AN OLD STORY THAT IS WORTH REPEATING

Last winter after church on Sunday evening, a well-known Reverend gentleman from out of town and three or four other fellows dropped in to see me. We had a dandy fire blazing in the fireplace. He was backed up against the fire getting warmed. We talked about the hundred and one things which a few men, gathered in a social way, will discuss. Outside, it was a rough night. Standing back to the fire, facing the few of us, he said: "Boys, I have a riddle to ask you. What are the three coldest things in the world?" No one ventured an answer and we all pleaded we would "give up." "Well" he said, "you know they sprang a leak in Noah's Ark. On investigation they found a little hole down in the hold, through which the water was leaking. They brought down a wise collie dog and induced him to plug up the hole by sticking his nose in it. Ever since you'll notice that all dogs have cold noses. Next Noah asked his wife if she would for a time hold her foot over the hole. She did and now ever since every woman is bothered with cold feet. And finally when Mrs. Noah got tired of the job, Noah sat himself down on the leak to stop up the impouring water. And ever since you'll notice all men when they get near a fireplace or a stove they always stand with their backs to it."—E. A. D. in the Canadian Echo, Wiarton.

A TWO-STORY FARM

In the last 20 years, Baldassare Forestierre, who has a ten-acre farm near Fresno, Calif., has put in his spare time excavating a maze of caverns under his farm, having more than 14,000 feet of floor space. There are 63 rooms averaging eight feet high and with 15 square feet of floor space to each room. A driveway 15 feet wide and 660 feet long through which trucks or cars can be driven passes through this subterranean farm. The various rooms are connected by a corridor three feet wide, six feet high and two miles long. Forestierre figures he moved 14,000 tons of earth to create this underground farm. On his surface farm Forestierre raises grapes and grapefruit, and his main crops on his underground farm are mushrooms and asparagus.

It seems as though this year the usual unusual weather has been more unusual than usual.

Live Stock Report

A heavy accumulation of week-end supplies sent weighty steers and butcher cattle down 25 to 40 cents per cwt. in late trading on the live stock market Tuesday. Veal calves were unchanged, while sheep and lambs were slow and steady. Receipts included 4,100 cattle, 360 calves and 870 sheep and lambs.

It was reported by a local live stock authority that four head of cattle, averaging 1,080 pounds each and owned by James Herriott of West Luper, Ont., brought $6.25 per cwt yesterday. It was the highest price paid for butchers in the past year and a half. It was stated that supplies of live stock throughout the country were not heavy and farmers are advised to moderate deliveries, which would tend to stimulate prices. "The farmers are too anxious to unload poor unfinished stock, thus glutting the market and forcing values lower," he said.

Weighty steers sold at $5.40 to $5.75 for choice, with the majority from $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt. Butchers sold mostly at $4.00 to $4.75, with the best $4.85. Cows and bulls were steady at tops of $3 to $3.25. Choice fed calves ranged from $6.50 to $7.25

Choice veal calves closed steady at $7.50 to $8.00. The bulk of the supply sold at $6 to $7.50 per cwt.

Good ewes and weather lambs were firm at $7.50, with culls downward to $5. Heavy sheep brought $2.50, with culls $1. per cwt. No choice sheep were offered.

Hog prices gained 10 cents per cwt on the market. Bacons closed at $6.60 f.o.b., $6.85 off trucks and $7.10 weighed off cars. Receipts over the extended week-end were fairly light, totalling 1,130 head. Trading was unsettled during the greater part of the day, with packers' bids on a basis of $6.50 f.o.b.

Plant Soybeans In Rows

During the past season which was notable for lack of rainfall, growers of soybeans will have noticed the value of cultivation to this crop. The practice at Harrow has been to cultivate soybeans similar to corn and a clean crop of good quality soybeans has always resulted. When soybeans are planted in rows 28 to 30 inches apart, this beneficial cultivating may be done. This distance of planting would also be an advantage over the solid drilling of the beans, in that the plants are allowed more space in which to develop and produce abundant beans of good size.

Mrs. F. H. W. Hickling returned home on Saturday, after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Clark, at Weston. Mrs. Clark was seriously ill during the Christmas holiday, but is now considerably improved.

Collingwood Vote May Be Protested

Upsetting of the municipal election which took place at Collingwood on Monday seemed almost certain Tuesday when evidence was brought forward by Gordon J. Kohl, candidate for council who was defeated by two votes, which he said suggested that there had been carelessness in the handling of the ballot boxes.

Late Monday night when the results of the count had been made public Mr. Kohl asked to see the ballot boxes. They had been placed in the vault, but upon his insistence were taken out again and examined in the presence of witnesses. When it was found that very few of the seals were intact, Mr. Kohl appointed Robert Noble to act as his agent, and the boxes were re-sealed by both the returning officer, W. H. Whipps, and Mr. Noble. During the examination, notes of the condition of seals had been taken, and these notes were signed by the returning officer.

A letter is now on its way from Henry Foreman, defeated candidate for reeve and president of the local Conservative Association, to the Attorney-General of Ontario, Hon. W. H. Price, asking for an investigation. —Mail and Empire.

CAR AND HORSES COLLIDE

An accident occurred just north of town the other evening in which a car collided with a team of horses hitched to a cutter. It seems Andrew Manto of Brant township, going north, was just about at the railroad tracks at the hydro sub-station when a car owned by Jack Booth of town and also occupied by Andrew Schiefele apparently skidded on the icy roadway and crashed into the side of the outfit. The cutter was shoved into the ditch, and Mr. and Mrs. Becker and two children who were in it were not injured, though receiving a bad scare. The horses suffered various bruises on the legs. The car was considerably damaged, with the right fender and headlight smashed, radiator bent, windshield broken, and the top of the touring car was torn. Booth, who was driving was not much injured, but Schiefele sustained several bad cuts on the arms and face.—Hanover Post.

GOLDSMITH GETS INTO HALL OF FAME

The year-end review of athletic stars in Canada in 1933 gives this district "one of those present" in the person of Hector "Lefty" Goldsmith, ace pitcher of the Southampton Fishermen. Lefty's no-hit no-run performance against Hagersville in the Ontario intermediate playdowns was considered sufficiently meritorious to earn him brackets in the hall of fame. It is no small honor, and we agree that Goldy is certainly an outstanding performer in baseball circles. He was, however, the only baseball pitcher named in the select circle, but of course he is not the best pitcher in Ontario, though his no-hit no-run performance set him apart from his fellows.

"Never mind— we'll soon fix that"

Mrs. Hendry was in great distress. She had broken her spectacles and the prescription was at the optician's in the city.

"That means I can't go to the social tomorrow night," she said. "Whatever will I do?"

"Don't worry," Tom Hendry consoled her. "I'll just 'phone the optician right now and he can have a new pair here in tomorrow's mail."
