A Successful Supper

A splendid pancake and syrup supper was held by the L.O.B.A. in Fraternity Hall on Thursday evening last, when an excellent supper was given and which everyone enjoyed. The society made about $25.00.

After the supper a social evening was enjoyed and a short program given. Mr. Geo. Littlejohns, past County Master, acted as chairman and gave a splendid address. Speeches were also made by Mrs. H. Down, the first Worthy Mistress of the L.O.B.A., Mrs. W. P. Crossley and Mr. Jos. Blakely, the oldest Orangeman in Artemesia District. Mr. Coleman of Orange Valley delighted the audience with several solos, while Miss Jean Wolstencroft rendered a violin solo, accompanied by her sister, Dorothy, at the piano. Several musical selections were given by the Silver String Orchestra, composed of the McFadden and Littlejohns families. Jig-saw puzzles were also available to enthusiasts and altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Mrs. McDowell Passes

After an extended illness Mrs. Ida McDowell passed away on Friday evening, April 7th at her home five miles east of Flesherton, aged 63 years. The funeral took place on Sunday with service at her home, conducted by Rev. F. Dean of Feversham. Interment took place in the family plot in the Maxwell cemetery.

The late Mrs. McDowell was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Phillips, old residents of the township of Osprey. She spent her early years there and attended the Maxwell public school. In 1894 she was married to Chas. McDowell, who predeceased her some years ago.

She is survived by one daughter, Alice (Mrs. Ray Pedlar) of the Fourth Line, Artemesia, and two sisters and three brothers, Mrs. I. Sharp of Toronto, Mrs. H. C. Dietz of Cleveland, Ohio, Samuel and Thos. Phillips of Artemesia and William at home.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas. Dargavel, Frank Seeley, W. J. Chard, Cecil Monaghan, Lorne Atkinson and Geo. Hargrave.

Weekly Crop Report

Farmers throughout Ontario are elated at the higher prices being paid for hogs and a still further increase is prophesied owing to the scarcity. The farmer who continued in the hog business will now reap the benefit of his good judgment. There is a large demand for one-day-old chirks in most parts of the province. Beneficial rains for winter wheat and clovers have fallen recently in many parts of the province. Roads are soft and highway officers in numerous counties are enforcing the half-load regulation on trucks. Considerable activity in preparation for spring work is noticed everywhere and farmers in Kent County report injury to new seedings of clover. Warm rains have helped in Lincoln county to revive wheat, alfalfa and clover fields. Some cars of certified seed potatoes are coming into Middlesex and there is more than usual interest in soy beans. A big increase in number of old orchards being pruned and sprayed this year is noted in Welland. Hog prices reached $6.00 per cwt. Breeders' reports in Durham indicate some flocks of sheep showing close to 200 per cent lamb production.

Eventful Career of Late Dr. T. Henderson

The subject of this sketch was the fourth son of Robert Henderson and Fanny Watson Henderson, who emigrated from the County of Tyrone, Ireland, abut 110 years ago. On the afternoon of Wednesday, March 29th, 1933, he suffered from an attack of paralysis, the effect of which he did not recover and he died on the morning of April 3rd.

He was born at Laskay in North York on the 27th day of February, 1853 and when he was two years of age the family moved to a bush farm in the Township of Artemesia, five miles south-east of Flesherton. When he was only eight years of age the family suffered a great loss in the accidental death of his father, upon whom a log fell while he was assisting at the raising of a log barn, two miles from his home. Only those who experience a loss such as this can realize the dark and discouraging outlook for a widow and family of nine almost helpless children. After some years of privation and hardship but absolute harmony in the home, this noble widow lived to see her six stalwart sons and three amiable daughters all happily marrier and filling honorable positions in the city and community of their choice of place of residence.

His early education was received at the log school house in the neighborhood, and at the age of ten years he secured a position with a man by the name of Casper Sullivan, who kept a small store at Dunedin, Ont. He left home with his mother's blessing and all his belongings in a calico handkerchief and travelled 23 miles, arriving in time for supper and after a sound sleep started in business the next morning. He did not find his duties arduous and performed his work to the fullest satisfaction of Casper, whom he found to be a very congenial boss. To his great surprise every month when pay-day came around Casper insisted on him accepting more than he agreed to give him. He served Mr. Sullivan for one year when he decided to go to school again and started to attend the school on the Meaford Road, now known as Vandeleur, where his eldest brother, the late J. W. Henderson of Toronto was teaching. He attended his brother's school the greater part of two years, when he passed the Entrance examination, qualifying him to enter the high school, which he did in Collingwood, graduating as a public school teacher at mid-summer in 1875. He immediately began teaching at Maple Valley and taught until the end of the year, when he engaged to teach the Feversham school which he taught for three years with marked success. He then engaged to teach a school in Tossoronto Township, two miles from Alliston. After teaching that school for two years he was persuaded to take the headmastership of Alliston Public School, which position he held with wonderful success for five years, when he retired from the teaching profession to enter the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, from which he graduated with honors, standing at the head of the graduating class and winning the gold medal in 1883, taking the degree of L.D.S. and in 1889 the degree of D.D.S. and in 1891 the degree of M.D.S. from the University of Toronto.

He began the practice of dentistry in Alliston and after a year he moved to Toronto, where he had a large and lucrative practice. For a number of years he was associated with the Faculty of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons as lecturer in the department of Anaesthetics and Exondontia. He retired 25 years ago. He was a member of the I.O.O.F. society and a life member of St. Andrews Lodge A.F.&A.M.

Dr. Henderson had many admirable and sterling qualities. He was a true son of an amiable and much-beloved mother and her religious instruction and gentle guidance meant much to him. He was a friend of the poor, especially the aged and dependent ones. He was a congenial companion; a man greatly beloved for his saintly Christian character; an active church and Sunday School worker, more especially in his younger manhood and for years was associated with Sherbourne St. United Church.

In 1904 he was married to Miss Florence Watson, an estimable young lady of Kirkton, Ontario. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, one daughter, Helen, at home, one sister, Mrs. John Paul of Feversham, two brothers, Samuel Henderson and Dr. Robert H. Henderson of Toronto.

A short service was held at the funeral parlors of the Bates Burial Co., 124 Avenue Road, on Tuesday evening, conducted by his old and valued friend, Rev. S. J. Allin of Toronto. He was buried at Flesherton, where he was well known and where he wished to be laid with his father and mother, two brothers and two sisters, on Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of sympathizing friends, after a short service in St. John's United Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Scott. Dr. Fred W. Murray sang an appropriate tenor solo. The Masonic Order then took charge of the service, led by Wor. Bro. F. H. W. Hickling, acting as Worshipful Master.

The honorary pallbearers were five nephews of the deceased, Dr. Edgar W. Paul, Dr. Fred W. Murray, W. Ivan Henderson, Eddie Henderson, Armour Carson and Andrew Kyle, brother-in-law. The active pallbearers were members of Prince Arthur Lodge, Flesherton: Thos. Clayton, W. Morton, Geo. Mitchell, John Wright, A. Gilchrist and W. J. Bellamy.

The floral tributes were numerous and very beautiful among them being wreaths from the Flesherton Old Boys' and Girls' Association, Dental Association and St. Andrews Lodge.

Friends from a distance were: Mrs. Jos. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fletcher of Collingwood, Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher of Ravenna, Mrs. John Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Long, John Speers and sisters of Feversham, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Carson of Proton Station, Mrs. Mabel Echlin, son and daughter of Thornhill, Mrs. John Watson of Laskay, Ont., Mrs. Crawford of Sarnia, Miss Shirley Murray and Wm. Hemphill of Toronto, besides the immediate relatives.

If you are asking, "What's the use?" it means that you are in danger of allowing your life to become useless. The world is largely a reflection of ourselves.

"Never mind— we'll soon fix that"

Mrs. Hendry was in great distress. She had broken her spectacles and the prescription was at the optician's in the city.

"That means I can't go to the social tomorrow night," she said. "Whatever will I do?"

"Don't worry," Tom Hendry consoled her. "I'll just 'phone the optician right now and he can have a new pair here in tomorrow's mail."
