OUR HAPPY BENEDICT

We have in Flesherton a budding poet who thus sets forth the joy he feels in this health resort:—

Enough to eat, enough to wear,
Health and conscience free from care,
A place to curl in at night,
And a friend or two to treat me white.
A wife and kiddies waiting where
The dear old radio enlivens the air.
A little place where Love is king,
Where sweet lips kiss and soft arms cling—
That's my Flesherton home; yes,
My Flesherton home.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Many towns and villages will not be celebrating the King's birthday on June 23rd, on account of its proximity to July 1st, Canada's National holiday. Each year in Canada we observe May 24th as a national holiday in honor of the birthday of Queen Victoria. This day could be set aside, not only to commemorate the birthday of the good Queen, but also as the birthday of all the reigning British sovereigns whoever they may be. It would not show any disrespect to any Monarch to have the holiday time so set.

Since we drew attention of the Artemesia Council, in our last issue, to the dilapidated condition of the road between the six Corners and the townline of Artemesia and Proton, we have received commendations for the article from residents of that locality. One farmer stated that there had not been a member of the Council elected from that section for a number of years and the road did not receive the attention to keep it fit for motor traffic. If the farm owners from that locality would present a petition to the Council it might have the needed effect of promoting action. To have a road fit to travel over to their nearest market is a right to which all famers are entitled.
