THE KING ON HOLIDAY

King Edward may not remain for as long a period annually in the Royal home in the Scottish highlnnds, established by his beloved great grandmother, but he is making arrangements for continuance of Royal holidaying at Balmoral and is expected there as early as next month. The King, however, may appear less in the hunting field and more on the golf course, and the Aberdonians, who have fine greens within easy distance of the royal home, are hoping he may see fit to honor them by appearing on at least one of their links. Then it is contemplated to have the Duke and Duchess of York and their dainty daughters take up house for a time at Balmoral, so that the Duchess may, this year, officiate as hostess on state occasions. Mayhap before another fall season arrives the King may have a wife of his own to officiate. But in the absence of a Queen Consort no one is better fitted to act as His Majesty's "right hand supporter' than the charming sister-in-law.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The committee of management for the re-union of old boys and girls in Flesherton and district, to be held at "the Hub" on Civic Holiday (beginning on Sunday, August 2nd, and climaxing the following day) are arranging a program of much interest. From far and near will doubtless come the young and old to participate in the unique gathering.

Italian civilization continues its progress in Abyssinia. Recently an aeroplane went out from the capital on a scouting expedition. It was forced down and the five occupants slaughtered by natives. This was proof in Italian eyes that this unfortunate people had not completed the process which their idea of civilization embraced, so they proceeded to burn 300 natives alive. This ought to complete the work—at least so far as this 300 are concerned. What a howling farce Italy has made of its own civilization. Italy. the mother home of a great religion that believes it her duty to bring nations under the banner of the cross. Had the church desired there is no doubt that she could have prevented this murder, which stinks in the nostrils of the whole world of right thinking men. Sanctions against this robber nation should never have been lifted. and honest nations should continue the boycott of Italian trade. The rest of the world can exist without her while she is controlled by her mad dictator.

"Years ago a man could afford to loll around and wait for business, but those days are gone. If you want to stay in the race you must be up and doing," is the considered opinion of an exchange. And it's right.

CENTRE LINE

Here we are again, and still no rain. The pasture and spring crops are nearly burnt up. The water supply is getting low. It is quite cool and clowdy this morning.

Every one is busy at the hay, which is a better crop than people thought it was going to be. The raspberries are drying up for want of rain; at one time there was prospects of a great crop of berries.

Nearly every one from this line attended the Orange celebration at Dundalk last Monday in spite of heat and dust. There was a very large crowd and lots of amusement.

Miss Dorothy Jamieson of Toronto is spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mrs. Florence Lyons.

Osprey Resident Dies

FEVERSHAM

A very sudden death occurred near here on Friday, July 17th, of an old resident of this Township and for some years of this village, Mr. Samuel Ottewell. who sudden death caused a great shock over this locality. Mr. Ottewell was helping a nephew at the hay, when they were unloading a load at the barn when he suddenly fell over and expired, it is supposed from heart failure. Mr. Ottewell was a native of this township and had lived in this village for some years. He leaves to mourn his loss, two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Mathews of Clarksburg (Lillian), and Mrs. Mitchell (Edith) of Collingwood, two brothers and three sisters. The sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to the bereaved ones.

The Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Conron of Burford and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davidson of Collingwood were week end visitors with Mrs. A. J. Conron, Mrs. Davidson's mother.

SWINTON PARK

A great change in temperature has taken place. The cool days are helping, yet those longed-for showers have not come our way and crops are suffering greatly. Some have finished haying, others have yet a lot to do, and we notice it turning ripe standing in the fields, which will take much from the feedng qualities. The straw will be very short this season; eveni with rain now it is too late for much growth.

Everyone is busy! Who wants work? Some have been trying to get on the highway work, but none have as yet been taken on. The municipal crusher is in Black's pit at Salem and trucks are hauling eastward from there.

The Campbell Construction Co., who brought a number of horses to their farm here in the spring, are now trucking them away to a contract they have secured near Kingston. The horses are looking much better after their two months on pasture.

Tuesday evening of last week a joint reception was tendered by the community to the newly wedded couples, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Ferris and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knox. An address was read by Mrs. Delbert Haw and Fred and Addie were presented with a Coleman lamp and occasional chairs by Gordon McLeod and Delbert Haw. Mrs. Walter Knox read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Ferris and the presentation of a beautiful rug and occasional chair was made by Dick Hardy and Walter Knox. The groom fittingly thanked the community for their kindness. The evening was spent in dancing and lunch was served. Some took a dip in the pond and everyone enjoyed themselves.

Sunday last was memorial day in Salem United Cemetery. There was a very good attendance and the graves were nicely decorated with flowers.

On the first Sunday in August Communion services will be conducted in Swinton church by the pastor, Rev. N. McDonald at 3 p.m.

Mr. Wesley Heard of Detroit is this week on holidays at the old home here with his mother and brother and also renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Tresidder and daughters are on a motor trip to Orillia to visit with friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hardy and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knox spent Sunday with friends in Osprey.

Nurse Ethel Campbell of Toronto, with her aunt, Mrs. Turnbull, and cousin, Isabella, of Vancouver spent the week end at Sam Goheen's, and all were at Swinton church on Sunday.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of our old friend, Mr. Ramage, of the Durham Review. Death in this case was only a promotion.

No person should envy a Weed Inspecor. His duties bring him into conflict with all classes of people, some of whom must be personal friends. if not relatives of his own. But as Lord Nelson said at Trafalgar, "Duty must be done."

Care Will Save Money

Farmers sustain enormous losses, each year, through careless methods of shipping livestock by train and truck. Experienced shippers recommend that all cattle be dehorned, that each class of stock be separated by partitions. that loading-chutes be used and that all spikes, and slivers, etc., be removed from cars and trucks.

The people who really have money to burn are certainly not the ones who burn it.
