The Hallowe'en Social held Thursday evening in St. Columba Church passed off successfully, more than half being masked. Prizes were given for best make ups, Miss Jewel McArthur as a bride-groom and Miss Anna McLean as the Old Dutch Cleanser, and many others were prize winners, not being present we are not posted.

The event put on Friday evening October 30, in the Agricultural Hall was poorly attended, though reported to be good. Alf. Darby and his troupe were the entertainers. The concert put on some two weeks previously by another company in the same hall met with the same reception.

We are pleased to learn that our two fine young people of this town, Misses Catherine and Anna McVicar were two first prize winners at a social held in connection with the High School in Flesherton on Friday evening last.

This Friday evening the members of St. Columba United Church are to be treated to a free supper, to afford an opportunity of friendly intercourse and a pleasant time with each other. At the conclusion of which an adjournment will be made to the body of the church where a play will be given, "Up the Hill to Paradise'- by Feversham Young People.

Hallowe'en is still very foolishly observed by our young people here. Not much can be said of their choice of raiding out-houses, much less of breaking of windows and gates.

The coming of the Jubilee singers on Nov. 19th is being looked forward to after that we will probably enjoy a cessation of entertainments. Great interest is being shown in this event.
