THESE HANDS ARE CLEAN.

The Brockville Recorder is the next to come to the front with a contribution to our "Canadian Poetry." Having submitted a few queries to Sir John, to be answered on the 22nd inst., the following has been forwarded in advance:

Who dares assert that I am vile,
Or treat me with a sarcastic smile,
Or say I ever acted mean?
My answer is—These hands are clean.

'Tis true, Sir Hugh gave cash galore,
'Tis true, I asked ten thousand more,
'Twas not for self, but for a freen;
Therefore I vow—These hands are clean.

The Secret Service too they say,
Was spent to pay the parties way,
The charge is—flat, is stale, is mean
I hurl it back—These hands are clean.

One thousand down I paid to Reil,
But not one thousand Rails of Steel,
Mackenzie may smoke that I ween,
While I assert—These hands are clean.

At Washington, I boldly swear,
Nay friends, you need not gape and stare,
'Twas England played you false and mean
I vow to Heaven—These hands are clean.

Go ask M.C—go ask the Mail,
Ask Wandering Will, joints of my tail,
Each one will swear, I need no screen,
To hide these hands—so pure and clean.

Tupper and Plumb too, will aver,
Though like their father they may err,
That among all patriots dull or keen,
I purest stand—These hands are clean.

When time calls in my cheeks and I,
Cold in old mother earth to lie,
No dastard Grit will e'er be seen,
With life so pure, or hands so clean,

And now, my friend, you know the truth,
How I have loved you from my youth,
Oh, do not let it e'er be told
You threw me off—now I am old.

The Grits are base—a sordid crew,
False to old England and to you,
Put me in power—when this is done,
I'll give you office every one.

The Results of Experience.

The Americans have tried protection. The time was when honest and able men in that country turned a deaf ear to the teaching of a sound trade philosophy and listened to the promptings of a short-sighted self-interest. These men really believe that they could, by fostering and cuddling, train up the struggling industries in the way they ought to grow. This they did at a tremendous expense to the nation and the result is that the protected industries have to struggle harder for dear life to-day than they did before they were protected. The venerable William Cullen Bryant, one of the most gifted of American citizens now living, has watched the growth of the protected industries from the beginning with an observant and an intelligent eye. He knows whereof he speaks when he says:—

"And what years, my friends were these? Years of languishing enterprise, years of despairing industry, years of strikes, years of contention between the employers and the employed, years which showed the spectacle of laborers by hundreds looking in vain for occupation, and hunger-pinched families shivering in their unwarmed garrets. All this while the protective system, as it is called, has been in full force. Everything protected—that is to say, everything imported into the country is taxed as it never was taxed before. If the protective system be the ground of commercial prosperity the country should now be prosperous beyond all its previous experience; our mills, now silent, should be in their fullest activity; our laborers should be in constant employment; not a willing arm should be idle, not a spindle should cease to hum. Is it not time for a re-action! Are we to go on in this manner indefinitely? We have tried the protective system as fully as is possible, we have tasted its fruits, and they are bitter. Let us now have a season of free exchange. I have no doubt for my own part that a liberal system of revenue laws especially combined with a return to specie payments, would make an instantaneous and most fortunate change in the condition of the country. Yes, my friends, the time for re-action has arrived, and we are determined it shall have a fair field. Free trade has slept while its enemies have been performing their unhappy experiments upon the public welfare and now we look to see it rise invigorated by its long slumber. Let me say here that I am in favor of protection, but protection of a kind very different from that which for many years past has dealt so cruelly with the interests of the country. I am for protecting this class in its natural and proper right to exchange what it produces in whatever market it can exchange them to most advantage. I am for rescuing it from the hands into which it has fallen, and which plunder it with as little remorse as the rovers of the Barbary States in the early part of this century pillaged the merchant ships that entered into their seas."

CLERGY RESERVES.—Mr. McDougall has been setting Sir John Macdonald right in the matter of the Clergy Reserves. Sir John is in the habit of boasting that to the Conservative party—which is Sir John—is all the honour due for the settlement of this vexed question. But Mr. McDougall reminds Sir John that it was the Reformers who first brought this question before the country, and carried on the agitation which prepared the way for legislative action. The rebuke, however, does not seem to have had any effect, as Sir John repeated his boast anew at Newmarket, and said he wanted no better inscription on his tombstone than that he introduced the Bill for the secularization of the Clergy Reserves. Sir John cannot be said to be painfully modest in taking credit to himself.—Telegram.

PETITT'S EYE-SALVE.

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic). Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands, Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any Cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe and effectual remedy ever discovered; the materials of which it is made are pure, perfect and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye washes. Ringworm and Old Chronic Sores, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of DR. J. PETITT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE, while making new and improved machinery for making a perfect box for the Eye Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the wrapper, circulars, advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.
