VOL. 57; NO. 6 — WEDNESDAY, JULY 14th, 1937 — W. H THURSTON & SON, Proprietors

Wedding of Interest

A wedding of interest to many in Bronte, Toronto and Flesherton, took place in Buffalo, July 1, when Dr. Marguerite Mary Runstadler, only daughter of Mrs. Runstadler of Buffalo, and formerly of Flesherton, and the late Mr. John Runstadler, was united in marriage to Dr. William Everard Cudmore of Buffalo, third son of Mr. W. H. Cudmore, Bronte, and the late Mrs. Cudmore. The bride is a recent graduate of the University of Toronto, and Dr. Cudmore of Queen's university, Kingston. The ceremony was performed in the Holy Spirit church, Buffalo, Rev. Father John D. Egan, cousin of the bride, officiating. The wedding music was played by Mr. R. N. Cornfield of Toronto. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. M. P. Egan of Toronto, wore aquamarine triple sheer with matching gloves and slippers and a picture hat, and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Gertrude Egan of Toronto, gowned in peach triple sheer, with matching gloves and slippers and a picture hat and carrying a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Dr. Frank J. Raffaele of New York city was best man. Miss Mae Wolfe of Hamilton sang during the signing of the register. A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Runstadler received her guests wearing a gown of ashes of roses triple sheer. The bride and groom left later on a motor trip, the bride travelling in a beige suit with brown accessories. On their return they will reside in Buffalo.

Stevens Re-Union

On Monday, July 5th, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens and family held their annual re-union at the home of Mr. and Mrs Ross Stevens, a mile and a quarter south of Flesherton. On the spacious lawn the members gathered about two o'clock in the afternoon and spent a happy time in games and reminiscenses.

Of the entire family group all were present except Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cantrel (Violet) and Sheila of Toronto, Mr. Wm. Gamble of Sudbury, and Miss Irene Broster, a granddaughter, of Southampton. Those attending were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens, Flesherton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broster (Maude), Mr. and Mrs. George Broster, newly weds, all of Corbetton; Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Stevens and Marjorie, Proton; Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Stevens and Wilma, Flesherton; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stevens and Lavina, hosts for the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Dorothy Boyd Takes The Highest Honors

Last week we published the general results of the recent Entrance examinations as far as it affected the immediate region covered by this paper, and we are glad to print the following notes, sent us by Mr. Pentland.

The Dr. Jamieson Gold Medal was won by Dorothy Boyd, of the Markdale Public School, taught by Mr. W. J. Messenger. Dorothy not only lead the Inspectorate for this famous prize, but took the highest mark that ever came into South Grey, a full 95.6 per cent of the total marks. It would be interesting to know whether or not this mark has ever been equalled in Ontario. Dorothy is just thirteen years of age, and if her High School record bears out the present indications she will be one of the best in Ontario. The second best in total is Carol Knechtel, of the Hanover Public School, whose total was not far behind that of Dorothy, but a careful re-reading of the papers made it clear that the Markdale lassie was the winner this year. Another good runner-up was Alvin Stafford, of the Dundalk Public School. Those three are all excellent pupils, and we shall look forward in the future to their record with interest.

In the entire Inspectorate, including the township of Osprey, (which is not in this Inspectorate except for Entrance purposes), there were 387 candidates in all. Of those 387, a number were given standing on their year's work, no examination being required. One hundred and fourteen received their standing on this basis. This leaves 273 who took the regular examination and of this number 190 passed, or slightly less than 70 per cent.

In the six Urban centres there were 104 candidates prepared and of those 90 passed, or 86.5 per cent. In the rural schools 283 were prepared and 214 passed, or slightly over 73 per cent.

The youngest pupil in the Inspectorate to pass was Donnetta Langrill, a little eleven year old girl from No. 11 Bentinck, taught by Miss Ruby Maxwell.

The following additional notes may be of interest:

The best readers in South Grey are Eileen Irwin, of No. 6, Artemesia, taught by Miss Emma Oliver and Robert Nicholls, of No. 8 Artemesia, taught by Mervyn Little. Those two are equal.

The best in spelling is Ruth Hahn, of the Ayton School, who obtained almost the total mark. Ruth was taught by Mr. A. C. Collins.

The best in writing is Dorothy Boyd, of Markdale Public School, the Gold Medalist, who was also best in Literature, Geography, Arithmetic, (full marks), Grammar, and who equaled Carol Knechtel, of Hanover Public School, for first place in History, both girls receiving full marks, a rare accomplishment in History.

The best in Composition was Carol Knechtel of Hanover, taught by Mr. J. A. Magee.

SENSIBLE LAW

The new divorce bill passed by the British House of Commons widens the cause for annulment of marriages to include desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity as well as adultery, but makes the very novel provision that no divorce may be granted within five years of marriage. There may be differences of opinion as to the advisability of making divorce easier, but the clause which prevents hasty divorces is certainly commendable, and might well be adopted in Canada. Many a marriage might be saved from going on the rocks if the parties had to put up with each other for five years instead of rushing to the divorce courts.— The Midland Free Press.

Mr. Weber is still very active for a man of his age and frequently visits his granddaughter, Mrs. K. Betts, in town. He is the oldest native of the Kimberley valley, where he came in his early childhood with his parents from Egmondville, Ont. We are very pleased to tender him our sincere congratulations and wish him many more returns of the day.

Heavy Rain Storm

The weather was decidedly hot last week. The favourite spot for the young people to keep cool was in the waters of the pond, while the older people suffered in silence with the hope that the extreme heat wave would break. Sunday afternoon an electric storm broke over this section and rain fell in torrents, bringing the needed moisture to the growing crops. Spring grain crops in some sections were flattended but is thought that most of it will straighten up again. Tuesday the air was cool again and everybody was happy once more.

Vagabond Farmer On Way Westward

The Home Farm, Holstein, Ontario.

Home again after three thousand miles of hitch hiking through the Maritime provinces. After pounding heel and toe over hot pavements and dusty country lanes, after waving frantic thumbs at passing motorists there comes a time for pausing, for thought, and for a moment of rest. Of course when I got home everyone was surprised to see me, thinking I was still in the east, everyone that is but mother, who had been looking for me since a week ago Thursday, which is I suppose what all good mothers do. When you get back from a trip like that you want to sleep. You want three good meals a day. Perhaps you are not like me, but my first impulse was to pull off my shoes and walk out on the lawn in my bare feet. Well I have ten brief days for such luxuries before taking off for the mild Pacific, and our vast Canadian plains. But more of that at the end of the letter.

Ontario Revisited

Who was it who said, "Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said this is my own my native land"? Whoever he was, he did not belong to Canada. For this land is so diverse and so varied that one can not put his finger on any one thing, or place, and say with confidence: "This is Canada!"

A Maritime business man said to me, "We Bluenosers do not tear into things like you people in Upper Canada. (Ontario is commonly known as Upper Canada). We are satisfied with an ordinary income", he went on, "we do not kill ourselves and I think on the whole we are happier."

What he said was largely true. In the east of Canada, there is less industry, business is not so highly developed, there are fewer very rich and fewer very poor. In Ontario you won't see a yoke of oxen in three days' journey; neither will you see homes so uniformly beautiful and well cared for as in Nova Scotia. Somehow the folks down East can get along with an ox cart, and a horse and buggy, but they insist on fine trees, shrubs, and a painted house. Now it is all very well to be industrious and thrifty, but if industry and thrift become subsitues for generosity, righteousness, and a love of beauty we should examine our standard of values. Those of us from the rest of Canada who have the privilege of visiting Queber and the Maritimes should hesitate before we scoff at their methods of doing things, even if they are a bit different.

Then There is Western Canada

It would not be fair to my thumb or perhaps my feet to try to hitchhike to Vancouver, so I have taken up the idea of driving again. I have been able to persuade three friends to come with me. All of them men. We are driving a car with a luggage carrier on the back for bedding, utensils and food. We have no set itinerary but this is roughly the way we will go.

From Holstein to Toronto, then to Kingston and Ottawa where we will catch the Trans-Canada Highway which will take us through North Bay, Sudbury, and Sault Ste. Marie. At the Soo we will leave the Trans-Canada crossing into the United States to return to the soil of Canada at Fort William. Our course will run due west through Kenora to Winnipeg. We have no plans on how to cross the prairie. We will be taking our time as we are allowing at least seven weeks for the whole trip. Impulse, and the advise we get on the way will be our guide, the Pacific Ocean our goal, and the whole country our field of observation.

Next Week

Next week the four of us will be well on our way and the next letter should come from some where in the north of Ontario. This letter concludes the first part of the Country Life from Coast to Coast series.

IN MEMORIAM

WHITE — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Robt. T. White, who departed this life July 13th, 1936.

Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that knows no pain;
We who loved him, sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.

Barn Burned at Clen

Lightning struck the fine large banked barn of Mr. D. J. McArthur, at the Glen, during the severe electrical storm that passed over the district shortly afer 12 o'clock on Sunday afernoon, and it was burned to the ground. In the barn and which was also burned were 23 loads of hay, 300 bushels of oats and a quantity of wheat and barley. Four pigs and some chickens were also destroyed in the fire. Mr. McArthur succeeded in getting out four horses and some of his farm implements. There were no lightning rods on the barn. The barn was practically new and was considered one of the best in the district. There was some insurance, but not sufficient to cover the loss, which is very heavy, the barn itself being worth $2,000.

The man who wishes to win a name for himself has to hustle. Seems to us we have sometimes heard that that's what the girls think about themselves.

Soldiers Returned On Saturday Night

Saturday evening the local platoon of the Grey and Simcoe Foresters arrived by C. P. R. from their annual camp held at the camp ground at Niagara-on-the-Lake. Many of the older members of the late 31st Regiment have pleasant memories of other visits to this famous spot and the present generation have joined them in pleasant memories of camp life.

Hot weather predominated throughout the six days with an absence of rain. The health of the camp was almost perfect, the Medical officer, Major O. E. Carr of Owen Sound, formerly of Priceville, having very few calls on his services.

Wednesday of last week the Grey and Simcoes spent on the rifle ranges the practises being shot with the service rifles and also the Lewis guns. Stewart McMullin of Feversham was the best shot in "A" Company. The officers of the Brigade were given a demonstration of the Bren gun, the use of which is similar to that of the Lewis, a light automatic weapon. This new gun is being adopted in the British army but at present there are only two in Canada for demonstration purposes. There was also an anti-gas demonstration given by the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Everybody was well pleased with the conduct of the camp and all have expressed a wish of returning next year.

We had a pleasant call while in camp, from Mr. Ben Wilson of St. Catherines and were disappointed that we were unable to spend more time with him.

The Niagara camp is situated on historic ground, having been the scene of much activity during the war of 1812. At the mouth of the Niagara River is Fort Mississauga, the only remains now being the star-shaped fortification and the block house in the centre. Inside the fortification is the 8th hole of the golf club. Further to the south was situated Fort George from which General Brock raced to lead his forces against the Americans the morning he was killed. General Butler, prominent at that time, was also buried close to the town. Cairns commemorating important events are situated throughout the Niagara Peninsula and are very interesting to a person inclined to historical research. A museum of over 6,000 items of historical items is also very interesting. A building erected by General Butler, prior to 1812, on the Niagara Camp ground is being used at present by the permanent forces in camp, the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the Royal Canadian Regiment.

Here From West

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnhouse and son Reg., of Edmonton, Alberta, visited friends here on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. They were on a motor trip by way of Salt Lake City East to New York, and were on the return lap by way of Chicago. Their daughter, Miss L. Dorothy, M.D., dropped off at Toronto, where she will intern for a year in the Women's College Hospital. Many old friends here were delighted to meet them once more. Frank is city treasurer of Edmonton, while his brother Phil, is head of the electrical department of the city. The Barnhouse family moved to Edmonton from Flesherton a good many years ago, and their influence for good has been very much felt in the western city, which Flesherton was the loser.
