One of the differences between advertising by bills and in a newspaper in this—a housekeeper seldom keeps a bill after looking at it once, but a newspaper is generally kept for days, and often referred to for information on dates and prices. This is something that our advertisers should keep in mind.

Must Declare Money On Crossing Borler

All persons crossing from Canada to the United States are being asked to declare the amount of money they are carrying. Special customs officers are on duty at all points of crossing. The limit which may be taken out of Canada is $500. If one has more than this a permit must be obtained from their Canadian bank. There is a penalty of $2,000 fine for any attempt to elude inspection. The first annoucement from Ottawa permitted only $100 to be taken out of Canada. Later the original amount was changed to $500.
