Despite a rainy Saturday, attendance at Georgetown Fair was up overall this year with record numbers of fair-goers on both Friday and Sunday.

While attendance was down Saturday due to the weather, there was a good turnout to the Demolition Derby Saturday night and Thrill Show Productions, which put on the Derby, said they had the most contestants at the Georgetown Fair than any other fair they had done so far this year.

"There were a tremendous number of families on Sunday that seemed to enjoy the children's competitions, activities and entertainment," said Jodey Nurse, of Georgetown Agricultural Society.
