DEATH FROM MONOXIDE GAS

(Clinton News-Record)

The death of a London dentist and his daughter from monoxide gas in their own garage on Sunday afternoon is another reminder of the terribly deadly nature of these fumes. So many tragedies have been the result of carelessness or thoughtlessness in regard to this danger that is a wonder people are not on their guard. Everyone should know that it is unsafe to start an engine in a closed building, or even to work around the exhaust pipe of a motor when the engine is running. Apparently the fumes work painlessly and very swiftly.

HAVE RIGHT TO FISH

(Toronto Daily Star)

The big blue heron is the only picturesque bird we have in Ontario. The little blue heron probably comes next. The occasional eagle that is seen, whether the bald-headed or the more rarely seen golden eagle, is a bird anyone should admire and, for its rarity. It is true that the blue heron eats trout. But he ate trout before the white man came to this country. It never enters the mind of the blue heron that he should not eat trout—he knows of no other reason why trout exist. But he eats other fish. The largest nesting places of these birds that we know of are inland from the Georgian Bay, where speckled trout are unknown. On a trout stream that we know we resent the presence of kingfishers, but we have reason to believe that the kingfishers quite as strongly resent the presence of anglers. And they caught trout there before Columbus discovered America.

NOT POLITICAL FORCE

(Alliston Herald)

When in 1921 the Progressive party sent some sixty members to parliament the event was preceded by a memorable and spectacular bye-election victory in Medicine Hat. Last week the C.C.F., believed by some to be stronger than the Progressives were in 1921, failed to elect a candidate in Mackenzie, a riding in the heart of the Western radical belt, and which has been in the Progressive column since 1917. This scarcely points to the C.C.F. as a political force. It may be argued, of course, that the party's nominee, ex-Judge L. St. George Stubbs, was a feeble, unconvincing candidate. On the other hand, people sufficiently thoughtless to be misled by the C.C.F. platform are not likely to be discriminating about the calibre of a candidate, and the most reasonable conclusion from the Mackenzie vote is that it was the C.C.F. platform that was rejected, not the candidate. It is one thing from which most Canadians ought to be able to derive satisfaction, this whether they are Liberal or Conservative.

BRITISH MARKETS OVERLOADED WITH CANADIAN APPLES

Writing from the Ontario Government Office in London, Andrew Fulton reports that excessive shipments of Canadian cooking apples to the British markets are seriously depressing prices for all kinds of apples, including English. In many cases prices slumped from 10s to 15s a barrel within two weeks.

Mr. Fulton considers that it is a mistake for Ontario shippers to export their apples immediately they are packed, without considering the large crops in Nova Scotia Gravensteins Blenheims, Ribstons, and other fall varieties that are coming forward to all British ports in unprecedented quantities at this time of the year, are setting the price for this class of fruit. This situation is also havig a depressing effect upon the English grown apples and English growers are beginning to cry out for some thing further to be done to protect their interest. This time it is not the foreign fruit that is causing the trouble, but apples from Canada and a severe overlappng of New Zealand boxes. Present indications are that Ontario apple shippers who have put their apples into cold storage will find markets more satisfactory after Christmas.

SHEEP KILLING A HEAVY DRAIN

(Municipal World)

The bills that rural municipalities pay in the form of compensation for sheep killed or injured by dogs form a heavy annual levy upon their resources. Dogs running at large in one of the townships of Western Ontario did damage to sheep last month which required payment of not less than $143 by the municipal council in compensation, and there are many other townships which must find a comparatively large sum of money annually to meet this charge. It has been estimated, remarks the Brockville Recorder, that throughout the Province as a whole more money is paid out each year in covering the claims of farmers whose sheep have been attacked by dogs than is received from the sale of dog licenses. What is to be done about it? Frankly we do not know. But we do know that if damage to sheep continues at its present level the municipalities will be required to institute more rigorous supervision over dogs and demand that every dog known to be in existence shall bear a license tag.

Service In Gaelic Is Held In Priceville

An impressive Gaelic service conducted by Rev. Norman MacDonald in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church brought members and former members from some distance to unite with the regular congregation in the morning worship. Not for over twenty years has a Gaelic church service been held in Grey County and so Sunday marked a new epoch and brought joy to the hearts of many of the older residents.

Only the older members knew how to chant the psalms, the younger generation had heard of the old custom only, and John A. MacDonald the precentor, who served the congregation in former years when a Gaelic service was held once each month, had passed away a few years ago. Sunday's large congregation was led in the chanting of the psalms by Peter MacDonald, a well-known precentor, who came up from Toronto for the occasion. The service, which was so welcome to the community, was arranged by the new minister, who came to Priceville recently from Cape Breton, but who is a native of Skye.

ASK ABOUT THE NEW OILS

A man in hip boots may easily ford a stream, but imagine the same man trying to wade through cold molasses or road-tar. Yet a motorist with heavy oil in the crankcase of his engine is asking the pistons and bearings to do this very thing. He is also imposing an almost impossible task on his muscle-bound and rheumatic storage battery. Car owners have long suspected that something might be done along the line of lighter oils for winter use, and have wondered why the engineers did not get a move on in this direction. There is, therefore, the keenest interest in the announcement that two new oils designated as 20-W and 10-W, are being recommended by automotive manufacturers in their instruction books for the year 1934, and that refineries are planning to supply these oils for trial and use during the winter. The two new light oils are recommended for use in territories where the minimum temperature at which the engine is to be started will be as low as 15 degrees below zero. It is claimed the new oils will greatly reduce engine wear; will lubricate the engine satisfactorily under all driving conditions; and will lessen starting difficulties. Under prolonged high speed driving, however, the oil comsumption will be higher than with the heavier oils used during the summer months.

TRUTHFUL WRITE-UP OF A WEDDING

The groom is a popular young bum who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keep a supply of spending money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who taxes up his bad cheques instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

The bride is a skinny, fast little idiot who has been kissed and handled by every boy in town since she was 14 years of age. She paints like a Sioux Indian, sucks cigarettes in secret, and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joy-riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

The groom wore a rented dinner suit over athletic underwear of imitation silk. His pants were held up by pale green suspenders. His number eight patent leather shoes matched his state in tightness and harmonized nicely with the axle-grease polish on his hair. In addition to his jag he carried a pocketknife, a bunch of keys, a dunner for the ring and his usual look of imbecility.

The bride wore some kind of white thing that left most of her legs sticking out at one end and her bony upper end sticking out at the other. The young people will make their home with the bride's parents, which means that they will sponge on the old folks. —Exchange.
