The proper measure of a man's age is the degree of pain with which he receives a new idea.

Mrs. Alb. Thompson

The funeral of the late Mrs. Albert Thompson, who passed away at her home on the Fourth Line on August 3rd, was held on Friday, August 6th. Service was held at her late residence, interment taking place in McIntyre Cemetery. Rev. S. Elliott preached the funeral service at the home and was assisted by Rev. Gause of McIntyre at the cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Robt. Fisher, Albert Blackburn, Cecil Msldrum, Wm. McNally, Herb Walker and Gilbert Little. Flower bearers were: David Jamieson, Roy Lyons, Robt. Sheardown and E. Jamieson.

Friends from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. John MacPhail and son of Winnipeg, Man., Misses Mary and Margaret McArthur, Mr. Dan McDonald, Mrs. Spooner, all of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. John Riseborough of Stayner, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. Fachnie of Maple Valley and Mrs. Lyons of Dundalk.

The late Mrs. Thompson, whose maiden name was Flora McIntyre, was born at McIntyre on November 5th, 1866, and was a daughter of the late John and Catherine McIntyre, early settlers of Osprey township. She was married to J. Albert Thompson on December 24th, 1901, who predeceased her early this year. She leaves one daughter Elizabeth (Mrs. Harry Fisher) of Portlaw. She also leaves one sister, Maggie (Mrs. Kirkland) of Cranbrook, B.C., and four brothers, Alex. McIntyre of Oregon, John and Hector of Alberta and Neil, who resided with his sister for the past 12 years. She was a member of McIntyre church, but attended Mt. Zion United church.

Wife — "There's a burglar downstairs, dear. Go and telephone for the police."

Husband (a few minutes later) — "I'd better telephone for the doctor. He's eating that cake you made."

THE EDITOR'S POWER

(Mt. Forest Confederate)

De Loss Walker, editor of Liberty Magazine told 400 delegates to an editors' convention held in Detroit, that only individual effort by editors, their never-ending seeking of the truth, has kept the press free; and it is only the individual effort of editors that can keep it free in the future."

There is truth in that dictum. To have a free people there must be a free press; to have a free press there must be a free editor; to have a free editor, he must be free from influences of patronage or self-interest.

Unfortunately there are many influences that are selfish and unscrupulous that try to buy or overawe the press. Money makes the mare go in this and other fields. The rural press, however, is closer to the people than the city press and the reflex influence of people and press is clearer and stronger. A press, independent of class, party and patronage, closely in touch with public sentiment, and with pure and sincere aims for the good of the community and country, centainly should be a powerful means of expressing as well as impressing public opinion and of promoting the public welfare.

Famous Cow Statue

A unique ceremony of interest to many livestock breeders was the unveiling of the life-size statue of the famous Holstein cow, Springbank Snow Countess, on Civic Holiday, Aug. 4th, at a point on Highway No. 2, near Woodstock. His Honor Dr. H. A. Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, performed the ceremony. This cow was such a greatmilk and butter producer that she brought fame to her owner, T. R. Dent, and to Oxford County. She produced in ten lactations 201,059 pounds of milk with a record of 9,062 pounds of fat, creating a new record among all dairy breeds anywhere in the world. She was owned by Mr Dent throughout her lifetime of sixteen years. She died a year ago shortly after giving birth to a calf, and the Holstein-Fresian Association of Canada decided to immortalize her at a cost of nearly $4,000.

The life-size statue stands upon a granite pedestal in a specially prepared plot not far from the highway, where passing motorists may stop and marvel at the Countess' past glory. Floodlights will illuminate the scene.
