Fall Fair Troubles

The Fall Fair season is nearly here and the final arrangements are being made for the holding of these annual agricultural affairs. Owing to the cry for economy we note that the government grants have been reduced, and we note, also, that a good many of the fairs are having financial difficulty in getting going. Over Flesherton way a meeting of those interested has been called in an effort to have the annual fair continue, while down at Napanee the fair has been cancelled altogether. There are two very different reasons, however, for these difficulties. The Flesheton fair, and it is no different than many others, South Grey included, is handicapped through lack of funds. The Napanee fair has been cancelled because no satisfactory arrangements could be made to secure a midway and other attractions.

The Flesherton directors have endeavored to run an honest-to-goodness fall fair, where the exhibits of the farmers are the principal attraction The Napanee fair, apparently, has been run, first as a midway and secondly, for the purpose of allowing the farmers to exhibit their produce.

The government could help matters considerably if they would check up on the fairs all over the province and allow government grants only to those that are carrying out the idea of the Department of Agriculture, and ignoring altogether the fairs whose chief aim is to supply a midway. This may not be a popular idea in some cases, but we believe something of this kind will eventually have to be done or the fall fairs will disappear altogether.

A good many years ago the government refused to allow a grant to fairs that featured horse racing a a part of the program on the ground that the Department was interested in agriculture, not horse racing. Why not try the same thing with fall fairs that stress the amusement side of their "show"? If the government balks at being placed in the horse racing business, they can put up just as strong an argument in the case of midways.

The fall fair is distinctly a farmers' fair. Its intention is to give the farmers of the district the opportunity of competing. Until certain of the larger fairs tried to run a Toronto Exhibition on a small scale, it was successful, and we believe it would be successful again providing the smaller fairs were informed that if they wished a continuance of the government grant they would have to conform to the government's regulations regarding fall fairs.

Do the farmers want the fall fair continued? This, in our opinion, is the big question. If the farmers have tired of the fall fair as an institution, there seems nothing to do but call it off; if they want it, then it is worth the government grant received. Perhaps the first thing necessary is a canvass of every fall fair district. This would give us something to work on. — Durham Chronicle.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Parslow, Hopeville, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice Ivy. to Mr. Jack Watson Norman of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Norman of Badjeros, the marriage to take place the latter part of August.

THANKSGIVISG DAY SET FOR OCTOBER 9, IS REPORT

Tranksgiving Day this year will be celebrated on the second Monday in October (the 9th), as was the case last year, it has been learned. Fixing the date of this holiday is an annual duty of the Government and an Order-in-Council was passed recently.

Were Not Satisfied

Recently two ladies of Feversham did not receive any reward for hard labor under a boiling sun when they went picking wild raspberries. While the berries were plentiful and their large water pails were each soon filled with luscious fruit, they were doomed to leave for home empty handed. After filling their large containers they were not altogether satisfied and decided to fill the small pails they carried. This was done and on their return to their cache found a cow contentedly licking her lips, which were stained red, both pails lying empty close by. For a few moments the life of the cow was in danger from the natural ire of the ladies, but they finally decided that it would have been more profitable to have been satisfied when they had enough.

THE CONSISTENT ONES ARE GETTING AHEAD

Booming of securities and commodities has increased most of the business of those brokers and commission merchants who have been consistent advertisers during the depression. These are increasing their advertising in line with the new opportunities and they are doing much better than those competitors who abstained from advertising while business was dull.

Those who have not been advertising in the last few years are coming in again. They find that they have to do so to get the business and that they have to advertise much more than they otherwise would to regain the ground lost as a result of their long silence. Every business depression of the past has underlined this lesson but a lot of business men have to learn it anew each time.—Financial Post.

FLESHERTON WON FROM VANDELEUR

Shades of the old Vandeleur ball club! 25-8 in favor of Flesherton at the U.F.O. picnic on Thursday. Such a defeat to be handed!

The Flesherton batters ran wild and combed four Van pitchers for thirty hits, while they held their opponents scoreless in seven of the nine innings, runs being counted in the second and ninth.

The game was too one-sided to be interesting for the fans to watch, but it was a sweet victory for Flesherton, because if they had lost they would have been eliminated from the play-off series; as it is they have a fair chance to oust Vandeleur from third place.

Mel. Sled of the Flesherton team covered plenty of ground in centre field by making six catches with a perfect average and one assist. This was a great throw to third base to nip a runner, stealing. He also secured four hits in seven trips to the plate. We believe that Mel's work was a record for this league.

Huctwith has come along fast lately and is a sensation in batting. He collected six hits out of seven trips and caught the only fly ball that he had a chance on.

Vandeleur trotted out Harvey White of Markdale for mound work and he was batted hard the first inning for eight runs, two of the hits going for two bases. The other pitchers were Russell Graham, Reg. Hutton and Harold Hutton, but non of tiem were treated kindly.

Harvey White and Norman Genoe batted well for Vandeleur with two hits from four times at bat, while Reg. Hutton hit a two and a three-bagger on five trips. He played a fine game behind the bat.

Howard Graham was caught five feet off first base in the first inning when Phillips placed one over, after two other attempts had failed.

Phillips pitched real good ball and allowed runs to be scored against him in only two innings. With experience Bob is becoming a better pitcher and uses his head to good advantage. His control is also improving, as he only gave three walks, two of them in the first inning, but two runners were caught on bases and with a strike-out retired the side without any runs coming in.

Out of the seven scoreless innings that Vandeleur were forced to accept Phillips had three batters face him in four of them and in the other three, four batters came to the plate. He had six strike-outs to his credit, besides having very fair support in the field.

This Thursday Flesherton travels to Ravenna for the first meeting with the Beaver Valley crew, while Vandeleur plays in Dundalk the same day. On Thursday, August 17th, Ravenna plays the return game in Flesherton. There are still two postponed games to play—Dundalk at Vandeleur and Dundalk at Kimberley.

WILLIAM C. KEEFER DIES AT 70

William C. Keefer, a Flesherton old boy, died at his home in Chicago on Wednesday evening, July 26th. He was in his 70th year and is survived by his wife and two daughters The late Mr. Keefer had been a resident of Chicago for many years, occupying a position of trust with the McCormick Estates. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, interment being made in Elmhurst cemetery. He was an elder of long connection in the Presbyterian church and a member of the Masonic order. His surviving brothers and sisters are: Mrs. D. E. Wright of Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. H. M. VanTassel of New York city; J. G. Keefer of Norwood, Ont.; James T. Keefer of Kansas City, Mo., and Rev. R. Keefer of Burlington, Ont.

AND SO SHE'S GONE

(By Ark)

Aunt Sara's dead, and that's too bad, the folk they wrote the news today, they're fixing up her things and such since they have laid her quiet away.

Aunt Sara used to live back home and she was such a cheerful soul although she never had enough to buy herself a bin of coal.

Her clothes were never very new and styles they never bothered her her garments of this year would be about the same as what they were.

But when the neighbor folk took sick Aunt Sara was the one they'd call, she seemed to know just what to do, the nursing, cooking, washing, all.

When someone died Aunt Sara went, she'd stay till everything was through, and folk they always used to say she knew exactly what to do.

And she was always making things and giving them to those in need, it seemed she thought of nothing else but doing a kindly sort of deed.

I mind Aunt Sara years ago and her as poor as she could be, just how she ever got along was something that has puzzled me.

They say the day they buried her the whole town quit its work to go, and things were simple as could be, Aunt Sara never liked a show.

It won't take long to fix her things, the few belongings that she had, there'll be no fighting for her stuff, the folk will just be feeling bad.

Yes, she was poor as she could be, yet she'd pass on all unafraid. I woudn't mind if I had a record like Aunt Sara made.

The sale of liquor is still falling off in Ontario, and the reason may be that a good many folk have not yet found anything on which to stage a celebration.

Coons - Chickens Mix

Oil and water do not mix, but coons and 3 pound cockerels do. The truth of this verity was proven the other day when three coons, held in captivity by Mr. Wes Armstrong for a fur-bearing enterprise, got loose. One of them, in his nocturnal wanderings, got into the hen house of Mrs. W. Boyd and proceeded to help himself to a little bit of wanton sport. When Mr. Coon finished his revels twenty-four cockerels, weighing about three pounds each, were scattered around the floor in various postures of death. The coon was still there when the slaughter was discovered, surveying his handicraft with apparent pride. Needless to say, Cooney also passed on to the happy hunting grounds along with his feathered victims. Altogether it was a pretty costly saturnalia for the coon, as well as for the owner of the 24 fine Plymouth Rock cockerels.

The central space between trees in orchards utilized for crops should be treated under the cover crop system. Hoed crops like potatoes, strawberries, etc., are to be preferred to crops of grain and grass. Instances have been recorded where tall growing intercrops, such as corn, when planted too close to the trees, have prevented the bark from properly ripening or hardening, with the result that a large number of trees were killed by sun-scald the following winter.

An arm protruding from the side of the car ahead, according to the Montreal Star, can signify any one of the following things: The motorist is (1) Knocking ashes off his cigarette; (2) Going to turn to the left; (3) Warning a small boy to shut up; (4) Going to turn to the right; (5) Pointing to the scenery; (6) Going to back up; (7) Feeling for rain; (8) Telling his wife he is sure the front door is locked; (9) Going to stop.

ENJOY THE LIFE OF A CHEVROLET OWNER

OPEN UP the road map. Pick out some fascinating spot. Then point the nose of your Chevrolet towards it—and take off!

What does it matter if you must budget on trips? Half the thrill of owning a Chevrolet is the way you can pass by the gas pumps—the oil stations—and the garages. Weather hot? That doesn't matter either—for Chevrolet has Fisher No-Draft Ventilation. Just turn on the breeze, whenever you like, and keep delightfully cool and refreshed. Roads bad? Who cares—when you're settled back in this long, full-weight, smooth-engined Six. A long way to go? Chevrolet gives you power galore—pick-up aplenty — and the secure feeling that Chevrolet dependability rides with you as you go.

Most of this year's car buyers are leading the lives of Chevrolet owners—motoring smartly and economically in Canada's Great Sales Leader! Low prices and easy GMAC terms.
