Discussed Problems of Trout Conservation

Dr. Arthur B. James, president of the Ontario Anglers' Federation spoke before a gathering of angling enthusiasts in the town hall on Friday evening. Dr. James touched on the problem of the disappearing of game fish from the streams and lakes of Ontario and suggested remedies to prevent the total disappearance of these fish, especially of the speckled trout, bass and muskelonge.

During his address Dr. James stated that one of the main causes of the disappearance of trout from the streams was the cutting down of swamps and underbrush along creeks, causing the water in the streams to become warm. Erosion of the banks takes place and, as trout will not live in warm water, they disappear. Other causes of the disappearance of game fish was that of the pollution of streams by refuse being dumped, which kills the food of the fish. The catching of fish under the seven inch legal limit is another of the main causes of the depletion of the fish in streams. It takes about three years for a young fish to reach seven inches in length, the breeding age and if these are taken out prematurely their progeny is lost to the stream Dr. James also stated that a three year old fish will lay approximately 350 eggs the first year and reach the maximum of about 1500 as an adult

It is impossible to legislate the people into keeping the fishing laws, Dr. James stated, as the fisherman is alone on the stream and on his honor not to take small fish from the stream. He stressed the importance of education or the saving of the trout streams; this to be done by reaching the young people in the schools with literature and the writing of essays on fish conservation. Fishing clubs in various centres could also assist in spreading conservation propaganda. He regarded education away ahead of legislation in protecting the streams. If we are to conserve the heritage of trout in the streams we must not fail to keep the small trout therein and urged the fishermen to play the game fairly when nobody is watching.

Dr. James gave several instances of the stocking of lakes and streams, that are now fishermen's paradises. Maline Lake in British Columbia did not have trout six years ago and today it is well stocked with speckled trout and many have been caught up to 4 and 5 pounds in weight. The European brown trout was imported into Australia and the streams there were stocked with these game fish that never had trout in them before.

The object of the visit of Dr. James was to form a club for the anglers of this district and assist in the protection of the speckled trout in local streams. Another meeting is shortly to be held, when it is expected that a strong organization will be formed.

Ring Lost 12 Years Found In Eugenia

Twelve years ago last November Mrs. J. E. Large of Niagara Falls lost her wedding ring at her home in Eugenia. No trace of it was found and it was regarded as lost for all time. A week ago Mr. Walker Sloan, who is residing in the Large home at Eugenia, found a round small band in his garden and on brushing off the earth found it was a gold ring. Mrs. Sloan recalled the loss of Mrs. Large's ring and the initials thereon corresponded with those of the owner. Mrs. Large was delighted with the return of the ring, which has had quite a career as it had been lost for a year before its long sojourn in the ground.

TORONTO MILK PRODUCERS EFFECT NEW ARRANGEMENT

The Toronto Milk Producers' Association has effected an entirely new arrangement between producers and distributors, in the Toronto area. Under the new plan, the distributing company will agree to accept a definite quota of milk from each shipper. The distributor, each month, will notify the producer of his quota for the following month. The producer may, if he desires, ship in milk exceeding his quota for which he will receive a lower price. Producers are to ship to one dairy only, and any surplus milk must go to the same dairy. This, it is believed, will do away with the uncontrolled flow of surplus milk from one dairy to another, with the resultant depressing effect on prices.

Were Married Here

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN DUNCAN CLARKE

Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan-Clarke celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage very quietly on Wednesday of this week at their home, "Ardo," Weston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke were married at the home of the bride's parents, Earnscliffe, Flesherton, on July 5, 1883, the officiating clergyman being Rev. D. C. McDowell. Mrs. Clarke is the eldest daughter of the late J. W. Armstrong, J.P.

Mr. Clarke was at one time Managing Editor of the Hamilton Times and has had an interesting and varied newspaper career. He also held a Government position at Ottawa for some time, and retired to Weston nine years ago.

Owing to Mrs. Clarke's delicate health, there was no formal celebration on Wednesday, but many congratulations were received from relatives and friends in Hamilton, London and Ottawa, in which cities the couple resided prior to coming here as well as many messages from friends in Weston and Toronto.

One son, John H. Clarke, of Winchester, Mass., together with Mrs. Clarke and their daughter, Dorothy, and Miss Dorothy Larned have just returned home via Prescott and the Adirondacks route, after a pleasant two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Clarke at "Ardo."—Times and Guide, Weston.

Crows Ate The Bugs

Crows are generally regarded as destructive pests, but the action of several of them last week makes one believe that there is a little bit of good in the worst of them. Mr. George Johnson of Rock Mills noticed some crows in his potatoe patch and they were very busy picking the potatoe bugs from the plants. This occurrence is about the only event that we have heard that was in favor of the black marauders.

After doing such good work the crows immediately stole some young chickens on the same farm. It seems that any good they might have accomplished was too much for even themselves and they decided to live up to the rascally reputation they have acquired.

ORANGE CHURCH SERVICE IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Flesherton L. O. L. No. 2855 and Carnation Lodge L.O.B.A. attended as a body at the morning service of St. John's United church. Rev. W. J. Scott, the pastor and an Orangeman, preached an excellent sermon, taking as his text Romans 1: 17, "The just shall live by faith," depicting the causes leading up to Martin Luthers' excommunication from the Catholic church and the formation of the Protestant church in Europe. There was a fair turnout of members of both lodges, besides a number of visiting brethren.

OVERDUE SUBSCRIPTIONS

A newspaper has to depend upon its subscribers as well as its advertisers to furnish the necessary financial support to enable its publication. These are difficult times, and extremely so for the average newspaper. Individually subscription accounts are small but in the aggregate they form a considerable volume of money. The Advance would appreciate it if subscribers whose accounts are in arrears will remit promptly. The address label tells the date to which your subscription is paid.

CULL DAIRY COWS IN DENMARK GO TO HAPPY HUNTING GROUND

The slaughtering and burning of cull dairy cows is proceeding rapidly in Denmark. This has been cited as one practical method of reducing over production and lowering production costs of milk. Also, it has been indicated, far too many Canadian dairy cows, having outlived their milk producing usefulness, are shipped to market, instead of being consigned to the soil from whence they came.

People who have building to do or repairs to make should not delay getting started if they are able to do so. Reports from several of the larger centres indicate a stiffening of building costs, cement, lumber brick, shingles, plumbing fixtures and hardwood already having advanced. There is also the other feature of the situation, that work undertaken now will give much needed employment and thus tend to help conditions generally.

Grey County Using New Style of Road

Grey county council decided at its last session to lay a cheap pavement on the two- half-mile stretches on the county line, one north of Hanover to Green's Corner and the other in the village of Elmwood.

The one will be a tar mulch and the other a gravel mulch. The material is applied hot to the graveled roadway and then consolidated by means of the maintainer and roller. A similar strip was laid recently from Chesley south to the first corner. It was a tar mulch.

It is estimated that such a road will cost about $3,000 a mile and will be good for at least five years without attention. If this is the experience, the county officials believe it will pay them to extend such a cheap pavement, as it costs them a good deal of money every year to maintain this road.

By trying out the two grades of material on the same road, with the same gravel and the same mount of traffic, the county feels it will be a fair experiment to see which material makes the best road.

Not A Fish Story

This is a story about an Egg, a real big Egg, in fact the largest perfectly shaped egg that has come into our possession. The hen that laid the egg is an ordinary grade barred rock and the man that owns the hen is Mr. Angus Campbell, up on the eighth line of Nottawasaga. Mr. Campbell was so impressed with the size of this particular egg that he presented it last Saturday to the Editor and casually suggested a big egg competition. Here are the dimensions, 8¼ x 7⅛ inches, weight weight exactly 4 oz. When you stop to realize that a real good extra weighs 1½ oz. you will have a better idea of the size of Mr. Campbell's challenger. Now the competition is open and if any reader has a hen that feels like accepting the challenge, the way is clear. In the meantime the honor remains undisputed with the Campbell hen.
