Club will 'make a difference'

Cost for each athlete to register is $150 for the season, which runs from September to May, although the club has been raising funds to help cover operating costs and hopefully purchase team bathing suits for the group in the near future.

"It makes a big difference to have these kids in sports," said Bouwkamp of her daughter.

"She loves being community-involved— meeting people— because that's their group, right? We've been in this area for 10 years and never met many others, maybe a couple of Special Olympians and it's even harder for us because we're in Acton. This will be great to get a social network established."

Krista Nicholls, co-head coach of the Georgetown District High School swim team, volunteered her expertise and several other coaches have followed, including some stu-

"We've still got spots for a few more swimmers but you can never have too many coaches because some of the kids are in a one-on-one situation, which would probably work best for them," said Nicholls.

"We've talked with the (Halton Hills) Blue Fins' (swim club) about combining with their group about doing some meets because they're trying to get a Paralympics' swim team going and make it a big community thing.'

Because the Georgetown club is in its inaugural season, the OSO doesn't expect it to host a meet, but Nicholls said there will be a competition here next year.

The team raised $1,500 from a raffle draw held at the Georgetown Farmers' Market over the past few
