In some of the municipalities, there has been a good deal of indignation worked up. In Walkerton the ratepayers even had a public meeting. One thing stands ont in many cases. It was found that no adequate auditors' statement for the full year had been published, as the law requires. That seems to be the first symptom of any trouble. The former Council, in an attempt to get just as little printing done as possible, or for some, cut out these printed auditors' statements . The more recent councils haven't remedied the situation, and just at present it is impossible to get a statement for the past year to publish. But just as soon as there is one, the law should be complied with.
