Pleasant Quebec Trip For Editor's Party

Ye senior editor returned last week from a most delightful holiday trip to Montreal and Ottawa, with side trips to St. Agatha, in the Laurentians, 65 miles north of Canada's largest city; St. Lambert airport, and Cauyhnawaga. The party consisted of Mr. W. H. Thurston and wife, daughter Miss Dell Thurston, and grandson, Master Jimmy Thurston. The trip down the Montreal along the St. Lawrence river, is so well known that a description would be superfluous, so we will confine it to a few incidents along the way. To escape the city of Toronto, we turned east at Brampton and followed the government highway through Markham and Brougham to Brooklin, where we called on our old hunting companion, Joey Hodgson, whom we had not seen for twelve years. Here we turned south to Whitby where we made contact with the No. 2 highway. At Ottawa we called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster and his charming wife, formerly Miss Kathleen Hutchinson of Kimberley. At Newcastle we dropped in on a former bank manager in Flesherton, Mr. T. C. Batty and found him very busy but continuing to wear his old time smile. The first night out was spent in Kingston, where we found Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapple of Flesherton public school, also Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merriam, formerly of Flesherton, now of Thornbury. Both of the gentlemen are plugging at university on a special course. Both of these good people gave us a happy interlude to our trip. In the morning we did some sight seeing, including a visit to the big penal institution, which was been so much in the lime light during the past few years. The prison walls are very imposing, but we had no desire to get past them. We then drove up to the historical old fort and through an open gateway, but were invited by a guard to turn about and go out. It was evidently sacred ground, so we went on our way. We passed Mallory town, where some of our forebearers once lifed after the United States had shipped them out of the country without their possessions. They did not stay there long, however, which we remarked to our party was an undisputable evidence that they belonged to a wise generation. On eastward then through Brockville to Cardinal, where we had luncheon. That afternoon we skirted the river and canals and arrived at our destination in the early evening, where we found our brother, Mr. A. D. Thurston and daughter Ruth, awaiting our arrival on a street corner. How we timed our arrival so that we caught them there is more than our chauffer can explain.

Then followed five days of delightful sight-seeing and visiting. Flesherton has quite a little colony of exresidents in Montreal, and one evening our party had the great pleasure of being entertained at dinner by Miss Carrie Sullivan, at the Business Women's Club, with her sister, Miss Mamie Sullivan, also present, as well as another honored guest, Mrs. W. A. Armstrong. This is among our most pleasant recollections of Montreal. The Misses Sullivan have made good with the Bell Telephone Company and have been highly valued employees for some years. Miss Carrie holds the very responsible position of departmental manager, and Miss Mamie has the position of supervisor. Both girls look as though the atmosphere of Montreal agreed with them. We visited the big St. Hubert airport where we saw the big liner passenger airplane take off for New York.

On Tuesday of last week we mottored along the banks of the Ottawa river to the Dominion capital, where a guide showed us around the parliament buildings. Tuesday night was spent here in congenial surroundings. Wednesday we drove to Peterborough through some very wild and primitive country by No. 7 highway, through Carlton Place, Actinolite, Madoc, Marmora, Havelock and Norwood to Peterboro, here we viewed a world wonder, the lift lock, and other sections of a beautfiul city. Thence we dove to Lindsay, and Thursday we drove to Orillia, Barrie and home, after one of the most delightful holidays it has ever been our privilege to enjoy and without even the smallest unpleasant incident. For a trip embracing the scenic and historical, it cannot be beaten.

On our trip we found crops good around Montreal and Ottawa, where they appear to have had abundance of rain. Lindsay district seemed to have been hit the hardest by the drought.

When it comes to paying extravagant salaries to radio stars the British films are determined not to be over-shadowed by those of the United States. Miss Merle Oberon, the noted beauty, is advertised as receiving $60,000 for her new picture, in addition to an advance "luck penny" of $10,000 cash. The old land caterers to amusement lovers were rather slow in waking up, but they are now paying for the best pictures, and getting them, too.

War veteran pilgrims returning from the great ceremony in which King Edward unveiled the beautiful Vimy memorial, are strong in their testimony that the monument is well worth the million dollars that it cost. The French share is the contribution of several hundred acres of land in the centre of the battleground, which have been declared forever British territory. And well it may be so designated, for under its sacred soil lie the bodies of 60,000 Canadians, the flower of our population, who gave their lives that liberty and justice might be preserved for the world as well as for their homeland.

Hong Kong island authorities have "forbidden girls from appearing in public with bare legs and arms as the first step to protect Chinese morals from the American influence." Now will our summer girls in this much-favored northland be ashamed of the fashion they set to the benighted Chinese.

Once again the British railways are leading in providing, not only reduced fares for holiday travel, but the safest and fastest trains. Despatches inform us te L.M.S. Royal Scot is making the shortest direct journey on record, covering the 401½ miles from Euston to Glasgow in 7½ hours. Then the L.N.E.R. Flying Scotsman has cut 15 minutes off any previous schedule by travelling the 392¼ miles world's longest non-stop run from King's Cross, London, in 7¼ hours. The London to Aberdeen time-table has been cut by 62 minutes on the schedule of last season, and an average speed of 50 m.p.h. is maintained on this trip. This year's traffic is reported to be the greatest ever. The bus competition, it is said, has been effectively combatted by the enterprising railway men, whose motto is "cheap, fast and safe travel." Canadian railway authorities do well to make a note of the experience of old land travel experts.

Two cars came together with a crash on our main corner Tuesday morning, but very little damage was suffered by either vehicle. The accident occurred by one driver neglecting to obey the "stop" sign when entering a through highway. Again at noon the same day another car went over the intersection without stoppng, and narrowly missed crashing another car. It is said that "a miss is as good as a mile," but the driver may not be so fortunate a second time and serious injury might be the result. Obey the signs and so enjoy life for many years!

Owen Sound city Council passed a by-law taxing each slot machine installed in the city $100 if the owners wish to continue in business with them. The high tax is not for revenue production, but as a deterrent against further operation of the machines. The slot machine in Flesherton should be dealt with in a like manner.

Young People's Picnic

Between 50 and 60 of St. John's United Church young people met at the church about 4.30 on Thursday afternoon last and proceeded to Hogg's Falls for a picnic. Small improvised stoves were made with rocks and soon the air was filled with the aroma of frying bacon and eggs. After supper four hotly-contested volley ball games were played. By this time darkness was fast closing in and with a good supply of wood, a splendid camp fire was then enjoyed. A good old fashioned sing song was conducted with a few competitive songs. After a few sandman stories, Mr. Service said how pleased he was to be associated with such a splendid group of young people, and it was with real anticipation that he looked forward to the coming fall and winter work among them.

The picnic was formally closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

CHAPPLE — BIBBY

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Meaford, when Miss Marion V. Bibby, daughter of Mrs. and the late Dr. F. T. Bibby of Flesherton, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter H. Chapple, Meaford, The marriage took place on Saturday, July 11th. The bride and groom will reside in Meaford. Late John Whitten

For many years associated with his son in the building business in the west end of the city previous to his retirement several years ago, John Whitten died at his residence, 489 St. Clarens avenue, in his 90th year. He had been in poor health for eight months. He was born in County Armagh, Ireland, during the potato famine, which caused his clan to emigrate to Canada. His family settled in Grey County, hewing their homes from the woodlands of the country south of where Markdale now stands. In his younger days he farmed land situated just below Flesherton. It was there that he first commenced building work. In 190' he and his family came to Toronto to live and he was extremely active in the building business until his retirement 20 years ago. He had been a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge at Flesherton. He was a staunch Conservative and was member of Carmen Methodist Church. He is survived by his wife, with whom he had celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary in March, 1931, one daughter, Mrs. David Jamieson, two sons, W. E. and A. R. Whitten, all of Toronto and one brother, Thomas of Markdale.—Toronto Telegram.

Injured at King Plant

Mr. Cecil Dean, office manager of the King Paving Company here, received a broken bone in his leg and other minor injuries when he was struck by one of the large trucks on Saturday morning last. He was standing at the top of the stone crusher and was not aware that he was in such a dangerous position until the truck struck him and pinned him against the ribbing. His foot was twisted and one bone broken. Following the accident he was taken to Markdale hospital where the broken bone was set and upon examination no oter serious injuries were found.

EUGENIA MAPLE

There's a giant maple swaying
In a green Eugenia glen,
Where a laughing stream is playing
Over rocky shoal and fen.

Glinting speckled fish are flashing
Where the circling eddies dance,
As they leap their gentle splashing
Lures the sportsman's eager glance.

Butterflies and bees are swinging
As the blossoms nod and swing,
And the sweet songbirds are winging
Thro' the woods on a summer day.

Such a spot is ever calling
Those now longing for its rest,
For the lull of waters falling,
For the dreams I love the best.

And the song the maple sings me
Is a welcome from the glen,
And the thrill its music gives me
Always calls me back again.

So! Away roll care and worry,
Let us tramp the oft-trod trail,
Far from trouble, strife and scurry
To the fair Eugenia Vale.

During a dense fog the officer on the bridge was getting angrier and angrier Through the gloom he saw a dim figure on a rail a few yards from his ship.

"What do you think you're doing with your ship?" he roared. "Don't you know the rules of the sea?"

"This ain't no ship," came the reply through the fog. "This 'ere's a lighthouse."
