ST. JACOBS OIL

TRADE MARK

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN

LUMBAGO—LAME BACK.

Why so many devotees from a graceful carriage may be accounted for in as many ways as there are misshapen beings.

ST. JACOBS OIL RESTORES.

Strength.—The spinal column is the mainstay of the body, which stiffens up the straight man or woman, and nature has provided muscular supports to hold it erect.

EFFECTS PROMPT CURES.

Weakness.—Men and women suddenly twist themselves out of shape, and the result is the few standing straight and the many bending down.

CURES ARE PERFECT, PERMANENT.

Symptoms.—Lumbago manifests itself by pains in the back, which are most inclinous or subtile. They come at times without warning; we rise from a sitting posture to find the back so crippled or contracted as to cause acute suffering.

EVERY APPLICATION RELIEVES.

Treatment.—Rub the parts affected freely with St. Jacobs Oil; rub hard and vigorously, producing warmth, and if the pain is slow in yielding, wrap the parts in flannel steeped in hot water and wrung out.

ONCE CURED, ALWAYS CURED.

THE CHARLES A. VOGELER CO., Baltimore, Md.
Canadian Depot: Toronto, Ont.

PERFECTLY RESTORED!

"I intended to let you know results of treatment, but thought I'd best wait, and after five months I must say, that I am thoroughly satisfied that I was perfectly restored to health, both as regards physical and nervous vigor, and I may also say, that I am engaged at work for the last five months, which I never could have stood but for your treatment."

FASHIONS

OUTDOOR DRESS.

Picturesque Model for a Garden Party Gown—A Practical Tennis Costume.

If you pride yourself on being in the latest fashion don't have your best dress—the one you want to wear at a garden party or race meeting—made with a basque. All the newest bodices for smart English gowns are made corselet fashion or are ornamented with a sash. The cut shows a dress that would suit most slight women. It may be made either of crape cloth, shot bengaline cloth, foulard or plain silk. If gray or fawn crepon were selected the sash and the trimmings of the bodice and sleeves should be of silk in another color—chartreuse and fawn is a fresh combination—edged with a narrow passementerie. The dress looks very nice made entirely of black. Attention is called particularly to the sleeves with big puffs at the top. The deep folded waistband is pretty only on a pretty figure.

GARDEN PARTY AND TENNIS COSTUMES.

In the cut is shown also a pretty and practical sort of dress, suitable for any kind of outdoor amusement—tennis or rowing. It is made of coarse blue diagonal serge, and the belt is a continuation of the skirt. Every woman knows that in wearing a dress with a blouse it is practically impossible to look neat about the waist. Do what she may her skirt will slip from beneath her belt. The cut of this dress then should recommend itself to all who play tennis. It is worn with a silk shirt—red is pretty for a brunette—with smocking on the neck and sleeves, and is further adorned by a jabot of finely plaited silks.

Parasols That Delight Womankind.

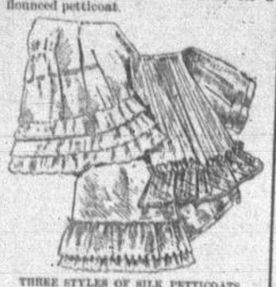
Parasols are particularly elegant this year. They are made of every conceivable color and material, some of white moire silk, striped with narrow lines of color, being particularly effective, but absolutely simple. Other parasols are of lace, striped with broad ribbon, and edged with a frill of lace through which are run narrow "baby" ribbons. But the newest are of shot satin trimmed with frills of shot chiffon, with an appliqued edge of black lace. In these there are the most delightful combinations of color. One of gray chiffon is shot with pale yellow and trimmed with white lace, another of a cardinal hue is shot with reseda and trimmed with black lace, while a pale pink and pale yellow raises hopes of garden parties and recalls recollections of strawberries and cream.

New Engagement Rings.

The new engagement ring that the lover gives his lady has two large stones, a diamond and sapphire or diamond and ruby or pearls, forming the extremities of an open ring, the ends overlapping to bring one stone above another. The ring most fancied as a gift from the girl to her betrothed is a chain of platinum and gold, with a trifle lover's knot on top. It is not a stiff one, but the links must fall softly together when he takes it off, in token of the fact that her chains are light ones.

Elegance in Underwear.

To be stylishly dressed nowadays one must pay as much attention to one's underwear as to gowns. The fewer underclothes the better, in order to get the slender effect all women long for. The demitrained outdoor dresses necessitate the wearing of smart petticoats, as they require to be held up—not merely at a crossing or in getting in and out of a stage or carriage, but all the time. The newest petticoats are of the stiffest of rustling silk in bright colors. Shot silk is a favorite material for a flounced petticoat.



THREE STYLES OF SILK PETTICOATS.

One of the prettiest of French petticoats recently seen had little baskets of flowers thrown on a black silk ground, and was trimmed with a deep pinked out flounce of pale green silk, another of pale pink a trifle shorter, and yet another of black lace. This last was run with three rows of bebe ribbon in three delicate shades to match the pattern of the silk, and ornamented here and there with bunches of ribbon loops.

Mourning Bonnets.

A charming little mourning bonnet is composed of gray lisse, with a very narrow black ostrich feather edge, and finished with feathers at the back. A pretty and becoming hat has a wide, flat brim of transparent beaded net, with a black velvet band around the edge, and a small crown, with a tuft of feathers at the back. A large gray chip straw is effectively trimmed for slight mourning with small black feathers.

Striped Gowns.

Stripes everywhere, and such very pretty stripes! They are broad, and some of them exquisitely shaded, beginning with the lighter tints and shading into deeper tones. Other stripes contrast with the groundwork of the material. Every woman will have a striped gown, but if you are tall and thin do make the matter a subject of thought before you purchase.

Good Always Attained.

60 Church St., Toronto, Ont.: "It is a pleasure for me to testify to the good effects always attained by the use of your popular remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. I have used it for sprained back and various aches, and it always gives sure relief. Have also used it on my horses at various times, with complete success." G. W. BANKS.

Valuable Idol.

An exchange says that a lady who was looking about in a bric-a-brac shop, with a view to purchasing something odd, noticed a quaint figure, the head and shoulders of which appeared above the counter.

"What is that Japanese idol over there worth?" she inquired.

The salesman's reply was given in a subdued tone:

"Worth about half a million, madam; it's the proprietor."

A VILLAGE SCHOOL HOUSE.

Common Sense Notions Applied to the Housing of Young Ideas.

[Copyright, 1892, by American Press Association.]

This two room village school house is conceived in a picturesque but simple style of design. In the location of a school house more regard should be paid to the points of the compass than to the lot lines, for light is one of the essentials, and more regard should be had to getting the building in the best position for warmth and light than to getting it into uniformity with other buildings or the street.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

It has been the aim to impress upon this house a greater air of solidity and permanence than is usually reflected in our frame buildings. This has been obtained greatly by the use of shingles for the outside walls.

The schoolrooms are planned to seat forty pupils each, using double seats. Separate side entrances are furnished for boys and girls, leading from a common cloakroom respectively to the boys and girls' yards. While these are not absolutely necessary and the building would not be incomplete without them, important and useful features are gained; a direct communication with each yard is obtained, and if these are properly fenced there is no commingling of sexes as there would be if a common entrance were used.

The schoolrooms are intended to be wainscoted to a height of 4½ feet with yellow pine, with molded cap. Blackboard space is provided on the dead wall dividing the two rooms; and here the wainscoting should not extend above 2 ft. 8 in. from the floor, and should have a chalk tray instead of cap molding as above. The heating is accomplished by a room heater placed in an alcove off the cloakroom. Around this is an 8-inch brick wall, in which are set registers for each schoolroom. The fuel room opens off the left of the cloakroom. Ventilation is secured by vent chambers each side of smoke flue in the chimney.

The interior finish is of yellow pine with hard oil finish. The floors are laid with 1-inch plank, then covered with deafening felt, and on this the top floor is laid of narrow 1½-inch yellow pine, mill worked plank, free from knots, sapp, shakes, splits and all other defects; all joints are finally planed to a smooth surface.

Constructionally the building is of the best, with only first class materials. The outside walls are of 2x6 studs set 12 inches from centers, with diagonal sheathing and manilla building paper, covered with best cypress shingles. A projection of the front gable furnishes a position for the bell. The timbers are: Sills, 6x8; joist, 2x10; rafters, 2x4. Ceilings, 13½ feet for schoolrooms and 9½ feet for cloakroom and entries. This school house may be built for $2,300, including foundation and heater.

Harrington Happenings.

HARRINGTON, June 14.—Planting is progressing rather slowly, owing to so much rain lately, all other crops look splendid, particularly hay. Mrs. D. Wood passed peacefully away on Saturday after a short illness. Her remains were taken to Sydenham for interment. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. E. Lidstone and was largely attended. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Wood and his family in their sad bereavement. Mr. Sproule is still very ill, in fact his friends believe him to be in a critical condition. Rev. J. E. Lidstone is to preach his farewell sermon here next Sabbath at 2:30 p.m. There will be many sad faces in the congregation.

On Friday Mrs. F. Leonard left here for Sidney, Ont., where she is to visit her sister. From there she is to go to Toronto to visit other relatives and rumor says to also enter the matrimonial circle. She is followed by the best wishes of many friends. J. M. Robertson spent last Sabbath with C. F. Adair, Petworth, and returned home delighted with his visit. Thomas Sigsworth, jr., lost a valuable horse last week. Mr. and Mrs. C. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Corscallen spent two or three days at Milltown last week.

The married ladies in this section dress so much like the unmarried that the young men have taken the former for the latter in the twilight. One of the young men employed at the factory has been doing things by rule lately. Mrs. J. M. Babcock has a large number of young birds this season. Miley Campbell is making some improvements on his residence. The municipal council meets here, in J. M. Robertson's hall, on Monday, June 20th. The milk inspector has been at the factory and found everything satisfactory. Miss Trusdale, our popular dressmaker, is kept very busy.
