.

All shipments up to a twenty cents. per cwt. rate are affected. The reduction means a considerable saving to farmers carrying stock back country for finishing.

The Farmers' Co-operative, and the Ontario Marketing Board strongly urged a reduction early in the year.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

PASTEURIZATION

"Various methods of solving the problem are being followed, but probably effective pasteurization of the milk is the best protection for the consumer, and milk so treated appears to retain its valuable food properties practically unimpaired."

This quotation is from a recent publication of Sir George Newman, Chief Medical Officer of the Ministry of Health for England and Wales. Considering the source, we do not know of any endorsation of pasteurization which should mean more to each one of us, interested as we are in the protection of children and adults from the dangers of contaminated milk.

It is unfortunate that milk, which is such a valuable food, may, if it becomes contaminated, be responsible for the spread of disease. It is more than fortunate that there is available a simple, practical means whereby this danger may be overcome and milk made safe.

Pasteurization means the heating of milk to a temperature which destroys all disease germs that may have gained entrance to the milk. It is not a hit-or-miss process. The temperature and the length of time required are well-known and are set down in the milk laws defining pasteurization. It is also required by law that, after pasteurization, the milk be cooled and kept cool until delivered, after which it is the responsibility of the housekeeper to keep the milk cold until it is used.

The purpose of pasteurization is to make milk safe. Together with pasteurization, there should be obtained milk from healthy cows, produced in a cleanly manner and handled in a sanitary way. After all this has been done, the clean milk is then pasteurized to ensure its safety.

There is no objection to heating foods. All of the animal foods and many others are subjected to heat before being eaten. The cooking of foods is one of the most important safeguards which we possess against disease. There is, therefore, no inherent reason why milk should not be treated before being used.

The advantage of pasteurization are based solely on theory. Practically, those communities which have a pasteurized milk supply have experienced a tremendous reduction in the number of cases of sickness and of deaths from those diseases which have commonly spread by contaminated milk.
