On account of the fuss and the dust the main highway has been making, it has got its face blackened good and proper.

The garden party and strawberry festival materialized real well, in spite of the weeping of the earlier part of the day. There was a large surplus of eats left over, which found a ready sale. The program, provided by Mr. McDuff, Copeland & Son, was highly pleasing in comedy and musically; Rev. A. R. Muir interlauded on occasion. The 22nd of June on which it was held, marked the 72nd anniversary of my first entry into Grey County. This is mentioned just incidentally; many changes since then and much water has flown under the bridge.

In kind response to a request by a former resident of the locality in the days of Rev. PAVEMENT BLEW UP

During the intense heat last Wednesday afternoon, sections of the concrete pavement on the provincial highway between Mildmay and Clifford blew up. The burning rays of the sun caused so much expansion that the surface blew up with a report so loud and terrifying that Adam Seip's team nearly ran away when the break occurred nearly half a mile north of Clifford. Other expansions took place at the foot of Schweitzer's hill, and at the Balaklava Hill. Overseer Henry Hossfield took prompt action to make the highway safe for traffic, and repairs have now been made.—Mildmay Gazette.
