THE WAR ON THE SEA

During the past week the war in Europe again brought the British navy to the front, when Germany marched into Denmark, took complete command of that country and then commenced the conquest of Norway. The Germans made a lightning thrust in this case and they are in possession of most of the ports of that nation. At the request of Norway Britain and France promised immediate aid in assisting the Norwegians in the defence of their country and the navy with marines and soldiers attacked the port of Narvick and captured the port from the Germans, driving the invaders back into the mountains where their position is precarious. Through treachery from Norwegian officials the Germans easily took Oslo, the capital, and the work of conquering the south of Norway is in progress. Through sea fights during the past week fully one third of Germany's navy has been destroyed and their supremacy in the Baltic Sea has been threatened when the Allies' submarines laid mine fields in that area. We do not know definitely to what height of success the navy has attained, but we do know that Britain still rules the waves.

The United Kingdom is after export trade, and if we regard our best interests we will see to it. In other words we'll buy British every time there is a chance to do so.

SWINTON PARK

(Intended for last Week)

Mrs. Robt. Ferris spent the Easter holidays with her mother, Mrs. J. R. McIntyre.

Lovely April showers this morn. So 'Cheer up" the robin says.

Miss Jean McCormich, Reg.N., of London is visiting at her parental home on ten days' leave.

We are glad to report Helen Black able to be up again after having had rheumatic fever.

Mr. Charlie Haw entertained the Glee Club in the Orange Hall Friday night and all report a good time.

Miss Agnes Boville of Toronto Normal School taught last week at S. S. No. 7.

Best wishes to Mr. Jim McLean and Miss Violet McCannell of Boothville who were married at Dundalk on Saturday.

Mrs. Philip Harrison attended the funeral of her aunt on Friday, who passed away near Galt.

Wedding bells are still ringing.

A good many have tapped their maples and some are buzzing wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardy and Eleanor spent Sunday at the home of Fred Fell.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deep gratitude to friends and neighbors, men and boys of the town for their many expressions of thoughtfulness and kindness in our recent bereavement, not forgetting the effort which made possible motor traffic to the cemetery.

—H. B. McLean and Family.

A scientest says fish can talk. We can just hear them boasting about the way they got away from our expert fishermen last summer.

WAREHAM

Miss Freda McCutcheon, who has spent several months in Toronto, has returned to her home here.

Miss Minnie Thompson has the privilege of spending some time with Mrs. George Allen and her twin daughters at Mt. Zion.

In the absence of Miss McCullough, Mrs. A. Fisher took charge of the school last Friday.

At latest reports Dave Jamieson, who recently lost him arm in the railroad yards in Toronto, is not doing so well. He has had to have a further part of the arm amputated, and is suffering considerably. Mrs. Jamieson, whose arm was broken since her husband's accident, is doing well.

Several in the neighborhood are planning to build bird houses.

Dr. Mercer preached a thought-provoking sermon on the text "Mark Ye Well Her Bulwarks," Psalm 48: 13. Service next Sunday at 3 p.m.

Syrup making has at last commenced. The few who have tapped are to be commended for their faith. The weather has not been promising. Some report a good run one day last week.

Girls, above all things, wear your new Easter hat on Mother's Day. Above all things!

(Intended for Last Week)

The first of a series of educational meetings on co-operative health insurance was held in the basement of the church Monday night of last week. In spite of bad roads, a goodly number showed their interest in this project by their presence and help in a lively discussion, presided over by Elgin McCutcheon, a member of the committee on Health Insurance for Grey and Bruce, in the absence of the convenor, Clifford Allen. After giving an opportunity to all to express their views, it was decided to hold further discussion groups in the form of 'Neighbor Nights" in some home in each mile-and-a-quarter along the concessions called the South Line, Centre Line and Third Line of Osprey township. It is hoped in this way to give every last person in the community an invitation to attend one of these discussion groups, and thus allow the committee to make its plans from the suggestion of the various groups, and develop a truly co-operative spirit, which alone can make the Co-operative Health Insurance a successful project. Your interest in these meetings is hereby solicited. — Contributed by Miss A. McCullough.

At the close of the project on sleeping gaments the Girls' Club presented a beautiful table cloth to Mrs. Wilfred Inkster, as an expression of appreciation for her efforts in guiding them in a difficult undertaking.

"Are you sure she intends to marry him?"

"Absolutely! Just the other night I heard her correcting his grammar."

Playing along the lake front at Southampton two young lads of that town came across a natural refrigeration plant, with many perch frozen in the ice banks where they had been washed up by the waves. Procuring axes and a make-shift pick they dug up over one hundred pounds of the yellow beauties and sold them around town.

ROCK MILLS

The weather has been very cold and backward the past week and the sap has not been running very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Duckett of Maxwell visited one day last week at the home of Mrs. Thos. Betts.

The mill commenced operations on Tuesday of this week, with all the old hands back on the job again. There is a nice stock of logs in the yard and there are still more to come in when the trucks can get through. There will be several months of sawing, which means steady employment for about 15 men.

Many friends here are sorry to hear of the severe illness of Mrs. John Porteous of Flesherton. A nurse is in attendance.

Miss Bessie Russell and friend of Flesherton visited the first of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Russell, their daughter and husband of Wilder, Idaho, are visiting with relatives here.

NEW USE FOR CROWS

In the Canadian Magazine, Forest & Outdoors, the story is told of some lads in Manitoba who had been experimenting, with considerable success, in the use of crows for the hatching of hen eggs. They find the crows nest and remove all the eggs and then place some hens eggs in the nest in place of the crows eggs. The average crow can hatch out about three hens eggs, and apparently they have not yet discovered the trick which has been played upon them. We wonder if the Ontario crows would be deceived so easily! If so, it would mean that wdile there would be no more crows, there would be useful chicks hatched for the good of the farmer.

"This is a moat," said the guide, showing a party over an old castle. "Now, would anybody like to ask a question?"

"Yes," replied the inquisitive tourist, "I want to know how anybody could get one in his house?"
