A Wrong System

The spending of public money by Provincial and Dominion governments continues without regard to the taxpayer who provides the money. Recently the Mackenzie King government announced two new post offices for Bruce County villages. No doubt these new buildings will be welcome additions to the main streets of the places in question, and no doubt they are as entitled to them as other places are. On the inland lakes and ocean ports additions and improvements are made to harbours and wharfs. Where and when is this spending going to stop? It is a problem for the people to decide, but they fail to think about the matter and let their representative go ahead and bring into the riding all the public money they can secure. It is a wrong and vicious system. The Toronto Conference of the United Church of Canada at their recent meetings passed the following resolution that, if acted upon, would soon bring down taxation in Canada:

"We believe that only a solvent state can adequately maintain the welfare of its people. Recognizing that many of the financial difficulties of Canada are due to the immoral practices of governments who use public money to win popular support, we would urge that governments must realize that they are trustees of the nation's finances. We would ask for recognition in all government policy of the fact that the ultimate basis of government is moral and that the bribing of the people with public money, the failure of governments to maintain contracts, the unwise administration of public funds, the desire to spend monfar beyond the nation's ability to pay, spells ruin."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Mary Pickford Trophy for speckled trout has been enlarged and now includes trout caught with bait, as well as fly. This will allow fish caught with the lowly worm to be included in the final counting. Forms for entering the contest and the regulations governing the competition may be secured at this office.

Two weeks ago the publishers of weekly newspapers in Ontario and Quebec were the guests of C. George McCullaugh, president of the Toronto Globe and Mail, at dinner and were royally entertained by this young publisher. Prior to the dinner pictures of the group were taken and this week we were pleased and surprised to receive a picture of the gathering. To the publisher of the Globe and Mail we wish to extend our thanks and appreciation for his courtesies to us. It was also a pleasure to be shown through the new ,fine Globe and Mail plant in the William H. Wright building and to realize the great advance made in the past few years in providing machinery for the production of a city daily.

Even with the truth it takes an awful lot of varieties to please everoyne.

Our sympathy is extended to the radio enthusiast who thought it was Charlie McCarthy who was going to describe the King's Plate over the air.

RETURN TO THRIFT

(Orangeville Banner)

Many plans are advanced for reducing taxes, lessening the cost of living and improving conditions generally. Few of these suggest a return to the old-fashioned practice of thrift. It was this thrift in private living and public administration that carried the pioneer settlers of Ontario through the difficult period in which they lived. Had they been extravagant in the use of their modest means they must have failed. Had they been careless or thriftless in management they would have been forced to pay severe penalties. Much of the taxation and the high cost of living with which present day Canadians are burdened is due to extravagance, management and wastefulness. What is badly needed is a return, in some degree at least, to the old-fashioned thrift of our forefathers.

WAR ON WEEDS

A determined drive to wipe out weeds in both country and city is being inaugurated by the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Educational meetings which have been attended by officials, weed inspectors and interested citizens have been held in every district of Ontario. Weed inspectors have been told to be firm in enforcing the Weed Control Act and to use good judgment in all their dealings with the public.

However, to be successful, the campaign must have the enthusiastic backing of every householder and farmer, officials pointed out. Judging by the interest displayed and the letters received by the Department of Agriculture, weeds will be fighting a losing battle this year, with complete eradication the goal of the Department. One neglected patch or plant this year may lead to serious infestation next year. Careless and indifferent citizens can do much to undo all the good work of their neighbors in fighting the weed menace.

A weed inspector needs the assistance of every individual. Give him your support. Make your community free of weeds. They are enemies to agriculture. public health and to the lucrative tourist business of Ontario. Weeds have no place in a progressive community.

Prevent them from going to seed. Every weed destroyed means the death of thousands of weed seeds.

Will you. Mr. Citizen. please do your share in this worthwhile campaign?
