NEXT MONDAY'S CELEBRATION

Canadians gererally will celebrate the Silver Jubilee of the King, in company with the people of the Motherland and the Empire, Monday next. Many places will have special celebrations, and the proceedings in London will be universally broadcast by radio, Canada joining with a Dominion program sent out from the capital. On Sunday, the preachers will have their innings, and worshippers will be led by choirs in appropriate music. Here's hoping the weather will be favorable, and sincerely trusting that their Illustrious Majesties may have many more years of domestic happiness and useful public service. They have worthily won the affection of the people at home and abroad and been true leaders in all good works and by their example.

A COMING ANNIVERSARY

On Monday evening, June 10th, the national and official observance of the tenth anniversary of the United Church of Canada will take place in the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. His Excellency the Governor-General will attend, a choir of two thousand voices will lead in the praise and provide memorable musical features, the Moderator will speak, a "Cavalcade of Union" will afford vivid musical and dramatic pictures of the story of the United Church of Canada during its first ten years, and in every detail this will be one of the historic occasions in the Church's life.

Admission will be by tickets. For those outside of Toronto, who are able to attend, these tickets will be sent. an application to "The tenth Anniversary Committee, 105 Bernard Ave., Toronto." While the quota assigned lasts, these tickets will be sent free of charge, but in any case applications must be in hand by the 15th of May. Those of our readers who attended the immense gathering of the Church in the unique celebration ten years ago, will remember its great success. The anniversary which takes place, while the Toronto Conference is in session, promises to be equally noteworthy. Tickets should be obtained early, therefore.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The British Minister of Labour has refused presents to United States brass bands, who wanted to tour the old country this year. This is another bout in the game of tit-for-tat set on foot over our border. Some months since, when the United States Department of Labour vetoed British bands from performing in that country. Thus is notconation in music promoted. To-day we have the two countries banning each other's musicians, to morrow each others music may be prohibited. Then what will the proletariat do for jazz poor things?

While wilful fire raising still continues to be a crime, there are reports this week of big losses through fire resulting from spontaneous combustion. This is a good season of the year to ascertain if there are any oily rags or filthy cloths lying around your house cellar or other premises and have them immediately removed. By the way, are you ever tempted to throw a supposed-to-be spent match on a floor carpet or into a waste basket? There is much loss by fires every year caused by carelessness.

Three cheers for the North Bay preacher who, two weeks ago, prophesied that study of the sky had enabled him to foretell an abundance of rain this week. What a boon the rainfall has been! The dry weather prophet of the Fergus paper has lost in the first lap, his prediction being a period of great drought throughout the summer. We trust our genial editorial friend will be proved mistaken and that he will continue to have water enough in his adjouning flowing stream to enable him to have his periodical bath with the utmost enjoyment.

GREY REGIMENT WINS CUP

Large Number Attended Funeral of G. C. Graham

EUGENIA

The neighborheed was shocked to hear of the untimely death of Mr. Gordon Cardwell Graham, on Monday morning, April 22nd, 1935 after a week's illness of pleuro-pneumonia. The late Mr. Graham who was born in Kimberley in 1883 and was in his 52nd year. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Graham. His father predeceased him three weeks ago. For a number of years Cardwell worked at the brick laying after which he and his brother Bert purchased the store in Eugenia from Hill and Co. and operated it under the name of Graham Bros. They also had a chopping mill and saw mill in connection with the store business. Four years ago the store burned and the following year it was rebuilt along with a fine residence and the business successfully carried on by the late Mr. Graham and his wife who was formerly Miss Lilly Campbell of this community.

The late Mr. Graham was a very highly esteemed resident of the vill- and will be greatly missed. He was a kind neighbor and friend and pleasing disposition which won for him many friends. He was once a member of the L.O.L. but not recently. During his short illness he was tenderly cared for by his loving wife, nurse and doctor. All that could be done was done and death conquered all and on Easter Monday morn at opening of day, a voice was calling that seemed to say,—

" Ye who are weary come and rest,
Lay down your head upon my breast,
Come follow me and I will guide
Thy footsteps on the Jordan side,
Our loved one heard the sweet command and gently took the Saviours Hand."

The funeral under the directions of Mr. E. J. Bennett of Flesherton was held on Wednesday afternoon, April 24. The remains were taken to the United Church. Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. Bushell, Rev. Mr. Scott pastor of Flesherton United Church officiated at the church and grave. He chose the sixth chap. of Romans as Scripture reading and took as his text the last verse of the chapter, "For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is Eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord." He spoke on the numerous gifts of God, at the great outdoors where all nature has dependence on God. In droughts and famines, we realize how much we depend on God. The outstanding gift of God is Eternal Life which isn't anything we can buy. Believing the resurrection story and pondering upon what Easter means, the great Christian thought is "In the midst of death we are in life." The question of immortality is bound to come up in the Easter story. Three things God has done for us: first confirmed the hope of immortality. The desciples witnessed the rising of Jesus which proved that there is a love of God that will not let us go and makes us feel that reality of life beyond the yrave; second, enriched our thought of immortality, He has made us feel that there is life beyond full of joy, hope, gladness and peace; third enhanced our power of immortality; our hopes urge us to achieve something. Believe in all things that God says and accept the burdens life imposes and all will be right with you. Mr. Scott spoke highly of the deceased although not intimately acquainted with him but had heard some very fine remarks by those who knew him. The hymns "Jesus loves my soul" and "Forever with the Lord" were sung. The choir sang "Nearer, still nearer." The church was filled to capacity with friends who came to pay their last respects and all reverently filed by the casket to have a farewell look. The remains were taken to Flesherton cemetery and interment took place in the family plot there.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Russell McMullen, Harry Foester, Russell Park Ernie Proctor, Fred Plantt and Chas. Williams.

The flower bearers were all nieces: Loreen and Vilda Graham, Helen Graham, Melrose and Bernice Campbell, Phyllis Graham, Odessa Hoggard.

The floral tributes were beautiful, silently expressing sympathy and devotion: pillow from his wife, brothers, spray, friends and neighbors spray. Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Weber and family, spray, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Widdifield and Miss Melrose Campbell, spray, Mrs. E. J. Elllis, Bessie Ellis, Martha Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker. Spray. Mr. and Mrs. Russell McMullen, spray Mrs. H. Foester, spray Mr. and Mrs. F. Pinder, bouquet, Loreen and Vilda Graham, spray Mr. and Mrs. C. Martin, wreath, The National Grocers, wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Williams.

Ellis, Miss Bessie and Miss Martha Ellis of Orangeville, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Graham and family of Vandeleur, Mr. and Mrs. Ran Brady, Cherry Grove, Miss E. Horticultural Notes

(By John F. Clark)

Garden roses should not be set out if soil is cold and muddy. Prunning is in order, cutting all dead wood from climbers. Hybrid Perpetuals when pruned low will give large exhibition blooms. Well rotted manure may be lightly cultivated into the soil about rose bushes.

The burning of all rubbish cleaned out of the garden, dead weeds, old foliage from pernnials, rose and fruit tree prunings is highly advisable to assist in control of garden pests and diseases.

All plants wintered in coldframes, pansies, roses, bulbs, perennials and rock plants, should be uncovered. Remove protection on a cloudy day.

Plant Tuberous Begonias in a box of soil lightened with leaf mould and sand. The side of tuber showing irregular cavity is the top. Plant just barely below the surface. Shade boxes from strong light.

It will be beneficial to bed of ferns and wild flowers to leave most of the rotting foliage of the past season on the ground to serve as a natural mulch.

It seems that the custom was bound to spread. A while ago a Royal Scot, paid a visit to this country, and now another is coming to be the Governor-General.

It may be all right to speak of regulating business, but there are a number of people who would like to see a larger voume on which to experiment with the new system.
