More Potatoes

There is more than one person in Flesherton who can grow large potatoes and we are glad to know that the recipe does not lie with only one man. Mr. Robt. He as other large ones in his garden and intends to get two or three more in an effort to beat the record of those in last week's issue.

ROCK MILLS

Harvest thanksgiving service was held in the Baptist church Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, flowers, fruits and vegetables, among them being some beautiful onions grown by Dorcey Simpson of Idaho. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Wolstencroft, preached a very appropriate sermon for the occasion, basing his remarks on Psalm 65: 11. The eight-piece orchestra was present and provided special music for the service. A large crowd turned out to the service and the church was crowded to the doors.

Messrs. Will English and Will and Dorsey Simpson of Wilder, Idaho, arrived here Friday for a couple of weeks in which they will visit relatives and old friends. It is 27 years since the Simpson brothers left here and have not been back since, but Mr. English, who left 31 years ago, has been back several times on visits. Late Jas. Buckingham

(Stayner Sun)

The funeral of the late Jas. Buckingham, who died on Sept. 3rd, was held on Sept. 5th. In the absence of Rev. P. Webster, Rev. C. Elmer Kenny of Owen Sound conducted the service in the Stayner United Church. The pallbearers were A. N. Brownridge, A. Copson, J. Dunlop, F. Hawton, D. J. Jones and P. McNabb.

James Buckingham was the second of ten children, being the eldest son of John Buckingham and Elizabeth Cullicutt, early pioneers, who came from Cornwall, England, landing at Port Hope, Ont., and moving north through the woods to Holland Landing, where James was born Sept. 13, 1853.

After two years the family moved to the 12th Line of Osprey, where James went to public school and grew up in the Methodist Church (his home was the first church in the community). In 1878 he married Rebecca Ann Vickers and moved to Maxwell, where he soon became a class leader, Sunday school superintendent, member of the Quarterly Official Board, and School Trustee. Finally in 1910 the family moved to Stayner, and in 1925 entered the United Church.

Mr. Buckingham was an independent in politics, a member of the Orange Order, a promotor of every good cause in the community. He was a strong temperance advocate, President of the Osprey Farmers' Milling Co., and organizer of the Banner Club.

He was especially good to his family, like his beloved partner who predeceased him by three years. He made a special study of the Bible and was strict about family worship. He often said, "It is the example that counts, not what you say." When the children were small, he was careful to furnish the home with good reading.

Of a family of seven children, six survive, namely: Mrs. R. H. Wiggins and Rev. G. S. Buckingham of Chicago; Elijah of Maxwell; Etta, Mildred R.N., and Edgar of Stayner. Percy of Chicago is deceased. Three grandchildren — Shirley, B.A., and Merlie Buckingham of Maxwell and Haroldine Wiggins of Chicago survive, also three brothers and three sisters:l Robert of Winnipeg, Wm and Elijah of Collingwood, Mrs. Eliza Hawton, Mrs. W. Pentland and Miss Sarah Buckingham, Collingwood.

"Papa" and "Mama" have been banned for use in Japan. Perhaps the little Japs are up-to-date and refer to their progenitors as the "old man" and the "old woman."

Port Arthur report says that not an able-bodied man is left on the relief list there, and of course any able-bodied man would like to get off as soon as possible.

Twelve hours after his arrest a Pontiac man was sentencel to from four to five years in prison for the theft of an automobile. Isn't that something of a record for justice across the border?

Report from Edmonton says that the first snow of the season has been seen there. If Edmonton desires to make itself popular with this section of the country it will do what it can to halt the movement right there.
