EDITORIAL NOTES

"Experience Shows Place for Corporal Punishment," says the heading of a Telegram editorial. Yes, but in the schools it's usually given on the hands. In earlier days, in Grey County, we had schoolmasters who delighted to inflict it on an entirely different portion of the anatomy.

Japan, from being an importer of bicycles, are now exporting wheels to the far East nations competing with European and American countries. They are crafty lads these japs, as they try to imitate British makes, stamp their products, "Made in Birmingham," and offer trial vehicles for ten dollars each. Only discarded bone shakers can be bought in Canada at that price.

It is to be regretted that the splendid potato crop this year is being greeted with extremely low prices and potato growers are being faced with a real problem. The price of potatoes at the present time does not pay for the trouble of harvesting them and no doubt thousands of bags of potatoes will be used for pig feed, a useful outlet for the surplus crop.

With the retirement of W. D. Henry, K.C., as Crown Attorney of Grey it is reported that other officials of the County are scheduled for discard. This is an especially trying time for those who considered their public office a sure thing for some years to come. Whether or not a public man is carrying on his public work in a capable manner he is retired to make way for a purely party appointment.

Electors in town and country are soon to be called on to select municipal representatives for the ensuing year. The taxpayer cannot be too careful in looking out for men endowed with a hard, useful core of common sense. They will do well to look well into the records of candidates, whether asking for re-election or for first trials.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, having returned to his duties in Great Britain entertained Rt. Hon MacKenzie King at the Chequers, the official residence of the government leader. It is interesting to learn that the health of the British Premier was greatly improved by his recent sojourn on the seaboards of Canada and Newfoundland, and that the Canadian Liberal leader has found a most agreeable sojourn among old friends in Britain. Mr. King recently had the honor of dining with His Majesty.

The home in California of the Canadian man Vermilyea, being extradited to stand trial on a charge of murdering his mother, has been wrecked by souvenir hunters. This is no new experience. The morbidly curious are always around when it is possible, by hook or by crook, to steal curiosities. At Ottawa the officers in charge of the governor-general's office and of the Privy Council Chamber in the same block, have to watch visitors (especially those from over the border) or soon there would not be a pen left in the premises, so anxious are many tourists to carry off writing gear, in the hope that they may acquire some pen holder that has been used by the representative of the King or the Prime Minister of the Dominion.

PARKING IDEAS WANTED

Canada's combined parking problem is a serious matter and the big cities have the worst of it. Toronto, for instance, has more than 100,000 passenger cars and at certain hours of the day they all seem to congregate on Bay Street or other downtown thoroughfares. To alleviate the resulting congestion the civic authorities are at their wits end. A proposal to prohibit all parking in the congested area was thrown out, and so was a plan advanced by the Mayor to build municipal parking stations. Both ideas, however, will be reconsidered. Other large cities in Canada confront a similar problem—one which probably will be solved in a simple manner before long.

We thought we had quite a number of subscribers in arrears but the amount owing this office faded to insignificance when we read that there are more people owing allegiance to the British Empire.

Shantyman's Supper

A shantyman's supper, will be held under the auspices of Maxwell United church W. A., on Friday, October 26. A play entitled, "The red headed stepchild" will be presented by Maxwell Dramatic Club. Supper served from 6 to 8. Admission: 35 and 20 cents.

RALPH PERKINS grows potatoes, celery, onions, carrots and other truck crops. He uses his telephone to keep in daily touch with stores and nearby markets and also to obtain prices at more distant points. He says he gets better prices for his produce by thus shopping around.

No Monday Holiday Will Mark Armistice

Remembrance Day falling this year on Sunday, November 11, will be celebrated on that day so far as the department of the Secretary of State is concerned.

In the case of statutory holidays falling on Sunday the revision is made that the following Monday will be observed for business purposes.

Remembrance Day does not fall into that category. Celebration of the armistice ending the Great War is the feature of Remembrance Day, and the incidence of its falling on Sunday does not detract but rather adds, in the opinion of state department officials, to the fitness of the day for such observance.

Any departure from the provisions in order to provide a business holiday on the following Monday will be a matter for local ruling.

In Hamilton court a man was sent to jail for two months for stealing apples, and we expect the Spies told on him.
