Recieves Whole Legacy

Justice McFarland at Osgoode Hall last week ruled that Mrs. Iva M Wright, widow of the late Justice Wright, was entitled to a legacy of $25,000 bequeathed to her under her husband's will although the estate was insufficient to pay money bequests amounting to $45,000.

The court held that jewelry which belonged to the late judge's first wife should go to his brother, David T. Wright of Dundalk. The gold medal which the late Justice Wright won when a school student at Osgoode Hall law school is to go to W. D. Wright, nephew of Owen Sound.

According to affidavits filed, the estate of the late judge, including his residence on Parkwood Avenue, Toronto, valued at $15,000, only realized $29,863. The question was whether in view of the fact of the estate being insufficient to pay money legacies in full, the legacy to the widow should abate proportionately.

N. W. Rowell, K.C., for the widow, successfully argued that if a widow cares to take a legacy instead of dower she is preferred beneficiary. J. C. McRuer, K.C., for David T. Wright brother of the testator, argued that the Toronto property was mortgaged before Justice Wright's second marriage so that all he had in it was equity of redemption and the widow had no right of dower.

A CROWD OF 'EM

Do you know how many words in the English language mean "crowds?" Well, here are some of them: A crowd of ships is termed a fleet; a fleet of sheep is called a flock; a flock of girls is called a bevy; a bevy of wolves is called a pack; a pack of thieves is called a gang; a gang of angels is called a host. a host of porpoises is called a shoal. a shoal of buffalo is called a herd; a herd of children is called a troop; a troop of partridges is called a galaxy; a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde; a horde of rubbish is called a heap; a heap of oxen is called a drove; a drove of hoodlums is called a mob; a mob of whales is called a school; a school of worshippers is called a congregation; a congregation of engineers is called a corps; a corps of robbers is called a band; a band of bees is called a swarm; a swarm of people is called a crowd.

22nd Brigade In Camp This Week

This Tuesday, the 22nd Infantry Brigade went into camp at Victoria Park, Owen Sound, which will continue for 10 days. The Grey Regiment was used as an advance party to erect tents and prepare camp for occupation and commenced their work on Monday morning. Tuesday morning the three other Regiments, Simcoe Foresters, Northern Pioneers and the Algonquins, arrived and training commenced in the afternoon. There is very little drill in the training program, which is comprised mainly of open field tactics and specialist training with the machine guns and the light automatic rifles.

"D" Company from South Grey is this year comprised of Hanover and Flesherton men, under the command of Capt. Wm. Turney in the absence of Major A. E. Bellamy, and the following is the roster of the Company:

Capt. W. Turney.
Lieut. R. Harker.
Lieut Murray.
C. S. M. Sewell.
Sergt. Knechtel.
Sergt. Thurston.
Sergt. Gorrell.
Sergt. Welton.
Corp. Miller.
Corp. Prast.
Corp. Laidlaw.
Pte. E. Dixon.
Pte. Windorff.

SALES OF BRANDED BEEF SHOW DECIDED INCREASE

Consumer appreciation of top quality beef is indicated by the steadily increasing demand for branded beef.

Sales for May, 1934, amounted to some 4,286,360 pounds as compared with 2,754,678 pounds for May, 1933. The increase in sales of branded beef for the first five months of 1934 as compared with those of the same period last year, amounts to approximately thirty-three per cent. Such figures, of course, apply to domestic sales only.

Mr. Wright and his companions received minor injuries, while the car was wrecked considerably.

The Rural School Ma'am

The news from the rural districts has recently contained many stories of presentations to school teachers who are leaving to teach in other schools, or "to enter the holy bonds of matrimony" (as the presentation addresses put it.) We note not only the presentations and fine gifts that have been handed out to many of the teachers, but we also read with particular interest the addresses prepared for such occasions.

Obviously the rural school teacher occupies a very important place in the community. She may become just about the most important person in it, though, financially, some of the landowners completely overshadow her. But the teacher has an influence which few others possess. It isn't only that she teaches the young That is only a small part of the rural teacher's work. She has a good education. She ranks with the minister when it comes to looking after the local library or the more important entertainments, such as amateur plays. She has the energy to organize all kinds of local amusements, including the annual Christmas concert and the June picnic. Because she is often the best looking lady in the section, she can persuade the men to help out with these matters, when their own wives or their own mothers or sisters are helpless. Because she lived in the city recently, while she attended normal, she probably sets the fashion for the girls of her part of the township, though she may be the despair of the other girls at the dances or when her box brings the high bid at the box social. In fact, so numerous are her duties that it's a wonder she finds time to teach all, and yet, in spite of these handicaps, she manages six or eight different classes, covering all the work from the primer to the entrance class, and not infrequently, her brighter scholars stand up with the best from the town schools when they pass the entrance tests.

It's no wonder the country teacher leaves a big, vacant spot when she leaves the section, and that's why she is presented with complimentary addresses and floor lamps or library tables or sets of Shakespeare's work and other things befitting highly educated persons.—Ex.

It HAPPENS tO ALL OF US

Typographical errors are often very funny and frequently get by the eagle eyes of the proof-reader. Just last week we smiled when we read in our nearest city daily an account of a wedding which said the lady wore "large mittens and slippers to match." Imagine any bride being accused of wearing "large" mittens. Someone had blundered and we had reason to know the correspondent had sent in "lace mittens." However, we more than smiled when we read in our own G.F.J. a joke which had gone all awry. It was intended to tell the story of the after-dinner speaker who said that 'Speeches should be like a woman's skirt—short enough to be interesting, but long enough to cover the subject," but horrors, when we saw it in black and white it read "shirt" instead of Skirt. Curtain please.—Wiarton Echo

A Londoner paid $22.50 for attempting to get a kiss. Perhaps it was just as well he didn't succeed.
