HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

Hair Renewer.

Seldom does a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps the dandruff away, and makes the hair grow rich and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy gloss, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.

A WINTER NIGHT.

[illegible] "Miss Thistledown, aged three, would show the Americans how easily the British Lion was led," etc.

When the time arrived for this performance, Alison entered the ring for the first time as the Lion Queen.

She led in a huge, sleepy-looking lion, who was guided with a silken cord by a wee thing dressed as the Grand Old Man, a woodman's axe in hand, and a miniature tree over its shoulder.

The figure wore pepper-and-salt trousers, white shirt, and a pair of slippers, and bore a mimic head which was a splendid likeness to the Grand Old Man.

After going round to slow music, the lion lay down, and the child jumped off its back, lifted off the mask, threw off her outer clothes, and stood confessed a perfect fairy prince in a scaly suit of silver mail.

After the performance, which elicited a storm of applause, the child stood alone, bowing prettily and kissing the tips of her fingers.

The music ceased, and the child was about to bound away, when a man rose up with a heart-yearning cry of:

"Little Ally!"

"Papa, papa, papa!" cried the mite, flying to the spot whence the sound proceeded, and was clasped to her father's heart, his tears running down on her little pale face, while the audience rose to a man, looking on in silent amazement.

"There may be a scene, sir; make for the main entrance. I'll go before, my friend behind you. Now rush, or we shall be mobbed."

How Pierce got through the crowd he never knew. Outside they were stopped by a policeman, who, after talking to the detectives, allowed them to jump into a carriage which was waiting with Dorothy inside.

She took the tiny, quaintly-dressed child to her heart, and cried over it quietly, while, for the first and last time in his life, Pierce Penfold fainted away.

Inside the circus all was confusion; the people wouldn't have the scene explained, so old Lee, a fine-looking old man, came to the front and gave his own version of the affair, which was that it was all a part of the performance, a dramatic situation to interest the public in the clever little actress, etc.

But the old man looked anxious when he left the ring and found his daughter raving like a madwoman at the loss of her child.

After this Alison fretted herself into a fever, and her old father grieved over her as over the most dutiful and virtuous daughter the world contained.

Thanks to his nursing, she came back to life, a different woman though, broken in health and spirit, with but a ghost of her old superb beauty.

Pierce lost no time in returning to England and taking possession of the Gower estates; but poor faithful Jem did not return with them.

At the last moment he wrote to say he had gone with his relative, the Lord, to tend the horses.

Pierce sighed, and said:

"Poor Jem, he may as well sell his soul to the devil as to follow that image of a woman in hope of any reward. Well, I'll send him a handsome cheque, he deserves it for faithful service to me."

For once Pierce reasoned wrongly. After years of devoted drudgery to Lord Lee, leaving Alison to Jem's care, and she, feeling lonely, took pity on the faithful fellow and married him.

She made him a better wife than many a more virtuous woman, and, when strong children were born to her, loved her husband, and helped to make the circus a greater success than ever.

Years have passed, and it is Christmas again, and the world is white about Castle Gower, a beautiful place on the summit of a wooded hill.

Inside the grand old house all is mirth and revelry; a stately lady stands, the center of a rosy group of beautiful children, her handsome husband leaning over her, and by her side a slight dark-eyed maiden who calls her "mother" with as true affection as her brothers and sisters.

Pierce Penfold kissed his wife under a bough of mistletoe, and tells his guests, among whom Dr. and Mrs. Steel are the most honored, that Dorothy is a priceless treasure that he once FOUND IN A SNOW-DRIFT.

THE END.

Holloway's Pills.

Enfeebled Existence. This medicine embraces every attribute required in a general and domestic remedy; it overturns the fountain of disease laid by defective food and impure air. In obstructions or congestions of the liver, lungs, bowels, or any other organs these Pills are especially serviceable and eminently successful. They should be kept in readiness in every family as they are a medicine without a fault for young persons and those of feeble constitution. They never cause pain, or irritate the most sensitive nerves, or most tender bowels. Holloway's Pills are the best known purifiers of the blood, and the best promoters of absorption and secretion and remove all poisonous and obnoxious particles from both solids and fluids.

Miscellaneous.

Autumn Alligator-Hunting.

The men who hunt alligators for their hides and teeth are now reaping a rich harvest. The hunters receive $1 apiece for all hides four feet long and upward.

Two young men killed fifty alligators in one week recently in this neighborhood. They begin hunting as soon as it becomes thoroughly dark. Their hunting outfit consists of a bull's-eye lantern, in camp language called "look 'em up," a double-barreled shotgun, or "kill 'em sure," and a hatchet, with which they split the alligator's skull, to which they give the very expressive name of "dynamite." The man who is to do the shooting for the night fastens the lantern to his forehead, and takes his place in the bow of a small boat. His partner paddles the boat cautiously along the stream, while the man in the bow keeps a sharp lookout for alligators' eyes, which, under favorable circumstances, he can "shine" with his lantern at a distance of 200 yards. As soon as they discover a pair of eyes they paddle cautiously up to within a couple of feet of the alligator's head and discharge a load of buckshot into it. As soon as the shot is fired the paddler catches the alligator by the jaws, which he holds together with one hand while he cleaves the skull open with his hatchet.

Sometimes the alligators retain considerable power of action. When such is the case it is rather exciting work getting them into the boat. Sometimes very large alligators turn the boat over. If an alligator is not handled at once after being wounded, he sinks to the bottom and is lost.

I asked one of the hunters, who has killed more than 1,000 alligators, what was the size of the largest one he ever killed, and he told me 13½ feet long. He said that his father killed one on the St. John's River 17½ feet long, the head of which, when placed in a flour barrel, projected two inches over the top. He sold it to a museum for $75.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Abraham Thomas, of England, recently went to Indian Territory and married an Indian girl worth $100,000. That, under Indian laws, makes him a full-blooded member of that tribe, but does not give him any control of the property.

Figures are wonderful things. Here is a sample of what can be done with them. By placing one grain of corn on the first square of a chess board, doubling the number of grains for each succeeding square, the quantity of corn required for the whole board of sixty-four squares would fill 1,844,674 barns, each holding 1,000,000 bushels of 700,000 grains each. Bushels round numbers. If the United States grows 1,800,000,000 bushels each year, it would require a little over 400 years to make enough.

A Wise Conclusion.

If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

A Fair Exchange.

Will you exchange a chronic case of dyspepsia or agree to break up a bilious Temperament—to give your torpid liver activity, and thus strengthen your digestion, regain energy, comfort, health and spirits, all for 75c? A single bottle of ZO PE SA will do this. A few doses surprise those who try it. For Biliousness, Dyspepsia, the Stomach, the Blood and Brain, Zopesa is a panacea, and is warranted to cure them. It acts upon the Stomach and Liver. Try a 10 cent sample. H. Skinner.

Everybody should keep such a thing as ZO PE SA in the house and by regulating the Bowels and System, keep away headache, heartache, dejection, indigestion. Zopesa invigorates the Liver, makes the family happy by making health.

A Valuable Parent.

The most valuable discovery patented in modern times is that of the best blood purifier and liver and kidney regulator known. We refer to Burdock Blood Bitters, which is making so many wonderful cures and bringing the blessed boon of health to so many homes.

A Cure.

To all who are suffering from errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send recipe that will cure you. FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send self-addressed envelope to Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D., New York.

Seriously Ill.

A person suffering with pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak weary feeling and frequent headaches, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

Nothing Succeeds

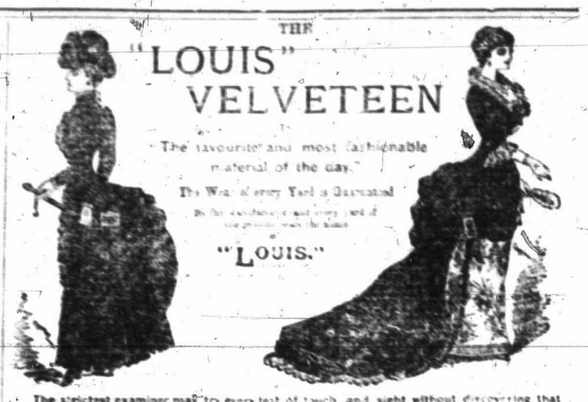
like success, is as true in medicine as in anything else. By the wonderful effect of Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure in promptly alleviating the sufferings experienced in kidney troubles and producing a permanent cure in these distressing ailments, his fame has been carried over the four quarters of the globe.

The question whether young women shall pursue the same line of studies as their brothers seems to find its chief objection in their different physical constitution. Arguments on this subject are finely handled on both sides; but the perfect adaptation of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the cure of ailments attending the feminine organism, needs no arguments; its works are its proof.

L. J. Denike, of Cressy, has moved to Picton.

THE

"LOUIS" VELVETEEN



"The favourite and most fashionable material of the day."

The Wear of every Yard is Guaranteed in the confidence and every yard of the genuine may be known by the stamp

"LOUIS."

The strictest examiner may try every test of touch and sight without discovering that these are other than the Genoa Velvets which they so closely resemble, while the peculiar arrangements resulting in the fast woven pile enable them to stand even more severe and rough wear, which would ruin real velvets at four times the price. For Costumes and Trimmings it is unequalled, and in fact for all purposes in which Silk Velvet may be used we specially recommend the "LOUIS" VELVETEEN.

LOUIS VELVETEEN. FOR HOUSE DECORATIONS & UPHOLSTERY THE LOUIS VELVETEEN Is most effectual, both on account of its durability and beautiful appearance, and is admirably suited for Curtains, Table Covers, Screens, Sofa Cushions, and for covering Bookshelves, Brackets, &c., &c. For NEEDLEWORK the Velveteen offers great advantages, as it can be procured in so many shades, and is easier to work upon than rich velvet, and durable. The LOUIS VELVETEEN offers a most useful material, artistically decorating at little cost.

Every yard of the genuine bears the name LOUIS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC !

Before buying your Moccasins, Rubbers or Overshoes, or warm house shoes, give me a call, for I keep the very best that is made in this country.

Call and examine my Gaiter Moccasin, elastic sides. You will have no bother with long cords tied around your ankles, and they are as cheap as the common moccasin.

Don't forget the place:

THE

CELEBRATED COOK'S FRIEND BAKING POWDER.

Is a Pure Fruit ACID POWDER

It contains neither alum, lime, nor ammonia and may be used by the most delicate constitutions with perfect safety. Its great success arising from its being intrinsically THE BEST VALUE IN THE MARKET, as well as thoroughly adapted to the wants of the kitchen, has excited envious imitations of its name and appearance. Beware of such.

No addition to or variation from the simple name:

COOK'S FRIEND

IS GENUINE.
