TURTLE TURNS UP AFTER TEN YEARS

Ten years ago when the Credit waters were low at Cheltenham a huge turtle with a shell big enough to sport a passenger across the river was taken from the river and given a royal welcome by the citizenship On its hardened shell a few of the boys painstakingly carved their initials and then released it. The other day with the mill running Credit waters appreciably decreased in depth and lo and behold the Cheltenham turtle was again located by the boys, the same turtle with the tell-tale initials. More initials were carved on its shelly surface and it was again released. In another decade the centenarian may again visit the village for apparently it is quite content to pass its remaining years in the waters of the Credit at Cheltenham.—Erin Advocate.

Elevators in the Chrysler building in New York went out of commission for 45 minutes and people could neither go up nor down. Well they were better off than the folk who were dabbling in stocks on Wall street; they were at east holding their own.

Glenelg Farmer Had Heavy Loss By Fire

Mr. James Lawrence, of Glenelg, about three miles north of town on the Provincial Highway, had a serious loss by fire about 7.45 o'clock last Saturday morning when his barn containing about 75 loads of hay and whatever other harvest had been garnered, together with some ten or twelve pigs and 50 chickens was destroyed by fire. The whole building was consumed in slightly over half an hour, but how the fire started is a complete mystery, the only plausible solution being that it was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Mr. Lawrence was away at the time, having left the previous Monday to visit his son, Allister, at Tilbury. The farm was in charge of Mrs. Lawrence and two daughters, Misses Corine and Glenna. The latter had gone to the fields earlier in the morning for the cows, which had been driven into the stable to be milked. When returning to the house Miss Glenna heard an explosion and immediately afterward great volumes of smoke commenced rolling from the building. Almost immediately the building was a mass of flames and nothing could be done to save the structure. One of the truck drivers on the highway construction gang who was passing at the time, stopped his truck long enough to rush into the building and release the cows and was considerably burned in doing so.—Durham Chronicle.

Dance At Maxwell

Friday night last was a red-letter night at Maxwell, when the Orangemen put on a street dance, which was a huge success in every respect. The local orangemen worked prodigiously to make it the success it was. A drawing for a radio was an interesting part of the proceedings. The tickets were placed in a receptacle and a small girl blindfolded was chosen to draw out one. The ticket drawn bore the name of Mr. Frank Seeley. The lodge will have about $250 to the good when all expenses are paid, which will be used to place a new roof on the hall. Mr. Seeley, the proud winner of the radio, was the posessor of forty tickets. There were sixteen hundred tickets sold.

Potato Growers Advised Not To Sell Too Cheaply

Growers would be well advised to refuse to accept less than $1.60 to $1.75 per bag at the farm for good-quality potatoes, says C. W. Bauer, Secretary of the Ontario Growers' Markets Council. Many growers who are familiar with crop and market conditions are refusing to accept less than $2 per bag, realizing that with the short crop this price will be easily obtained before the late crop is ready to be harvested.

Even with the increase in prices, the net returns per acre of potatoes will be considerably below that of a year ago.

From information obtainable from other potato-producing districts in the Dominion the 1933 crop will be considerably below that of the last several years, while reports from the United States indicate a drop of over 60,000,000 bushels from last year.

The unscrupulous trucker travels miles daily from grower to grower bearing down on the price, and usually is successful in finding some grower who is not up to date with market conditions and possibly strikes a bargain away below market values. He then is in a position to undersell his competitors, resulting in a general market weakening not at all in keeping with the law of supply and demand. Naturally the grower is the one who suffers.

Recent estimates received from reliable sources place the early potato crop at no more than 50 per cent. of a normal crop.

Prices to the trade on the wholesale market recently were $1.75 to $2.25 per bag, according to grade and quality, while other sources were quoting $1.35 to $1.60 for the same quality, delivered to Toronto.
