ON THE EAR.
You may catch—as bees takes honey—
With your brush, the stately maid
Poised against yon gray balcony,
Looking down the leafy glade.

Catch her as she fain would glisten
In the coming lover's gaze,
For whose lips she seems to listen,
Bathed in sunset's mellow rays.

Catch her ere the glass reflecting
Simply gives smile or pout,
When before it she is flitting
Curls by summer put to rout.

But, how paint the unconscious subtle
Pulses beating joy or gloom,
As her fancy waits the shuttle
To and fro the Future's loom.

'Tis an idolon most gracious,
Yet deceptive as a mask;
Hiding questions bold or precious,
Tipped fair lips may pine to ask.

Till her hero, Prince of Lander,
Draws the heart blood to her cheek,
When his eyes beam, "Lo! the answer
To the mystery you seek."

Ah! you limners make them angels,
In a sinless Paradise,
And we rhymers chant evangels
Tempting men to throw the dice.

Not to win the stake of salvation,
But to score a playful hit,
And in turn, to lose a gamboon
And their hearts to woman's wit.

—The Arcadian. SAM WARD.

Bears.—Since Messrs. Perry Davis & Son commenced the manufacture of Bearine, the Canada trapper has found a lucrative business in capturing old Bruin. Messrs. Davis & Son pay a good price for the grease, and the skins are always sought after. Messrs Davis & Son have a mode of refining the grease, perfuming it, &c., making it superior to any others we have ever seen.

The Story of an Arab.

The story of a Cincinnati newsboy who found a pocketbook, containing $100, and returned it to the owner with contents intact, reached Philadelphia in good season, and was productive of considerable of a sensation among the street Arabs. One small boy was so affected by it that he straightway determined to see that Cincinnati boy, and go him seventeen or eighteen better. He took another small boy into his confidence, and the test of probity of character was carried into effect. Boy No 2 dropped a well-padded pocketbook, which boy No 3 following close behind, picked up.

Then with a look on his face that would have done honour to Benjamin Franklin, the honest little fellow walked up to an old gentleman who was passing by, extended the pocketbook and with trembling voice, exclaimed, "Take it, sir. It is yours. You dropped it just now. My mother and seven little brothers are starving, but I cannot keep it, sir, for it don't belong to me." The old gentleman looked at the boy, then pulled out his spectacles and adjusted them for a better sight. He could not sufficiently admire the wan visage of that little street wanderer, illumined as it was with a glow of goodness and honesty.

He patted the boy on the head, and pulling a five dollar bill from his vest pocket, handed it to him, saying, "Boy, you will grow to be a great man. Take this money for your starving family, and always remember that 'honesty is the best policy.'" Then the old gentleman skurried into the nearest lager beer saloon and opened his pocketbook. Then he began to dance around, and call heaven and earth to witness that if ever he encountered that boy again he would flay him alive. And he continued to orate until a policeman was called in to arrest him as a lunatic, and the only excuse he could offer for his conduct was that a small boy had robbed him of five dollars by giving him a pocketbook stuffed with old paper.

THACKERAY ON DANCING PARTIES.—The System of evening parties is a false and absurd one. Ladies may frequent them professionally with an eye to a husband, a man is a fool who takes a wife out of such assemblies, having no other means of judging of the object of his choice. You are not the same person in your white crape and satin slipers as you are in your morning dress. A man is not the same in his tight coat and feverish glazed pumps, and stiff white waistcoat, as he is his green double-breasted frock, his old black ditto or his woolen jacket. And a man is doubly a fool who is in the habit of frequenting evening parties, unless he is forced thither in search of a lady to whom he is attached, or unless he is compelled to go by his wife. A man who loves dancing may be set down to be a fool; and the fashion is greatly going out with the increasing good sense of the age. Do not say that he who lives at home, or frequents clubs in lieu of balls, is a brute, and has no proper respect for the female sex; on the contrary, he may respect it most sincerely. He feels that a woman appears to most advantage, not among those whom she can care about, but among those whom she loves. He thinks her beautiful when she is at home making tea for her old father. He believes her to be charming when she is singing a simple song at her piano, but not when she is screeching at an evening party. He thinks by far the most valuable part of her is her heart; and a kind, simple heart my dear shines in conversation better than the best of wit. He admires her best in her intercourse with her family and her friends, and detests the miserable, twaddling slipslop that he is obliged to hear her and utter to her in the course of a ball; and avoids and despises such meetings.

Have you a cough, cold, pain in the chest, or bronchitis? Do you believe you are phthisicatory symptoms or that consumption is at hand? If so, know that relief is within your reach in the shape of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which in many cases where hope had fled, has snatched the victim from the yawning grave.

Life is the fribration received by all animated beings from the Creator's breath—a taper whose luminous or flickering light may be extinguished by a gentle wind or rudely burst the fiercest blast. Life is caloric, electricity and phosphorous acting upon a mass of bones and softer solids, diffusing warmth, motion and animation, activity or muscle of nerve and of intellect. As caloric, electricity and phosphorous are induced and supplied by Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, it only requires the administration of this successful invention to fortify the feeble, give sprightliness of motion to the torpid, and bring about a condition which not only secures temporary life but makes life really enjoyable.

The Horse.—Of the great number of animals under the control of man, the horse is unquestionably the most serviceable; but it is not strange that so many who own horses, and who are dependent on their labor for a living should neglect to give them that care and attention which their own interest no less than the safety and comfort of the horse demands. The best remedy for horses is "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." of this there can be no doubt—it is safe and easily given. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Hemorrhoids (or Piles) are permanently cured by Mathieu's Pile Ointment, or money refunded. Price $1 per Pot, or 6 Pots for $5. Sold wholesale and retail by the Wingate Chemical Company, Montreal, and retail by all druggists, or will be forwarded to any address on receipt of price by Dr. E. Mathieu, 198 Notre Dame Street, Montreal.

Burnett's Cocoaine.—A perfect dressing for the hair.—The Cocoaine holds in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoa nut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. A single application renders the hair (no matter how stiff and dry,) soft, and glossy for several days. It is conceded by all who have used it, to be the best and cheapest Hair Dressing in the world.

☞ The efficacy of Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers in curing coughs, colds and all bronchial affections, and effecting the afflicted, has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where the marvellous Wafers are known, they bear down all opposition and eclipse all rivalry; the demand for them has steadily increased for the last twenty years, until now the sales average over one hundred thousand boxes a year. Eminent members of the medical profession without number admit that they know of no preparation producing such beneficial results as these Wafers. When taken in season they effect a permanent cure. Sold by all druggists and country dealers. Price 25 cents per box.

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT! A FEW FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.—There are but few preparations of medicines which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any great length of time. One of these Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Read the following and be convinced.—Thos. Robinson, Fartham Centre, P.Q., writes, "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for the last ten years, and have tried many remedies without any relief, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and since then have had no attack of it. I would recommend it to all." H. H. Earl, Hotel Keeper, West Shefford, P.Q., writes, "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horses in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and think it is equally as good for horse as for man."—A. Mayhew, merchant, Warkworth, writes, "I have sold some hundreds of bottles of Eclectric Oil, and it is pronounced by the public, 'one of the best medicines they have never used.' It has done wonders in healing and relieving pain, sore throats, etc., and is worthy of the greatest confidence."—Joseph Rusan, Township Percy, writes, "I was persuaded to try Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lame knee which troubled me for three or four years, and I never found anything like it for curing lameness. It is a great public benefit."—A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes, "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which annoyed me very much. Mr. Mayhew of this place induced me to try Eclectric Oil, and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is a most remarkable medicine." ☞ Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents.

Prepared by S. N. Thomas, Phelps, N.Y., and Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., sole Agent for the Dominion. Note.—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized. Sold in Kingston by E. H. Parker, J. G. King, Heath and Gunn, G. S. Hobart, Jas. McCammon, and all medicine dealers.
