

High School students apply their skills to a practical design project

In honour of The New Tanner's 20th Anniversary Year.

Students from Acton High School's Grade 11/12 Technological Design class took part in a practical design project by designing a new logo for the newspaper. Mr Tew's students were given only basic criteria for the project and the results were a wide variety of designs. The winning entry by Alexis Brown is now featured on the front page. - Submitted photos
