And see her loving smile,
The one that would our hearts still cheer
But we must wait awhile.
Some time, some day, our eyes shall see
The face we loved so well.
Some time, some day, we'l clasp her hand
And never say farewell.
Sadly missed by her loved ones.

PROTON STATION

On Thursday night of last week the Proton Station hockey team suffered a humiliating defeat in the third game of the final series of the Semi-Pro League with Flesherton, with the worthless end of a 4-0 score. Monday night the tables were turned and Proton won 4-1, thereby winning the coveted cup in three games out of four, with eight scoring points to the good. A fine team spirit exists among the Proton Station boys and we feel sure they are sports worthy of the trophy. Congratulations. The Proton boys report that the Flesherton boys were good losers.

Saturday afternoon an enthusiastic hockey team came from Dundalk to Proton Station for a game with the local team on their open air rink. But alas for outside ice, where February sun is doing its best, the ice just went to pieces. ### MISS MACPHAIL'S LETTER

(Wiarton Echo)

Several of our readers remarked to us last week that they were glad that Agnes MacPhail's letters were in the Echo again. We are not in Miss MacPhails riding and so are not entitled to her weekly letters, but we read them in some of our exchanges and wrote asking that we might be favored with them, and she very kindly complied, and now we are on her regular mailing list. We find it much easier to read her summary of the week's news than to peruse Hansard. We may not always agree wth her, but at least her summary of the Federal members is refreshing. Like many other she cannot swallow the sudden activity of the Prime Minister, who has made such a right about face in the principles of the Conservative Party. It savors too much of before-the-election propaganda. On the other hand, it has certainly been a bombshell to MacKenzie King, who believed that his party was sitting pretty and ready to step up without much effort. No wonder Agnes is enjoying the situation.

Apparently the pepper pool in England is making it hot for some of the operators.

Man from Toronto faces a charge that he induced a farmer to cash insurance policies in order to purchase mining stock. We must be moving ahead a little because there was a time when a man could do that and be regarded as being pretty smart.
