Seventeen convicts at Kingston penitentiary have passed their entrance examinations. Now they have only one more sentence to parse and they can get out to make use of their additional knowledge.

Married man who received relief in Hamilton, but who is now working, is paying back his relief in weekly instalments. We have a notion that man would be a good neighbor.

How's This One?

A full-blooded Pima Indian out in Arizona needed some cash, so he went to a banker and asked about a loan. "How much do you need?" asked the banker.

"Me want two hundred dollars."

"For how long?"

Maybe two weeks; maybe two months."

"And what security have you?"

"Me got two hundred horses."

This seemed sufficient security, and the loan was made.

A short time afterward the Indian came into the bank with two thousand two hundred dollars cash, paid off the note, and started to leave with the rest of his roll.

"Why not let us take care of that money for you?"

The old Indian's mind flew back to the day when he wanted two hundred dollars, and, looking the banker straight in the eyes, he solemnly asked: "How many horses you got?"

Change Highway Names

Ontario's highways, in the future, are no longer to be designated as "The King's Highways." Instead the historic designations of the province's main thoroughfares will be revived, according to plans presented to the Ontario minister of highways. Part of No. 2 Highway, that from London through Chatham to Walkerville, is to be known as "Tecumseh Road," in honor to the great Indian chieftain who fought his last battles along the line it now follows. From London to Toronto, No. 2 will be "Dundas Street" again; and the highway from Toronto to North Bay will be officially christened "Yonge St." as it is still known to thousands who live in its vicinity. Other highways will be re-named in due course to honor the memory of great Canadians and citizens of Ontario. Among those mustered for the province's highway hall of fame are Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. George Brown, founder of the "Globe," and a father of Confederation.

Broke Their Own Record

King Paving Co. Laid 2078 Feet Of Pavement In One Day

All departments of the King Paving Company are working smoothly and great progress is being made in the laying of concrete. Friday in ten hours the workmen laid 2078 feet of pavement, which broke the record for any one day during this season's operations. This record was made from the corner at Delbert Hill's southward as far as the Orange Hall the road being fairly level and in good condition for a try at making a record Saturday morning 1071 feet of concrete was laid in the five working hours. Monday evening the pavement had been laid as far south as Chas. Gilchrist's gate and by Tuesday evening reached the Aldcorn corner almost 2½ miles from where they started, in seven and a half days which, apparently, is fairly good work.

Struck By Stone

Alex. Sherritt of Dundalk received an injured arm last week while working on the road paving north of town. One of the big trucks carrying gravel passed by where the men were working laying forms and squeezed a large stone from the side of its large tires, which flew with considerable force striking Mr. Sherritt on the arm. It was thought that the arm was broken at the time, but later it was found to be only bruised. He will be off work for a couple of weeks.

More Voters Needed For Deputy Reeve

Artemesia Township Will Not Have Deputy-Reeve If 14 More Voters Are Not Secured

ONLY 986 NOW ON LIST

Unless more names of elegible voters can be added to the Voters' List, Artemesia council will be short a Deputy-Reeve to represent them in County Council. Only 986 names were included in the List by the Assessor, 26 less than in 1933. There will still be a chance to add to the list of voters and all persons are urged to see if their name is there and if not to inform Clerk W. J. Bellamy and have the correction made. The last day for appeal is September 4th and shortly after that the Court of Revision on the Voters' List will be held.

Baseball Doings

Meaford Red Sox baseball team has withdrawn from the Centre Grey League race owing to what they claim an inequality by the League executive, in allowing certain players to play with certain teams and not giving the same privilege to them. In the game on Tuesday of last week when Kimberley defeated Meaford 16-3, Frank Bowles of Meaford was denied the privilege to play with the Red Sox. Bowes has been a substitute with the Meaford O.A.B.A. team and most of the time was warming a seat on the bench. On the other hand Kimberley had three O.A.B.A players in Dillon and Hatch, who play with Thornbury, and Alonzo Smith who plays with Meaford. We are in sympathy with the action of the Meaford management because we have contended that any players who play with an O.A.B.A. team have passed to a higher classification and should not have been given permission to play in the Centre Grey League, which was formed to develop young players. We voiced this thought when the League was re-organized last spring and it appears as though our argument had something to commend it, considering the action of the Meaford management.

Meaford Black Sox won the Georgian Bay O.A.B.A. group when they captured their third straight game from Thornbury 7-3, taking the three games out of the four played. Warpy Phillips pitched a real game and was exceptionally strong with men on the paths.

For this important game we hope there will be a large crowd of fans in attendance to support the team in their bid for victory.

Tuesday of next week, August 28th a benefit game of baseball will be played in Collingwood between an all-star team and the Collingwood Centre Grey entry, in aid of Bates Fawcett of the Kimberley team, who recently sustained a broken arm. Among those who will be taking part will be "Warpy" Phillips, Roy Hawkins, Jimmy Dowling, "Paddy" Young and others and Charlie Conacher of Toronto Maple Leaf hockey fame will be umpire-in-chief. A large crowd will be on hand to see this big event

HEALTH

STEALING

Would you punish your child berause he developed a rash? Certainly you would not do so, because you know that the rash is due to any one of the several causes, and the child could be held in no way responsible for its appearance.

You do not blame your child if he contracts measles, nor do you find fault with him if he is the victim of eczema. You realize that in such cases, there is a change in the skin, a rash, which is a symptom or sign of an abnormal physical condition such as measles or eczema.

Would you punish your child for stealing? We imagine that the negative would be drowned by the definite answers in the affirmative. Yet, all would agree that if the child is to be punished, the only reason for the punishment which could be given is that the child is responsible for his stealing.

Just as there are unhealthy physical conditions, so there are unhealthy mental states, and when these latter occur, they are the result of heredity and environment over which the individual has no control. The child does not select his parents, so he does not choose his heredity and, as his parents control his environment, they, not the child, are responsible for the product of their training.

Unless parents teach their child what is meant by ownership, through allowing the child pleasurable associations with personal possessions, it is not to be expected that he will later possess this socially desirable attitude. When the child is young, his taking of things which do not belong to him may be considered "cute", and he is encouraged to develop an anti-social habit, which, as he grows older, is called stealing.

In order to give the child an appreciation of the use of money and to teach him how he must do without now, so as to save for the securing of pleasure later on, it is advisable for him to have an allowance. This is an imprtant part of the child's education, because in later life, it is essential that he know how to use money properly.

Children of poor intelligence often feel inferior becanse they cannot keep up with their class-mates. It frequently happens that such children steal in order to have money to spend on their companions and, in this way, make good fellows of themselves, thus making up for their inferiority in other ways.

We believe that stealing is a symptom that is comparable to a rash, and that it should be dealt with in the same manner, by finding and treating the cause Merely treating the symptoms does not help; the cause must be given attention.
