BY-AND-BY.

Be quiet, restless heart! The long light lies
In gleams of lingering sunight on the hill;
The home-bound swallow, twittering as he flies,
Makes silence seem more still!

The shadows deeper grow, and in the woods
The air a latent sweetness holds in fee;
An odour faint of yet unblossomed buds—
So like, dear heart, to thee!

Far distant in the soft, cerulean deep,
Where the horizon bounds the nether world,
Great ships lie becalmed, like brooding birds asleep,
Lie with white sails loose unfurled.

In peace the day is ended, and the night
Falleth as does a veil upon the sea;
Along its bosom come with swifted-winged flight,
The grey mists silently.

O, anxious heart, how nature speaks! Her power
How leisurely she uses! How intense
The infinite peace of her most fruitful hour!
How soft her influence!

Time hath she for her storms to sweep the main;
To rock the tree-tops with her winds of wrath;
To bring forth fragrance in the summer rain,
And time for snow she hath!

So, dear, for all thy eager soul desires,
She keeps sweet times and seasons. In her mood,
Is hid for the all passion's subtle fires
To round thy womanhood.

Cease, then! and in this dewy twilight move
As one who asks not whither, cares not why!
This gift for all holds still the Eternal Love—
God's endless by-and-by.

ILLUSTRIOUS CANADIANS.

AN EXPERT IN TERATOLOGY EXAMINES THE CANADIAN TWINS IN A HOSPITAL CLINIC.

(Philadelphia Times.)

The St. Benoit twins arrived late on Saturday from Canada, via Boston, and at once were taken by their mothers and fathers, escorted by Dr. J. V. Shoemaker, of this city, to the surgical class at the Philadelphia Hospital. Here Professor Pancoast was operating in the presence of some five hundred students and a crowd of doctors, who had gotten wind of the intended examination of the twins.

THE TWINS ON THE TABLE.

Professor Pancoast put the twin baby on the table. It appeared to be two babies, joined together at the base of the trunk, with, however, but two legs, two heads, two separate intelligences and four arms. The professor made a few introductory remarks on teratology, and referred briefly to the formation of the Siamese and Carolina twins. The parents are French Canadians, speaking no English, and the mother appeared quite frightened by the large audience. Professor Pancoast, however, calmed her anxiety, and then he went on. He called attention to the fact that though the children were called a monstrosity they were really two pretty female infants, united at the hips, and that there was nothing repellant in their appearance. He took the ground that they were two entities, two separate brains or intelligences. The one on the left of the observer, Rose, was hearty and strong, while that on the right, Marie, was not quite so robust. She was fretful from teething, while Rose was bright, smiling, and happy.

THE PROFESSOR TALKS ABOUT THEM.

Rose and Marie are the names of this wonderfully close-jointed pair of sisters that can never know separation. Rose-Mary would be the name for them taken as one. A toy was handed Mary; she smiled, took it and played with it. Rose reached out her baby hand, got the toy and also smiled and chuckled. Professor Pancoast then proceeded to show that the children are separate down to the edge of the ribs, with separate heads, separate arms, two to each, and separate hearts. At the breastbone the bodies are fairly united, but the rest of the organs are common to both. There is but one naval, and the buttocks are united, terminating on each side with a well-formed leg, one for each of the joined twins. Rose's leg is a very little fatter than the one belonging to Marie, but both are of equal length and perfectly formed. The professor continued to explain to the highly interested class that, while the head, arms, and thorax, with its contents, were separate, it was probable that the intestinal canal was joined together, as there was but one anus, and that in all probability the bladder and womb are more or less united, as they had but one common genitalia. In the science of diplotheratology the St. Benoit twins would come under the first order of terata saladidyma, which means a subject with more or less separation of the brain and spinal cord. The genus is that in which they are united at the abdomen and pelvis—technically, Ischiobagus Symenetus, and the species the three footed or Tripus; and as the body had a union apparently and the ends of the sternum it should also be called an Xyphodidymul.

OTHER KNOWN CASES.

Having fully explained the peculiar formation the lecturer said that he possessed the skeleton of a similar specimen, which he now had in the anatomical museum of Jefferson Medical College. It is very complete and perfect. Another specimen, reported by Professor Horner, is in the museum of the Pennsylvania University, but that the pair then before him were the only ones that ever came into the world alive, and that their chances of living are quite as good as those of children of the same age.

Having concluded the speaker proceeded to take measures for the relief of Marie's part of Rose-Mary, which was suffering from cutting teeth. As he believes in lancing, so as to take away the tension of the inflammed and swollen gums, which so often, by resistance and irritation of the inflamed nerves, throw children into convulsions, with other serious consequences following, he would proceed to operate if the mother would allow him. The parent hesitated, but presently consented, and while Dr. Shoemaker held the head of the Marie part the professor used the lance and exposed the baby-teeth trying to push their way to exposure. Rose was not affected in the least, but continued to play with her toy, and directly Marie's head was released she ceased fretting, and showed a disposition to take a hand in the game with her other half.

POLITICAL.

—Hon. Mr. Mowat is to open the Local election campaign in Oxford this week.

—Hon. Dr. Tupper, Minister of Public Works, was re-elected to-day for Cumberland.

—Hon. Jas. McDonald, Minister of Justice, was re-elected for Pictou, both by acclamation.

—A protest has been promptly filed in Toronto against the "Nation's Pride" of Lincoln.

—Hon. Mr. Mackenzie left for Montreal on Saturday. He will be the guest of Hon. L.H. Holton.

—No opposition is offered to the re-election of the Minister of Customs in North Hastings.

—The Hon. John O'Conner was elected by acclamation for Russell. The nomination took place at Duncanville.

—A protest against the return of Mr. Christie, M. P., Argenteuil, has been entered on account of bribery and corruption.

—The Montreal Gazette speaks of a leader whose tact and coolness "loaned" to his men a feeling of confidence.

Railroad Signals.

Notwithstanding the fact that so many people travel about in the cars, few are acquainted wtih the whistles and signals which regulate the movements of the trains. It sometimes happens it is very important to know them. The following is the signification of those most commonly used.

One whistle—'Down brakes.'
Two whistles—'Off brakes.'
Three whistles—'Back up.'
Continuous whistling—'Danger.'

A rapid succession of short whistles is the cattle alarm, at which the brakes will always be put down.

A lantern raised and lowered vertically is a signal for 'starting,' swung at a right angle or crosswise the track, to 'stop;' swung in a circle, to 'back the train.

A red flag waved over the track must be regarded as a signal of danger. So of other signals given with energy.

Hoisted at a station, is a signal for trains to 'stop.'

Stuck up by the roadside is a signal of danger on the track ahead.

Carried on an engine, a train is on the track.

Trowbridge, March 2nd, 1878.

Messrs. Milburn, Bentley & Pearson,—Gentlemen,—About the first of November last I contracted a very heavy cold, which settled on my lungs, and through it I was so hoarse for about two months that I could hardly speak. I used a number of different dollar bottles without any good effect. One day reading your almanac, I noticed that Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam was recommended. I resolved to try it, and after using three 25 cent bottles was entirely well.

Yours truly. CHAS. COSENS, P.M.
