THE GROWING CHILD

The health of its growing children is the most important question which faces Canadaor any other country. There are other important questions concerning which the front pages of newspapers daily remind us, but the future of this country io more dependent upon the mental and psysical oealth of the next generation than it is upon anything else.

Other values may change. The dollar may rise or fall, and its purchasing power vary from time to time. Social conditions, in general and conditions of employment, in particular, will be different. No matter how things change, and regardless of how we, individually, may view such changes, the boy and girl with a healthy mind and body will be better equipped to meet the years which lie before them.

The parents who succeed in bringing their child to adult life with a well-developed, robust body and mind have given him the greatest gift which it is within their power to offer. Other things may appear to be equally desirable, but none of them will mean as much to the child, because with a healthy mind and body, he can secure the happiness which comes with the ability to live a useful life, and will overcome the difficulties which must be faced and dealt with satisfactorily.

Most parents do give a great deal of care to their children during the first year or two of life. The baby is so dependent, that the need of care is obvious. Many mothers keep their babies under the supervision of a doctor so that they may have advice on how to keep the babies well. After the baby stage is passed, when the child is able to get around on his legs and have his meals with the rest of the family, most parents believe that the child can now take care of himself, and that as long as he does not complain, there is no cause for worry.

Certainly, independence in the child should be encouraged.. The oversolicitous, fussy parent does the child more harm than does the apparently neglectful one. What the child needs is guidance and supervision. Because childhood is the period of growth, the child requires food that contains good building materials. Sufficient sleep is one of the best means for maintaining health. The child should play out of doors; he should use his muscles and learn to play with other children. An occasional health examination is also desirable. The child may appear to be healthy, and yet some condition may be present which needs attention.

Children need care throughout their whole period of growth.

WELL-FINISHED BEEF CATTLE WILL NEVER STAGNATE MARKET

"Market stagnation, in my estimation," said Garnet H. Duncan, livestock investigator, Ontario Marketing Board, "will never be caused by well-finished cattle.

"In a survey of the left-overs, I have found that the good type well-finished stocker, weighing about 900 pounds, has been allowed to follow the finished animal to the abbatoir, when it should have been returned to the feed lot. Too many in-betweens are being taken back to the farm. These are often in rough condition, ill-bred and, in many cases, ill-fed. Many of them should never have lived beyond the veal stage.

"With the good abbatoir, and the in-betweens being returned to the farm, it would seem that it is merely a question of time before all sales promotion efforts, of the past twenty years, will be in vain. Statistics show we are feeding about 40 per cent less cattle this year than last, with supplies cleaning up and prospects of better prices. It would seem that farmers, having feed to do so, should feed up all good stockers."

Regarding the report of numerous cars with only one headlight burning being observed on the highways, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, states that every effort is being made to drive them off the roads. "The police," said Mr. Macaulay, "are under orders to prosecute in such cases."

Open Deer Season For Four Days

An open season for deer hunting has been declared by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries for the last four days of this week, November 15 to 18, both days inclusive.

The Department states that the counties of Grey, Simcoe and Dufferin are the only southern Ontario counties to enjoy this privilege. Regulations are the same as for those hunting in the north, which provides that only one deer can be secured on one permit issued to each hunter, the permit to cost $4.00. We understand that a gun permit is also required Dogs are not allowed to pursue the deer. This news was received with enthusiasm by hunters in this district who did not make the trip to the north. It is expected that a large contingent of sports from town and district will be out after the deer which are fairly plentiful. Two were seen on Tuesday afternoon close to town.

ORIGIN OF "CHICAGO"

From an Iowa college professor who sent us a newspaper clipping telling of a cat which mothered several orphaned skunks, we received the following account of the origin of the word, Chicago. We trust it will not offend our readers in the Illinois metropolis:

While we are speaking of skunks, it might be interesting to remind your readers that the city this year hostess to multitudes flocking to see its Century of Progress Exhibition takes its name from the Indian Skicagua, which we learn on the dependable authority of Harvey Ingham, emeritus editor of the "Des Moines Register" and an earnest student of Indian lore, is the Indian name for skunk. It survives in the present name of the Skunk River, a sizable tributary of the Mississippi flowing through east of this country was called the Skicagua River. Mr. Ingham says, "As it is, the Chicagoans now rather dodge the Iowa interpretation of their name intimating that it was the garlic word or wild onion that gave Chicago its name. The nearest the real Chicagoan comes to the Iowa interpretation is to admit that "in general the word was interpreted as applying to a bad smell."—Our Dumb Animals.

During the past week snow has fallen every day and at present there is a heavy coat of white on the ground. Sleighs and cutters have been out in force, although the motor traffic was not hindered. Sunday night a thaw arrived, but a heavy fall of snow was recorded Monday night.

A concert is being given in the high school this Friday evening by the Literary Society. Two plays will be presented by the students and the student orchestra will supply music during the evening. Admission 25 cents.

The Shamrock Concert Co. is giving shows in the town hall every night this week. Their show is of excellent quality, clean jokes and pleasing acting in the various numbers. This troupe is giving a higher type of concerts than is usual among this class of road shows.

Mr. Guy Hazard, a farmer near Feversham and formerly of Ceylon, has been missing from his home for the past week. He left home intending to walk to Flesherton on Wednesday of last week to consult a physician, but did not return home. It is reported that he was seen in town that day, but since then no trace of him has been seen.

Mrs. E. C. Murray, President of Grey Presbyterial, spoke in Trinity church, Meaford in the interest of the W.M.S.; the people were delighted with her address, it was clear in diction and argument, and when Mrs. Murray next speaks in Trinity it will be to a full house. Dr. Retta Gifford of Chentu, China, spoke in the evening and the church was filled to capacity with a most enthusiastic congregation.

Live Stock Report

Active cattle trading on the Toronto Live Stock Market yesterday reduced Monday's holdover of 2,200 head to 1,000. Prices were firm at Monday's high levels. Hogs again showed an advance, gaining 10 cents to increase its gain to 25 cents since this week's opening. Calves, sheep and lambs continued steady and unchanged.

Medium to good weighty steers ranged from $3.50 to $4, with common at $2.50. Butcher cattle sold from $2 to $4, and one lot went at a top of $4.60. Good butcher cows were strong at $2.25 to $2.50, with some at $2.75. Bull trade was slow at $1.25 for bolognas and at $2.25 for butchers. Choice feed calves sold unchanged at $6.50 to $7. Stockers ranged from $1.50 to $3. A few choice lots made $3.25. Western calves sold from $3 to $4.

The calf market closed steady at $3.50 to $7 for veal calves. Grassers brought $2 to $2.50.

Hogs, continuing a rise begun some weeks ago, rose 10 cents to $5.65 for f.o.b. hogs to $6 for off truck and to $6.25 for off cars.

Lambs closed steady at $6 for good ewes and wethers. Choice calves brought $6.25. Culls and heavies ranged from $4 to $5. Sheep were also steady at $1 to $2.50 cwt.

Getting into a mess is like falling down stairs. The folk that it happens to rarely know how the trick was done.

Eskimo women do nearly all the work, and even warm each article of clothing before handing it to the man to be put on. Now them's women what is women.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Cheer up, spring is coming!

Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Bryce and son and Mrs. Jos. Blackburn motored to Sarnia for the week end.

Tuesday night the weather turned real cold and the thermometer registered two degrees below zero on Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips of Port Dover visited a couple of days in town last week with the latter's grandmother, Mrs. McKee.

The choir of the United church met for practice last Thursday at the home of Mr. John Stewart, West Back Line. After the business of the evening was over a social time was spent and lunch was served by the hostess.

The tea given by Group 1 of St. John's W.M.S. last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. G. Mitchell was very much enjoyed by all who attended. There was plain needle work in the shape of quilt pieces for those who did not care to engage in contests; these blocks will be made into a quilt and go in the bale next spring.
