BUSINESS FAILURES!

There were 7,740 business failures in the United States, last year, involving liabilities amounting to over $200,000,000. Messrs. Dun, Barlow & Co. report 5,334 in the first three months of 1876; liabilities, $131,172,000. Failures have averaged about 5,000 a year for several years past. In the face of such uncertainty and of the great and continued depression of the times, business men do well to make sure of one resource for their families in case of disaster. A life policy in a sound company is a sheet anchor that holds when all others drag, when strong financial cables part, when fortunes disappear in the waves of commercial revulsion, and everything else of value is swept by the board.

It is well known that a silver dime placed before the eye, will hide a dollar, at some distance from it. It is no uncommon thing for men to do this in business life—fix the vision on an immediate gain, to the exclusion of a far greater good, eclipsed by the near advantage. Nor is there any department of human interests in which this fatal economy is more frequently lamented, than in that only one which protects the producing power of the insurable life. "Can't spare the money now" too often hinders and prevents the great good of an insurance policy, when most needed.

It is the duty of every man of moderate means, whose death may deprive a dependent family of a support which his daily efforts provided in life, to see that a substitute for his personal aid shall at least in part be afforded when he is gone, so that the double affliction of death and heavy financial loss shall not come by the same blow.

Faith and Duty.

O'er the ocean of life we've a hard course to steer,
But the motto I'll give you will banish all fear,
And when danger surrounds you, you'll find it the best,
Do your duty at once, and to time leave the rest,

Through foes may assail you, and friends may look cold,
And expediency whisper, don't be overbold
Then the right is the safest, the right will be blest.
Do your duty at once, and to time leave the rest.

It may be that darkness and gloom may surround,
And your pathway to anchor seems hard to be found,
But the magnet to guide you, you'll find in your breast,
Do the duty that's nearest, in time leave the rest.

Wonders of Newspaper Printing.

The New York Herald claimed some time ago that its Sunday edition numbered 150,000 copies. Each number consisted of twenty pages, that is one hundred and twenty columns, of which seventy-eight were advertisements and forty-two reading matter. The Herald says:

A detail which will be perfectly new to non-professionals is, that to produce one hundred and fifty thousand full copies it was necessary to take nine hundred thousand impressions. To accomplish this, in the short time allowed, two rotary Hoe presses of eight and ten cylinders each and two Bullock perfecting presses were kept rolling off one thousand impressions per minute. To drive those huge presses two engines of eighty-horse power are kept in motion by burning six tons of coal in the furnaces. To form the stereotype plates for the cylinders, eight tons of type metal were melted down to cast forty-eight plates, weighing when finished and dressed thirty-eight pounds each. The ink on a single copy would not be taken into consideration by the average observer, but it requires seven hundred and twenty-five pounds to keep the rollers prepared to leave the imprint of their kisses on the eighteen million virgin pages that were to glow at daylight with the news. And those rollers were composed of five hundred pounds of glue mingled with one thousand pounds of honey. Then the virgin pages—the paper on which all this is printed. There are eighty men and boys about the presses handling it. Sheet after sheet is passed by the feeders, until seventeen tons or thirty-four thousand pounds, are printed on both sides. If you were to pile those sheets up one upon the other they would form a monument one hundred and twenty-five feet high.

Farewell to the Potato Bug.

(From the Rocky Mountain News.)

The Colorado potato beetle, or potato bug, as we generally call it, has at last found its match in the shape of a mite parasite. Professor Riley, at a meeting of the St. Louis Academy of Science, exhibited a potato bug which was so completely covered with a mite parasite that the point of a needle could not be placed on any part of the beetle's body without touching one of the parasites. He estimated the number of parasites at 800. The bug had been attacked by these enemies and killed. The potato bug seems to have a number of natural enemies, such as the toad, the crow, the rose-breasted grossbeak and domestic fowls. There are no less than 23 insect enemies that attack and kill it. The bug has also been migrating eastward across the continent for several years, until it has now reached the Atlantic Ocean. We hope it may find a watery grave and let the waves sing its requiem.

WHAT NEXT?

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.—When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child of consumption. He now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweat, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Cradock & Co., 1,033 Race Street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.

CONSUMPTION.—There is no disease so common, and so baffling to Physicians, in the world, as this, yet it nearly always starts from a neglected cold, when you have a cough as you value your life, stop it at once, by using WINGATE'S PULMONIC TROCHES.

CATARRH

Cannot be cured by Snuffs, Washes, or Local applications. Thousands have been cured some of 40 years standing, by using the CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY. Certificates and treatise on Catarrh mailed to any address on application to T. J. B. DARDING, Brockville, Ont. Sold by all Druggists. Price—$1.0 per bottle.

Don't Know What to Do.—We sometimes hear persons say, "my horse is badly out of condition, and I cannot tell either what is the matter with him, or how to get him into better order;" they appear to be ignorant of the fact that there is in within their reach a remedy safe, sure and effectual in all cases. Many persons who deal in horses use large quantities of it, and testify that its effects are most satisfactory. One horse dealer informs us that his horse's condition and appearance are so much improved by its use that they sell more readily and for higher prices "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." Nothing else is equal to it for the same purpose. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Sold by all medicine dealers.
