Shelburne Wins From Hillsburg

Shelburne hockey team defeated Hillsburg 7-1 in the third game of their final series and are winners of the Callaghan Trophy emblematic of the championship of the Centre Grey League. Shelburne is a worthy champion of the League, winning the cup by a decisive margin, although their opposition in the local group was of the keener kind. They overcame Dundalk in overtime in a torrid battle in the third game to decide proup A honors. They finished second in the group, defeated Flesherton, last year's winners in two straight games and from then on could not be stopped. Our forecast of the cup locating in Shelburne for this year proved to be accurate, but for the good of the League some other club in the group should annex the trophy and thus keep interest alive. In the meantime we can congratulate Shelburne for the success they attained this season.

Dan McTavish Nets Winning Goal

Oshawa Generals won the O.H.A. group "A" championship on Saturday by defeating Guelph 4-3 in the third game. The deciding goal was scored in the last 35 seconds by Dan McTavish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McTavish, general sales manager for General Motors of Canada. Dan is well known here as he visits each summer with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan McTavish. Dan has been playing great hockey on defence for Oshawa all season and his winning goal on Saturday was a climax to a splendid winter's sport. Oshawa will represent the O.H.A. in the playdowns for the Memorial Cup and the Dominion championship. We wish them all success in their quest for Dominion honors.

Flesherton Merchants Are No Exception

(Tara Leader)

Tara or any other town will not become a good business centre so long as its business men rely on a few merchants to make the effort to bring trade to town. Too often the men in a few lines of trade are about the only ones that reach out after custom. Other merchants wait until these men induce people to come to town and content themselves with trade that naturally drifts to their place. A public spirited man should ask himself if he is doing his best to attract people to come to town to trade in helping the entire business community and no town is a success unless all lines are working to extend the trade as far as possible and trying to bring a larger territory in the circles in which the town is the business centre.

Passes 95th Milestone

The Advance is delighted to tender congratulations to Mr Adam Smith of Eugenia who celebrated his 95th birthday on Saturday last. Mr. Smith has for many years been one of Eugenia's most esteemed residents. Mrs. E. Morgan of Flesherton is the youngest daughter, there being two others, Miss Georgina and Mrs. G. W. Graham of Eugenia.

The weather during the past week has given evidence of an early spring break up. Robins are here in as great force as were the Nazis at the throat of Austria last week. Many other migratory birds have also put in an appearance.

Many Questions Discussed at Ottawa

(By Miss A. C. Macphail, M. P.)

In Parliament—The Senate and the House of Commons—many matters have been talked of, numerous pieces of legislation advanced a stage, several committees have sat and in all offices the increasingly heavy routine business has been carried on. But, wherever members met, in lobbies, the corridors, the cafeteria, it was not of these they talked, but of the growing gravity of the European situation. The strain is felt by everyone. We live in an atmosphere of foreboding and, in the face of it, with millions dying in Asia and Europe and with the threat of even vaster destruction, efforts seem futile and our daily tasks insignificant.

The Prime Minister, in a brief statement, spoke of the momentous happenings in Europe and Asia and said:

"Canada is a part of the continent of North America. Unless it is the desire to have it appear that our country is anxious to participate in these events and to become a party to or a part of what is happening . . it is desirable that all persons in a position of authority and responsibility in this country, who have anything to do with the shaping or molding of public opinion, whether in Parliament or in the press, should refrain from taking any steps or making any representation which would appear to have a contrary aim or purpose."

Mr. King thought that we should, at all costs, avoid embarrassing the countries faced with the present appalling situation.

At this juncture, Mr. Woodsworth asked him if the government would put an embargo on war materials going into Japan, but received no answer.

If a discussion such as reported in the newspapers could be carried on in the British House of Commons, Mr. Bennett could not see what harm would come from having the head of the government in this country indicate what the government's appreciation of the situation is "in the light of their fuller information."

As Mr. Bishop, writing in the Citizen, says, the power export question "comes on and goes off." And that's about it. In the second reading of the Bill, transferring the authority from the Governor-in-Council (the cabinet) to Parliament, to grant licenses for the export of power, an interesting statement was made by the Prime Minister. He said that if this Bill passed and a private Bill based on it was introduced; that is, a Bill from a province requesting the right to export power, Liberal members are to be free to vote as they please. "I shall ask them to do what they think is right, regardless altogether of what view I may take. I know what position I am going to take; there has been no doubt in my mind all along as to that." But the Prime Minister made it clear that he has kept his opinions to himself in order not to affect the vote of members of his party. It amuses me. If on matters as serious as the export of a vital natural resource like electric power members are to be allowed to vote on the merits of the question, why can they not always vote on the merits of a question? It would make Parliament much more useful.

Last week I was telling you that Mr. Dunning admitted and even defended a managed currency, but at the same time attacked Mr. Tucker, the member for Rosthern, for wanting to manage it some more—shall we say, better. They are not unalike. They even look alike, and they are both stubborn and smiling and have the same kind of square jaw. So one wasn't surprised to hear Mr. Tucker saying: "I'm still unrepentant and unconvinced." He then went on to rejoice in the fact that the Finance Minister had attacked his theory. He thought it a distinct step forward that the Minister took notice of it at all. He had noticed, he said, that when things are brought up in the House first they are generally ignored as being beneath notice. "I can remember when the suggestion that the banks loaned out ten dollars for every dollar of cash by which they increased

Mrs. Robert Best Passed Wednesday

Mrs. Robert Best passed away on Wednesday, March 14, at her home on No. 10 highway. During the day she was in her usual health and in the evening was lying on the couch when her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Talbot, advised her to go to bed which she did. Her breath came more slowly and more slowly and then ceased, and Mrs. Best's spirit had fled.

Deceased was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doupe and was born at St. Mary's later coming to Egremont township at the age of 13 years. She went with her parents to Manitoba where they remained for only three years, returning to Grey county they settled on the West Back Line. She is survived by her sister Kate, and one brother Amos.

On February 28th, 1877, she married Robert Best and they settled on the farm where she died. Here her eight children were born namely; Edwin and Allie, who received injuries in the bush when a tree fell on them and which later caused their death; George near Flesherton; Rachel, (Mrs. E. Simmons), Toronto; Charlie at Victoria Corners; Bert in B. C.; Margaret, (Mrs. L. Talbot),; and Rhoda, (Mrs. G. Udell), Ceylon.

Mrs. Best always had a robust consituation, and an evidence of this fact was, that only five days before her death, she walked from her home to Flesherton a distance of one and a half miles. One of our townsmen very kindly drove her home, a kindness which the family greatly appreciated. Deceased also leaves eighteen grandchildren and nineteen great grandchildren.

The service was held in the United Church on Wednesday, March 16, and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. R. Service, who said Mrs. Best was the oldest member of the church in Flesherton.

Friends from a distance were: Mrs. Ray Simmons and two daughters; Mrs. Will Lyle and Mrs. Percy McClennald and two sons, Newton and Eddie; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Spence and Mrs. Thomas Clayton, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brooks of Brantford; Misses Ellla and Olga Stewart, Miss Vickie Barrett and Mr. Amos Doupe who motored down from Owen Sound the evening before.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Fred Irwin, Jas. Harrison, Ward Harrison, Geo. White, Harry Akins, and Will Johnson. Five grandsons were flower bearers, Everette Talbot, Wilfred and Roy Best, Eddie and Newton Simmons.

The flowers gave mute testimony of the love and esteem held by relatives and neighbors; they were: a pillow from the family; spray from Mr. J. T. Best and family; sprays from Mrs. Spence and family; from Mr. and Mrs. Burton Field; from Mrs. Alex. Stewart and family; from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Johnson; from the neighbors; a basket of cut flowers from the W.I. of which the deceased had been not only a member but also a regular attendant until age prevented. Interment was made in the mortuary chapel, Flesherton.
