LOCAL DISTRICT NEWS

PRICEVILLE

The greatest sympathy was felt in this neighborhood, at the tragic ending of a sweet young life, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDermid, resulting from a scald some few days before. She was about nine days over two years of age and she looked so angelic in her pure, waxlike features. The funeral held on Monday was largely attended by friends and neighbors from miles around. Rev. H. E Wright, spoke words of cheer to the parents, that might well be taken by those present also, finishing up with the touching verses of Longfellow "The air is full of farewells, etc."

Pall bearers were Eveline and Viola McDermid, cousins, and Florence and Mary McEachern. Flower girls were Frances Smith, Rosaline McKinnon, Anna May McIntyre, Anna Mae McEachern.

Many beautiful flowers testified to the sympathy felt for the father and mother, Among them were tokens from: J. S. McDermid and family and grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. Art. Jackson, Dundalk, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bell and daughter, Dundalk, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brett, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. D. Smellie, Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, Bunessan, Mr. McDougall and family, Sacketts Corners and many others whose name could not be secured. Friends from a distance, in addition to those mentioned above were: Messrs. Wm., Herb and Walter Nicholls and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hincks, Dromore, Mrs. Alex. McDonald, son and wife, Dromore, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Risk and his mother, Kimberley, H. H. McDonald and sister Katie, Edge Hill, old neighbors and many others.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Burt was held on Wednesday last, the body arriving by Tuesday noon train and rested in the home of Mrs. Salter, till its removal to the Presbyterian church where the Rev. A. McDonald conducted a fine service, part of it being in the Gaelic language as requested by the deceased in her lifetime. The flowers were beautiful as usual, and the pallbearers were Malcolm, Donald and John McLean,, Colin A., Colin H., and Charles, all of the same name and cousins of the deceased. Relatives, friends, and neighbors turned out in large numbers, to pay the last tribute of respect.

Friends from a distance were: Mrs. Sangster of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitehorn and three daughters of Detroit, Mrs. Bill Hill of Fergus, Mr. Charlie McLean, Mrs. Salters, Mrs. Courtz, Mrs. Mortimer, Miss Jean McLean and Mr. Murray McMillan, all of Toronto.
