FASHION NOTES.

Interesting Brevities for Beauties

Very high, narrow back-combs are worn.

Walking shoes have small round box toes.

Gentlemen's overcoats are given velvet collars.

Dinner and evening dresses are cut square-necked.

The favourite button is the Japanese, in metals of three colours.

The fashionable bridesmaid's dress is white satin and tulle.

Fancy, basket-woven ribbons are shown for ladies' neck-wear.

Fashionable walking boots have cloth tops to match the costume.

Round and flat tooped manish Derbys are worn by young ladies.

Metal buttons for trimming waistcoats of all kinds are very fashionable.

Plain black silk socks are de rigueur for wear with patent leather pumps.

Uncut velvet is a stylish material for ladies' waistcoats, collars and cuffs.

Paniers for making full-dress toilets bouffant on the hips are in the market.

Dolman visites and fur lined circulars are the fashionable wraps this season.

Bonnets faced with fur and trimmed with ostrich feathers are worn in Paris.

English velvet, with long pile, is the fashionable material for morning jackets.

Scotch plaid ribbons are very fashionable either for hat trimmings or neck wear.

Black velvet bands around the neck are revived for evening full dress occasions.

Jet passementerie and jet and silk fringes are much used in trimming black silk toilets.

Gray camel's hair cloth caps trimmed with bands of fur or feathers are novelties in children's wear.

Scotch plaid circulars lined with red opera flannel or red silk are stylish garments for school girls' wear.

Bonnet strings are no longer crossed in the back over the hair or in the nape of the neck by fashionable women.

Large Alsatian bows of wide black velvet ribbon are worn as evening head-dresses with "at home" reception toilets.

White satin, dresses, trimmed with mediæval laces, yellow with age, are the most stylish evening toilets of the evening.

Cloth circulars have heavy cords and tassels fastening the garment in front, knotted loosely and then thrown over the shoulders.

Bias bands of many coloured, striped, and plaided clothes are used in trimming costumes de fatigue and simple house dresses of solid colours.

Black silk dresses for house and evening wear are usually combinations of several materials made into a full, flowing trained skirt, and tight basque attached to the same.

The Directorie bonnet is a leading Parisian novelty. It is high above the forehead, narrow on the sides, the strings cover the ears, tying under the chin, and the trimmings are a mixture of feathers, fur, ribbon, and ornaments. The whole affair is frightfully ugly, but it is the rage at the moment in the French Capital.

Opera and theatre bonnets of very small size, in the form of toques of white, pearl, and cream felt, are trimmed with white and pale tinted ostrich plumes and tips, a dash of colour in the form of some fancy mixed feathers of red and peacock green and blue, or white grebe feathers, and sometimes a heron's aigrette, but no flowers.

How Three Girls Captured a Deer

(From the Mauch Chunk (Penn.) Coal Gazette.

There was a dance near Porter's Lake, in Pike County, on Friday evening last, that was attended by numbers of the best youths and maidens of the neighbourhood They began dancing early in the evening, and continued it until morning. The region is sparsely inhabited, and the means of communication few, therefore those who attend such gatherings frequently go on foot for miles to be present at them. Three maidens—Miss Cox, Miss Brink, and Miss Jenny Lane—live on the northwest bank at Porter's Lake, and to get to the dance rowed over in a small boat. After the breaking up on Saturday morning, they started to return home in the same manner, Miss Cox, the elder of the three, taking the oars When near the middle of the lake, they discovered an object moving in the water before them, which at first they supposed was a dog, but which upon nearing they ascertained to be a big buck. It circled round and round in the water, a sure indication that it was wounded. After a consultation, the boat was pulled to within a few feet of the buck, and the oars were unshipped, Miss Brink taking one and Miss Cox the other. They drifted closer, and when within striking distance, they drew down their weapons upon the deer's head. He sank beneath the water for an instant but when he came to the surface his eyes shone and his hair was turned straight toward his head. The girls both struck a second time, bringing the oars down upon his neck. He sank again, but coming up sprang from the water, and placed his fore feet against the side of the boat. The girls had to use all their strength to keep it from capsizing. They managed however to strike the animal another blow on the neck, which proved a fatal one. Tying their handkerchiefs together, the girls secured their prize to the boat and towed it ashore. It weighed 244 pounds. There was a fresh wound in the right side, and one hind leg was broken. It had doubtless been driven to the water by hounds.

Do not live a single hour of your life without doing exactly what ought to be done. If you have a cold, cure it; if you are hoarse, seek relief; if you are troubled with a cough, apply the proper remedy—Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. This pleasant and powerful remedy is the finest curative agent known for all colds and those bronchial and pulmonary complaints arising from a cold. For sale by all dealers.

National Pills are applicable even for infants as well as adults.

In the hard, dry cough of chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and laboured breathing, the demulent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now hope beckons on to life and health.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B.; and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5 00.

Like a lamb, disease advances upon the citadel of life, but soon becomes a ravening lion, destroying the very vitals. Very often it attacks the kidneys, and works sad havoc in the urinary system, in which case there is nothing superior to Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi. This sovereign remedy is also good for Bright's disease, diabetes, derangement of the kidneys, etc. For sale by all dealers.

National Pills purge and cleanse the system.
