Local and Personal

Mr. Jack Cairns spent a few days the first of the week in Toronto.

Mr. Ted McDonald of Pickering is visiting his mother this week.

Remember the World Day of prayer on Friday in the United church at 3 p.m.

The W.M.S. will be held tomorrow, Thursday, at 3 p.m. in St. John's church, Mrs. Mitchell's group leading.

The Tennis Club held a Progressive Euchre party on Tuesday evening. Miss Beatrice Bewell and Mr. H. A. McCauley were prize winners.

Rev. Mr. Wakefield of Holland Centre occupied the pulpit of the United church last Sabbath during the absence of Rev. W. J. Scott, who was out of town.

Messrs. G. B. Welton and J. O. Dargavel took two rinks to the Owen Sound invitation bonspiel on Wednesday last, but failed to make any headway. In one of the games an entire end had to be played in double's winner.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyden McDonald moved their household effects on Monday to the residence on Peter street, which they purchased from G. E. McTavish. Mr. Cecil McTavish, who was occupying the house, has moved to the newly constructed apartment in his father's residence.

THIRTEEN REEVES IN 80 REARS

Co-incident with the announcement that the Grey County Council was 80 years old on Tuesday, January 23, is the fact that the township council of Euphrasia was also organized 80 years ago, and has functioned continuously since that time. Attention has been called to the record of Euphrasia with respect to its reeve, as during the entire eighty years the township has had but thirteen reeves, which is believed to be a record for any township in Ontario. In one or two instances the reeves were returned for a second period, but there are just thirteen names in the list.

February is wee but mighty.

W. J. Cargo Passes

Mr. William John Cargo, a respected resident of Markdale, passed away at his home there on Sunday. For some time Mr. Cargo had not been feeling very strong, but was not confined to his bed until Tuesday of last week. General debility and heart weakness were the combined causes of his death.

The deceased was born and brought up on the east back line some five miles from the village, where he continued to live until coming to the village about 15 years ago. He was the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cargo and was the last one of their family of two sons and two daughters. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, who previous to her marriage was Miss Charlotte Bowler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bowler of this locality; also two sons, James and William of Markdale and two daughters, Mrs. Hamilton of Sarnia, and Mrs. W. Erskine of Meaford.

The funeral took place on Tuesday service being conducted at the home at 2.30.

Plow Reached Maxwell

On Friday a determined effort was made by a Provincial plow to open the Collingwood Gravel Road for motor traffic from Flesherton to Singhampton. The road was opened as far as the farm of Mr. Geo. Ross, east of Maxwell, but it was then decided by the County Road committee to cease work and wait for nature to take its course in the spring. Many heavy drifts were experienced between here and Maxwell and the cost of keeping it open would be greater than any benefit derived, so the project was dropped.

Time is a great healer, but it will never be accused of being a beauty specialist.

Fashion experts are finding it more difficult than ever to devise hints that will make women more beautiful.

People Love Adventure

The Toronto Daily Star has been publishing each day three to four pages of pictures depicting the horrors of war, with the idea that it will arouse the people to a realization of the futility of war. E. A. Warner, editor of the Burks Falls Arrow and a former member of the C. E. F. has the following to say of the above aim of the Star in the recent issue of The Arrow, and his view is held by many other returned soldiers:

"Whether anything will be achieved along that line is very questionable. Isn't it of Garabaldi that the story is told that in one of his campaigns he lined his troops up before him and pointing to the rear he told them that there lay home, friends, comfort, safety, plenty, ease and life; then pointing ahead he said that in that direction lay danger, hardship, deprivation and death and that every man was free to take his choice. The story records that every last man in that army accepted the path of danger and death. We have not the least assurance that the men of this present time, or of a decade in the future, would not make the same choice if it were put to them. The writer spent forty-two months under arms, more than two years of it in France and Belgium and was in three major engagements as well as numerous raids, has a perfect record for conduct and his book marked as "distinguished" as a Lewis gunner so that we can lay claim to having seen some of the horrors of war and yet as we looked at those pictures, quite a number of the scenes of which we recognized, the sensation that we felt was not that of repugnance or horror but rather a desire to feel again the thrill of crawling across no-man's land at night to set our gun on an enemy parapet. Sometimes as we get almost heartsick with the monotony of the daily grind we could almost wish to hear the roar of a German Gotha coming with its load of bombs or to see a Very light go up at night or a bunch of star shells break over the quietness of a Canadian evening. We will be accuseu of being heartless and blood-thirsty but the point we wish to emphasise is that if such feelings can be aroused in one who is hovering around the half-century mark what is likely to be the attitude of the youngster whose blood is coursing through his veins much more rapidly and who is all on fire in his search for adventure and activity. The battle spirit is imbred in most of us and it will take more than the recitation or picturization of the horrors of war to eradicate the readiness for a fight from the hearts of Canada's husky sons."

BETTS—WEBER

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Flesherton, on Saturday, February 10, when Almeda Winnifred, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Weber of Kimberley, was united in marriage to Kenneth Goldwyn, youngest son of Mr. Levi Betts and the late Mrs. Betts of Flesherton. Rev. Wolstencroft performed the ceremony. The bride wore a dress of blue crepe with grey accessories.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, only the immediate families being present.

MARSHALL — McKECHNIE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Presbyterian manse, Brantford, on he 19th of January, when Rev. Mr. McCulloch joined in marriage Miss Beryl McEachnie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McEachnie, and Mr. David Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall, both of Durham. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall have taken up their residence in Durham.

YOUNG—SEWELL

The marriage took place quietly at the Baptist parsonage on Wednesday February 7th., of Alice Isobella, youngest daughter of Mr. J. P. Sewell of Rock Mills to Mr. Louis Cecil Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Young of Maxwell, with Rev. J. R. Wolstencroft officiating.

ENORMOUS CALF IS BORN AT PALMERSTON

When H. Wells of Palmerston, made his morning trip to the barn to do the usual chores a remarkable addition to his cattle family was revealed. On making his rounds to the cattle section of the barn he found that one of his Holstein cows had given birth to a 132-pound calf. It is believed to establish a record for weight.

A law may be passed in Saskatchewan to give officials power to order a reduction in the acreage planted to wheat. A committee will be appointed to discuss the matter with the grasshoppers.

Interesting History

A subscriber writing from Toronto in reference to the above says, "I was reminded of a still older book left by my father, a S. S. record dating from 1855 until 1870 when Frederick Armstrong was Superintendent of the Proton S. S. held in "Armstrong's church," now Inistioge. Two of the teachers were Miss Mary Jane Strain (Mrs. F. Armstrong) and her brother Wm. Strain, later of Flesherton. Some of the names, which it still contains are Mrs. McGilvary, Mary Jane Stewart, Harriet Jane Leech, Jane Rowe, Mary Anne Armstrong, Sarah Snodden, Alexander Snodden, John Large, Thomas McQuay, George Brownlee, Christopher Johnston, and Henry Armstrong.

I still remember Mr. Goheen preaching about Nicodemus enquiring the way of Salvation from our Saviour; possibly he was a relative of the Mr. Goheen spoken of in the Advance, and who was a local preacher; other local preachers were Joseph Strain Sr., later, his son Joseph Strain, Thomas Hutchinson, George Hutchinson, Thos. McQuay, Matthew Richardson, Dr. Christoe and J. W. Armstrong. My own class leader was Matthew Leech. Singing leaders, before the days of the organ, being Frederick Armstrong and later, John Higginbotham, Inistioge.

My father and mother did not go to communion service by oxteam, but on horse back. My mother not wearnig the riding breeches of today, but a long "riding habit," covering her feet, which were not supposed to be seen. I remember signing the temperance pledge at the age of nine years, after having listened to a talk on Temperance by Dr. Christoe, part of which I still remember. Who knows but I might have become a confirmed toper had I not signed then!

I was at the Diamond jubilee of the Inistioge church held last year, and were a family name given to that church as in former days, I imagine that the name might still begin with "A", as I think it was an Acheson who led the choir, an Acheson who played the organ, Acheson's who gave the fine dinner of which, I think, 37 of us partook." May the spirit of the fathers of that early day rest upon the children and children's children of the present time.

USE LOCAL-GROWN OATS

According to Arthur H. Martin Departmental Official, it is considerably safer to sow well-cleaned local grown oats, even though the quality be rather poor, than to take a chance on sowing western feed oats.

Feed oats were never intended for seed and, even when recleaned, may contain sufficient weed seeds to seed the farm to one or more weeds previously unknown in the community.

SKIM MILK OR MEAT

In order that a poultryman may get every cent of profit coming to him he must avail himself of all the means at his disposal to produce cheaply. When whole milk is sold anywhere from sixty cents to a dollar a hundred pounds, skim milk has little value; yet, if it is fed to poultry, it will bring fair returns. If skim milk were used instead of beef scraps as a source of animal feed, poultrymen would cut down on their feed bill and their cost of egg production at the same time.

An experiment conducted at one of the Dominion Experimental Stations, for five seasons proved rather conclusively that the lot of birds receiving skim-milk laid more eggs and gained more weight than the one which was fed beef scrap, other feeds being the same. Skim-milk should always be fed sweet or always sour so as to avoid bowel troubles. Where skim-milk is not available beef scrap will have to be resorted to.
