Big Trout Caught At Hydro Lake

The trout fishing season opened with a real boom early Tuesday morning with some fine speckled beauties being captured. J. O. Dargavel takes local honors with a fine fish weighing two pounds and fourteen ounces, taken from the water at the Eighth Line bridge. This fellow swallowed hook and line, but did not take it with a rush and grab as most of the big ones do. Jiw found out that he had him on the line when he was reeling it in and the battle commenced, and took the honors in this fight when he landed him on the stones on the east side of the bridge. This monster measured 17¾ inches in length and measured five inches in depth. He also secured another fine one, though somewhat smaller, that measured 15½ inches long and weighed 1¾ pounds, a third one which he caught weighed ¾ of a pound. Two of the above fish are being entered in the fish competition sponsored by Frank Slater of Owen Sound, for the best fish taken from the waters in Grey and Bruce Counties. First prize is a beautiful split bamboo fishing rod. C. J. Bellamy of town won first prize last year and Mr. Dargavel has an excellent chance of taking the honors this year. He took it to Owen Sound a few hours after it was caught.

Chas. Mosier also took one out of the same hole measuring 12 inches. Master Evison Wilson, 9 years of age, landed a nice trout from one of the local streams that measured 12½ inches in length. He was a proud lad with his catch.

Harold Best caught two fine ones Tuesday evening, one of them 16 inches long and weighed 1¾ pounds; the other one was 13½ inches in length and one pound two ounces in weight.

THE Variety Store

It has been a difficult task to round up the lines that go to constitute a variety store It is our desire to stock everyday necessities and we have by now gathered together the majority of things which we all use daily.

You may feel assured that anything you buy will be priced right. Our clothing is lower in many items than the big stores. Our range will be about complete by the time you need summer clothing. Do not pass the store when in town, drop in and see what we have to offer, and pass your opinion on the goods, we are not touchy.

We expected to be able to give details of our coupon plan on free silverware, but will have to wait until next week. Come in and ask for what you want It is by your requests that we have shaped our plans.

Funeral Of Late Mrs. J. Thompson Thursday

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jacob Thompson, who died on April 24th, was held on Thursday last. Service was held in her late home on the East Backline, Artemesia, and was conducted by Rev. W. J. Scott, pastor of St. John's United church. Interment took place in the family plot in the Meaford Road Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Geo. Clark, Wm. Newell, S. Fitzsimmons, Wm. Grieves, J. Thistlethwaite and Wilfred Graham.

A large number of floral tributes of sympathy covered the casket, among them being sprays from her family and grandchildren and from Mrs. Wickens and Mr. T. Clayton, Mrs. K. Patton, Miss M. McMillan and Mrs. John McMillan and Mr. Howard Eubank.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. Dick Crossley of Owen Sound, Mrs. John Crossley of Weston, Mrs. John Hopps and Mrs. Fred Stafford of Williamsford and Mrs. Ed. Stafford of Holland Centre.

The late Mrs. Thompson, who was in her 74th year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Irwin, pioneers of Artemesia, and was born on the homestead one mile south of Flesherton. She was married to Jacob Thompson on December 23rd, 1880, who predeceased her eleven years ago last February. She was the youngest and last surviving member of a family of nine. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving mother, two sons and two daughters: Robert on the home farm, Mrs. A .B. Ferris (Effie) of Flesherton, Charles of Orangeville and Mrs. Wm. Holley (Martha) of Holland Centre; one daughter died in infancy.

The late Mrs. Thompson was of a very pleasant nature and highly respected by all who knew her. She has been residing with her daughter in Flesherton and three weeks ago left to visit her son on the East Backline. She had been troubled with high blood pressure but otherwise was enjoying good health. On Tuesday afternoon she took an attack of weakness and passed away a few moments afterward, death coming as a great shock to her family and many friends.

Child Fell Into Cellar

Shirley, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. McCracken of town, had a narrow escape on Sunday from a serious accident if not death, when she fell into the cellar of her home, a distance of nine feet and was rendered unconscious by the fall. She was taken for an x-ray examination on Monday morning, but was found to be suffering only from bruises and twisted ligaments in her hip.

She had just entered the room and was taking off her coat while walking over to hang it up above a trap door leading to the cellar, which her father was just opening when he had occasion to go to the cellar. Out of the corner of his eye he saw what he thoght was a coat drop into the cellar between the steps and the wall and on descending found the little one in a heap and unconscious. She was considerably bruised on the hip and one leg and was unable to walk.

Crop Improvement Evident

Evidence of crop improvement that has resulted from the production and general use of registered and certified seed of wheat over a period of thirty years in Canada may be observed in the relatively high yield per acre of the crop as a whole and in the sustained high quality for milling purposes, as reflected in the premiums generally received for Canadian wheat in the principal export markets. With other cereal grains, the results are very much in evidence in those areas where oats, barley or other kinds of grain predominate. In those areas in which coarse grains form the main cash crop, the crop as a whole is traceable as a rule within a few years to pure variety seed stock. It is from those areas that the best and most uniform quality grain for commerce is derived.

THE ONLY WAY

(Ottawa Journal)

If we want to get back to the simple living of our fathers, or to anything like it, we've first got to alter a lot of our notions and get rid of a lot of our debts. The idea of looking to the state for this, that any everything, of wanting it to guide us from the cradle to the grave, permitting us to "keep up with the Jones's on the journey, has got to be revised. Heavy interest charges and social services and a complicated economic organism don't mix well with simple living.

Pageant Well Given

Some 38 ladies of St. Colulba United Church, Priceville, gave their "Pageant of Famous Women" in St. John's United Church on Thursday evening last. The church auditorium was well filled with an appreciative audience that all applauded most of the characters depicted. To pick ny one person as of special notation would detract from the others in the pageant, when the entire company filled their characters perfectly. Mrs. H. McLean rendered a couple of solos and Mrs. Jos. McKee sang a Gaelic number, but it was all Scotch to us, though the melody was intriguing. Our Priceville correspondent has given a couple of descriptions of the pageant in past issues, which was given twice at Priceville. The Flesherton appearance was their third and it was given as a friendly gesture to friendly neighbors for the benefit of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church. We were very pleased to see the program so well given.

New Bank Manager

A change in managers of the Flesherton branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has been announced by the head office of the bank. Mr. A. E. Preston, manager in Flesherton for the past few years, is being retired on pension and will take up his residence in Hamilton. His successor will be Mr. R. B. Heard, who is at present manager of the Page and Queenston branch of the bank in St. Catharines. Mr. Heard is a Proton Township boy, having been born near Salem.

Mr. Preston has had a long and honorable career in banking circles. He commenced with the old Standard Bank in March 1899 and continued with the Canadian Bank of Commerce when it took over the Standard. He served overseas with the 20th Battalion in the great war, the effects of which is telling on his health at the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Preston have made many warm friends in Flesherton who wish them happiness in their new home and a return to health for the former.

Current Crop Report

Latest reports from agricultural representatives declare that while little growth of fall wheat has taken place as yet, there is every indication in many districts that the loss from winter killing will be heavy. Ontario and Peterborough Counties definitely report at least 75% of the crop almost completely killed. Alfalfa and clovers have also suffered severely in many areas. The loss of fruit trees is likewise serious, one orchardist in Ontario County reporting a loss of over three hundred black cherry trees, while widespread damage to apple orchards is admitted It is still too early to secure definite estimates of the injury.

No Sand In Sandpaper

Familiar as sandpaper is to everybody yet there are very few persons indeed, who know that this universally used product has no sand in it. Sand cannot be used for making sandpaper because it is not efficient for that purpose, due to the fact that most sand is waterworn and the particles are therefore more or less round and have no sharp cutting edge. The fine abrasive particles on sandpaper are specially crushed flint or garnet or are products of the electric furnace aluminum oxide or silicon carbide. The abrasive particles used in the manufacture of sandpaper, with a few exceptions, are not true crystals, nor are they alike. The particles, though carefully graded, vary in size and shape and have many edges and points, some of which are much sharper than others. Best results are obtained from grits approximately twice as long as they are wide.

HEALTH

by Frederick Tennant M.D.

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

GOOD COMPLEXIONS

To say that beauty is only skin deep is not true, because beauty comes from within and the skin cannot be healthier than the body it covers. The healthy skin is a beautiful skin. The fair, clear complexion which everyone admires and which many try to imitate, reflects a healthy body. Faulty habits of living lead to the loss of health which the skin reveals in pallor, flabbiness, blotches, pimples or other such blemishes.

The skin is made up of two layers; the outer, a covering or protection, and the inner, or true skin, containing the glands, blood vessels and nerves. The healthy skin is slightly moist, soft and pliable. A dry or oily skin is an indication that the glands are not functioning properly. There are two sets of glands in the skin, one for perspiration and the other for oil. If these glands are overactive, the skin is moist and oily; if they are inactive, the skin is too dry.

There is only one proper way to treat an abnormal skin condition, and that is by corerction the underlying cause. Local applications will not make a healthy skin for the person who fails to secure sufficient rest or to eat a proper diet. All parts of the body are nourished by the blood stream. There is no food for the skin, either external or internal, any more than there is food for the brain. Eat a proper diet, and the skin, along with all the parts of the body, will receive all the food it requires.

The skin must be kept clean. There is a quaint idea that soap and water are not good for the complexion, and that grease, in the comparatively expensive form of a facial cream, should be used. The fact that men, as a group, have better complexions than women would seem sufficient evidence to indicate that the daily lathering of the face with soap and water is rather to be recommended than avoided.

Regular bathing is enjoyed by most people. It is desirable because it overcomes body odors, gives a sense of well-being and keeps the skin clean. The daily bath is no essential to health; it is rather a desirable privilege.

We would advise those who have good complexions to remember that continued attention to the general health will preserve their healthy skins. Those who have not good complexions are reminded that the skin cannot be healthier than the body within, and, in this connection, they should think of their habits of living.

"My dear," said the od man tenderly, "today is our diamond wedding and I have a little surprise for you."

"Yes?" said his silver-haired wife. He took her hand in his.

"You see this engagement ring I gave you 76 years ago?"

"Yes?" said the expectant old lady.

"Well, I paid the final installment on it today, and I am proud to announce that it is now altogether yours."
